JAPANESE WILL BLAME SINO-SOVIET RAILWAY FOR HAULING SOLDIERS

Tokyo Note Replies to Litvinoff Reminder He Would Fight.

CHINESE DEFEATED IN ALL-DAY BATTLE

Japan Abandons Talks for Compromise; Dawes May Sit With Council.

(Associated Press.)

The Japanese army routed Gen. Mah Chan-Shan's Chinese troops in Manchuria yesterday in an all-day battle fought in below zero weather.

Unqualified dispatches from Mukden said that Tsitsihar and Anganchi had been occupied by the Japanese, but Peiping reported receiving a radio message from Tsitsihar saying both cities were in the hands of the Chinese.

A telegram from the front, received at Mukden, said the Japanese had occupied Tsitsihar station on the Chinese Eastern Railway, to the south of the city of that name, and that the Chinese were being attacked along the railway.

Abandons Compromise Talk.

Japan abandoned all talk of compromise before the council of the League of Nations in Paris. The Japanese delegate laid down a program of peace conditions described in some league circles as tantamount to turning Manchuria into a political and economic protectorate of Japan.

Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese spokesman, told the council China was prepared to invoke article 15 of the covenant and would insist that the council do its full duty under the covenant, the Kellogg pact and the Nine Power treaty.

Dispatches received in Tokyo said the Chinese casualties in yesterday's fighting ran into thousands.

In their advances, the Japanese entered squarely into the zone of Russian influence. Fears were expressed in Tokyo that the Soviet would take a hand.

Dawes May Take Seat.

Yesterday's developments raised expectations in Paris that Ambassador Dawes will take a seat at the League Council table.

A Rengo dispatch from Anganchi said Gen. Hasebe, commander of the Japanese advance guard, had set up headquarters outside the walled city of Tsitsihar and that the Chinese Eastern Railway seemed to be operating almost normally.

A Tokyo newspaper's correspondent, who flew over the battlefield, reported that Japanese airplanes bombed an armored train near Anganchi, in which they suspected Gen. Mah was traveling northward.

Japan notified Soviet Russia that it would hold the Chinese Eastern Railway "partly responsible" for hostilities in the Nonni River area of Manchuria because the railway had transported Chinese reinforcements, which might be taken as offering assistance to Gen. Mah.

Reminded of Promise.

Russia had reminded Japan of a promise to protect Soviet interests in Manchurja. The Chinese Eastern Railway is jointly owned by Russia and China and the Soviet government said a reported Japanese plan to cut the railway would cause serious damage to Russian interests.

The Tokyo war office had received no official report that Tsitsihar had been occupied.

Tokyo (Thursday), Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Japan has notified the Soviet government of its intention to hold the Chinese Eastern Railway "partly responsible" for hostilities in Manchuria because it transported Chinese troops.

Reply to Litvinoff.

The Japanese note was in reply to a reminder recently from Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, that Japan had assured Russia Soviet interests in Manchuria would be protected. The Soviet government informed Tokyo of reports that the Japanese high command planned to cut the Chinese Eastern Railway near Tsitsihar.

Japan's reply, sent to Moscow yesterday before the Japanese advance against Chinese began in the Nonni River area, said that if hostilities broke out, the Japanese government "would hold the Chinese Eastern Railway partly responsible, as having transported Chinese troops."

Its transportation of Chinese troops in the concentration of Heilung kiang forces of Gen. Mah Chan-Shan might be taken as offering resistance to Gen. Mah, the Japanese said.

Kijuro Shidehara, Japanese foreign minister, assured the Soviet commissar that in event Japanese should be compelled to advance on the railway they would take every precaution not to interfere with its operation.

Hospital Saves Girl, 18, Choking on Rock Candy

A tiny bit of candy sent Miss Phyllis Cornett, 18 years old, of 1419 R street northwest, to the hospital last night.

The girl was visiting at the apartment of Miss Evelyn Anderson, 1433 Columbia road northwest with other friends. A box of rock candy was passed around. Miss Cornett choked suddenly and Emergency Hospital was called. The girl was taken to the Episcopal Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Hospital where the bit of candy was located deep in her throat. It was removed, but Miss Cornett spent the night at the hospital. Her condition is not serious.

19 Drivers and 9 Cars Seized on 'Rum Roads'

One Woman Among Prisoners Trapped by New Secret System of Federal Dry Agents on Maryland Highways.

Eighteen men and one woman were arrested and nine autos were seized yesterday by Federal dry agents who inaugurated a new and secret method of stopping the liquor cars which come into Washington from southern Maryland.

The intensive drive took place just over the District line along the Marlboro pike and the southern Maryland road. The agents, headed by J. R. Brewer, would not disclose the details of the new scheme which netted such rich fruits. They began work about 2 o'clock yesterday and were still at work early today.

However, one of the arrested persons said that agents were apparently taking the numbers of cars as they stopped at an establishment at Punkintown, 1 mile north of the District line on the pike, and sending word to agents farther up the road.

The captures were the largest single haul made by the Southern Maryland agents this year, although the total amount of liquor seized was comparatively small. According to Mr. Brewer, this was due to the fact that most of the cars were carrying cargoes of about one case.

Those who were arrested were charged with transportation and possession after being taken to the jail at Marlboro. They gave their names and addresses as Joseph P. Brooke, 1714 C street northeast; Gerald McCullough, 1714 C street northeast; J. C. Bayn, 1225 Morse street northeast; Gordon G. Stewart, 4238 Elersile avenue southeast; Ernest Youmans, 1365 L street southeast; Eugene Estes, Bradbury Heights, Md.; Claude A. Bailey, 422 Eleventh street southeast; Clarence E. DOAK IS RECOVERING IN CRITICAL ILLNESS

Pneumonia Attack Withheld From Cabinet; Return in Week Foreseen.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Secretary of Labor William N. Doak, who has been confined to his home for ten days with a severe attack of pneumonia, was reported on the way to recovery last night. The crisis was passed Tuesday and Wednesday, according to intimates, and Mr. Doak probably will be able to return to his office within a week, his physicians believe.

Critical illness of the junior member of the President's Cabinet was closely guarded by the family until all danger had passed.

Secretary Doak left his office in the Labor Department after a severe attack of indigestion two weeks ago. His associates in the Cabinet were not informed for several days that a heavy cold had developed into a threatening case of pneumonia.

Mr. Doak had been in weakened condition several months, caused, his friends say, by overwork and nervous strain. His illness has made further inroads upon his strength and may force him to conserve his energies carefully several months.

It is anticipated, however, that he may completely recoup his strength at his home, near McLean, Va. If this program does not work out his physicians are prepared to recommend that he relinquish for a time his arduous Cabinet responsibilities.

It is understood that no intimation of this possibility yet has been conveyed to President Hoover. Neither will and final decision be made until after the Secretary resumes his place at the Cabinet table.

Since he entered the Cabinet a year ago this month Secretary Doak has carried an unusual burden of official duties. The whole force of the emergency unemployment problem arising out of the depression fell upon him last winter. In the spring reorganization of the Federal Employ-

Court Postpones Cannon Hearing Until Nov. 30

(Associated Press.)

The next appearance in court of Bishop James Cannon, jr., has been postponed from Friday to Monday, November 30.

The District of Columbia Supreme Court yesterday ordered the delay in the Methodist churchman's demurrer to an indictment charging willful violation of the Federal corrupt practices act. Justice James Proctor will be engaged in another case all this week.

FATHER IS CHARGED IN KILLER'S ESCAPE

Oil Company Officials Also Named; Duker Nabbed in California.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Arrest of Herman S. Duker, prominent business man, and Frederick Y. Borden, vice president of the Seaboard Midland Petroleum Co., was ordered today on charges they aided Duker's son, Herman W. Duker, to escape from Baltimore after he had killed a man last April.

Duker's father said tonight he would surrender tomorrow morning.

Warrants were issued by Magistrate James R. Cadden, who also summoned James H. Foster, president of the Seaboard Midland, to show cause why he should not be included in the charge.

Herman W. Duker, 21, was sentenced to death several days ago for the murder of John W. Anderscn milk company collector, in a holdup last April.

Dale Lambert, Duker's 19-year-old companion in the crime, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Hearing on the charges against the two men and Foster's appearance in court was set for tomorrow.

Warrants were sworn out by Assistant State's Attorney Elmer Tammer

Borden appeared tonight and gave bond of $5,000 and was released. Officials said Duker's bond also would be $5,000, but efforts to locate him were unsuccessful.

The prosecutor alleged that through Borden Mr. Duker sent money to his son in Los Angeles. Young Duker went to New York after the crime, Magistrate Cadden was informed, and shipped from there to Los Angeles on the Richfield Oil Co. tanker Tamihue.

Money sent to Duker in Los Angeles, a total of $115 in three installments, was delivered to him by Frederick N. Rumley, Los Angeles sales agent of the Seaboard Midland Petroleum Co., the prosecutor told Magistrate Cadden. Borden sent the money, it was said by Hammer, and Duker gave him a check covering the entire amount, Hammer said the checks were in possession of police.

Hammer also testified that at a recent conference with Mr. Borden the oil company man admitted his part in the transaction.

Bob Jury Is Discharged After 28 Hours Debate

New York, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—A jury which for more than six weeks listened to evidence in the mail fraud trial of Charles V. Bob and Frederick C Russell, was discharged by Federal Judge John C. Knox as unable to agree late today. The jury had been out about 28 hours

Mayor Walker Plans to Go To Coast to Help Mooney

New York, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Mayor Walker has decided, it was learned tonight, to go to California to appear in behalf of the application of Tom Mooney to Gov. James Rolph, jr., for a pardon.

After attending the Notre Dame-Southern California game at South Bend, Ind., the mayor plans to leave there Saturday night by train for San Francisco. He will proceed from San Francisco to Sacramento, probably on Tuesday.

Mooney seeks a pardon from his conviction of participation in the Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco in 1916.

The mayor will accept no fee and will not go in his official position, but as a citizen and a lawyer.

Late in the day while the mayor was distributing to reporters transcripts of the telegraphic and mail correspondence inviting him in the Mooney case a telegram from the mother of the prisoner was thrust into his hands. He started to read it aloud, but became visibly affected and passed the message to a newspaperman to read. While the mayor left the room temporarily the telegram was read as follows:

"Dear Mayor Walker:—I am 80 years old; afraid am breaking down

SMOOT WOULD INCREASE ALL INCOME TAXES

Sales Levies on Luxury Commodities Also Proposed.

SAYS $1,200,000,000 MUST BE COLLECTED

Mellon Opposes Inheritance Tax, but Enough Votes for It Are Assured.

(Associated Press.)

The administration's tax program was reflected yesterday in a declaration by Chairman Smoot of the Senate finance committee for increased rates on incomes and new excise levies.

Smoot, usually an administration's spokesman on revenue legislation, proposed raises in all the income brackets to a maximum of 40 per cent on incomes over $100,000. He advocated also a broad system of sales or excise taxes applying on so-called luxury commodities. He mentioned automobiles and radios among the articles to be included.

Smoot spoke after a call at the Treasury where Secretary Mellon was completing a draft of the program which will be recommended to Congress by President Hoover.

The Smoot program differs somewhat from that of the Republican independents and Democrats, who would concentrate on the big incomes and inheritances for the bulk, if not all, of the new revenue. With Congress almost evenly divided, a compromise seems inevitable. This probably will include increased estate tax rates and few, if any, new excise levies.

$1,200,000,000 to Be Raised.

Smoot estimated $1,200,000,000 must be raised by new taxation next year. This is the highest figure mentioned so far. Other Congressional leaders believe Secretary Mellon will be willing to resort again to borrowing to cover part of the deficit of more than a billion dollars to be expected this year.

Smoot wants to start on the income tax schedules with higher rates at the very bottom. In addition, he favors slight reductions in the exemptions so as to make tax payers of more income earners.

The prospective administration recommendation for a marked rise in the graduated surtaxes applying on the larger incomes stirred speculation. Smoot's proposal for a 40 per cent maximum surtax is double the present rate.

Inheritance Tax Certain.

Secretary Mellon led the fight for reduction of the surtax rates which mounted to a maximum of more than 60 per lent during the war. He always has opposed the Federal estate or inheritance levy. For this reason it is not expected he will recommend raises in this direction. But enough Republican regulars Democrats and Republican Independents have declared for a boost in the inheritance tax to assure its enactment.

A proposal of Representative Bacharach, (Republican), New Jersey, included a raise in the inheritance tax. Bacharach is an adminfstration leader in the House.

The estate tax for the fiscal year 1930 amounted to $54,769,625 and for the fiscal year 1931 to $48,078,326. The rate varies from 1 per cent of the amount of net estate not over $50,000 to 20 per cent of the amount of net estate above $10,000,000.

In the excise class in 1918, automobiles and motorcycles brought in $23,981,268; jewelry, imitation jewelry, &c., $2,422,365; sporting goods, &c., 211,544; cosmetics, $1,413,455, and

Tunney Is Father Of 7-Pound Boy

Mother and Boy Are Doing Well at Columbia University Hospital.

New York, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—A robust son—heir to one fortune in leather and another in steel—was born today to the Gene Tunneys. The first child of the retired heavyweight boxing champion and the former Polly Lauder, Carnegie heiress, weighed more than 7 pounds and was described as an exceptionally healthy youngster.

Four hours before the son was born at 9 a. m., Mrs. Tunney was brought to the Sloane Hospital at Columbia University's medical center. Both mother and son were "doing perfectly," said Dr. Benjamin P. Watson, director of the hospital. Smiling his satisfaction, Tunney remained nearby.

Definite Hope Is Seen For Victim of Hiccough

Mansfield, Ohio, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Definite hope for the recovery of Ira A. King, hiccough victim, was expressed by physicians at the Mansfield General Hospital today for the first time since he was stricken eleven days ago.

Although the hiccoughing continued unabated, King showed pronounced improvement during the day and physicians succeeded in giving him nourishment. Previously he had been unable to retain any sort o food. Doctors believed the hiccoughs would disappear as King gains strength.

PARTY'S WETS DEMAND FESS RESIGN CHAIR

Britten Says He Should Quit as Antisaloon or G. O. P. Chief.

WATSON WOULD PUT BROWN IN HIS PLACE

Postmaster General Prefers Cabinet, but Will Obey if Hoover Wills.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, whose tenure as chairman of the Republican national committee has been marked by considerable inter-party strife, found himself the center of another controversy yesterday.

Wet Republicans on the House side of the Capitol denounced him for his "fanaticism" on the prohibition question, and one of them—Representative Fred A. Britten, of Illinois—demanded that he either resign as a director of the Anti-Saloon League or as chairman of the Republican national committee.

Watson Wants Brown.

Meantime, Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, Republican leader of the Senate, called in Postmaster General Walter F. Brown and asked him to take over Fess' job as chairman next month.

Brown said he was reluctant to leave the Cabinet, but that he would take over the chairmanship if President Hoover so willed.

Another development in the prohibition situation was an announcement by Representative Roy O. Woodruff (Republican), Michigan, that he favored a referendum on the eighteenth amendment. A majority of the Michigan delegation in the House now favors reconsideration of the prohibition law. Up until recently Michigan was regarded as a dry stronghold.

Yesterday's demand for the scalp of Senator Fess, which sounds like the prelude to a lively prohibition battle at the next Republican national convention, grows out of an exchange of letters between the Ohio senator and former Senator James W. Wadsworth, of New York.

Fess Stand Stirs Wets.

In a letter dispatched to Senator Fess over the week-end, Mr. Wadsworth suggested that the Republican party give the voters a chance to vote "yes" or "no" on the prohibition question, by recommending that a repeal amendment be submitted to conventions in all the States.

Replying to Mr. Wadsworth, Senator Fess said, "I am stating to you that I shall use my influence to prevent the party from committing a fatal blunder in asking for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

It was that remark which caused Representative Britten to go after Senator Fess yesterday. He later was joined in the attack by Representative Fiorello H. LaGuardia, of New York, and Representative John C. Schafer, of Wisconsin, both of them rampant Republican wets.

"When Senator Fess, chairman of the Republican national committee, says that he will use his influence to prevent the Republican party from committing the fatal blunder of asking for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment," said Mr. Britten, "he is talking as a director and officer of the Antisaloon League and not as the representative of the Republican party.

"In plain justice to thousands of Republican office ho'ders all over the United States who have little or no sympathy with the silly Volstead law, Senator Fess should resign from his position as chairman of the national committee or he should resign from the directorship of the Antisaloon

Robber Beats Man And Takes His $100

Intruder Follows Victim Into Garage Where Attack Occurs.

Beaten into insensibility under a rain of heavy blows from a heavy, blunt instrument, William A. Grogan, 51 years old, of 1432 Perry place northwest, was robbed last night of $100 in cash.

The robbery occurred about 8.30 o'clock as Mr. Grogan went to the garage in the rear of his home to take out his car. A man followed him into the garage and as Mr. Grogan turned his head, struck him two savage blows.

The robbery victim was not discovered until about half an hour later when another occupant of the house came out to the garage and found Mr. Grogan still unconscious. He was taken into his residence and Dr. S. Dessoss, of 1435 Perry place, was called. The man was given first-aid treatment at home and his condition was not regarded as serious.

100 Facing Starvation On North Atlantic Isle

London, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—One hundred inhabitants of Paulo Island, in the North Atlantic 20 miles west of the Shetlands, were reported today to be on the verge of starvation.

Shops of the island closed two months ago and a shortage of meat, tea, sugar and other staple commodities was reported in letters received at Lerwick. Gales delayed the mail boat three weeks. The letters contained appeals for a supply of foodstuffs before Christmas.

HOOVER-GRANDI TALKS SHARED BY SENATORS; ARMS ENTENTE NEARER

Roosevelt and Smith Mum After Luncheon

"We Talked State Finances," All Former Governor Will Say, and Successor Adds Little to Solution of Mystery of Conference.

New York, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—While reporters waited outside on the sidewalks of New York, two famous political old cronies had lunch together today and, smiling and inscrutable, went their separate ways.

Said the guest, former Gov. Alfred E Smith:

"We talked State finances. Let's see—that makes four words, doesn't it? Well, that's all."

Said the host, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt:

"You newspapermen will have to get out when Al arrives. There just isn't room in one house for you and Al and me. Al's voice is fairly penetrating, you know, and so is mine."

And said James A. Farley, Democratic State chairman:

"Aw, they're just getting together to talk about the weather."

Through the reception room adjoining and through the library and living room on the floor above moved crowds of strangers, attending an exhibit and sale of hand-made furniture manufactured at the Hyde Park factory, of which Mrs. Roosevelt is part owner.

But heavy sliding doors shut off the dining room from the rest of the house, and the governor and the former governor were alone. The luncheon lasted about two hours and a half.

So far as is publicly known, this was the first meeting between Smith and Roosevelt since their disagreement over the State reforestation amendment, passed at the recent election. Smith was against it. Roose-

CLOSET GIRL RECORD ABSOLVED BY BOARD

As Case Workers Are Cleared Represntative Issues Inquiry Threat.

The Board of Public Welfare yesterday afternoon absolved its investigators of any blame for tardiness in bringing the case of Edith Riley before the Juvenile Court. The action came through adoption of a report of its standing committee on child welfare.

While the board was clearing its investigators Representative Frank M. Bowman (Republican), West Virginia, member of the House District committee, was issuing a statement in which he threatened a congressional investigation and complete reorganization of that body. He declared that in the Riley case "the neglect of the board in its duty to the city and this family is outrageous."

Both Mrs. Elsie M. Riley, stepmother of Edith, and the child's father, Harry N. Riley, 1110 Rhode Island avenue northwest, entered emphatic not guilty pleas yesterday when they were arraigned on charges of mistreating the girl.

The committee in its monthly report reviewed at length the history of the case and pointed out that it went back to 1925, which was prior to organization of the board of public welfare.

At no time was there sufficient evidence of cruelty reported by investigators to bring the case before the Juvenile Court, the committee reported upon the basis of a thorough examination of records in the case. The committee also declared that final rescue of the girl was effected through cooperation of Welfare Board investigators with the Women's Bureau of the Police Department.

George S. Wilson, welfare director, announced after a lengthy meeting that the board had approved the report and had decided there is nothing to be done as the case is before the District Supreme Court and as the Riley girl has already been made a ward of the board.

The board made the following finding:

"The history of the case dates back to 1925 in the record of the Board of Children's Guardians prior to the organization of the Board of Public Welfare. The committee reported that the record showed that at no time did there appear to be sufficient evidence in the opinion of the investigators to warrant bringing the case before the court. Investigation of complaints was conducted by a representative of the women's bureau of the Police Department and

MOTION OF ACCUSED POLICEMEN IS LOST

Grooms and Burroughs Are Beaten in Skirmish; 4 May Take Stand Today.

With the opening of the defense case, the four policemen defendants in the "third degree" trial may take the stand today to testify against the "brutality" charges brought by James Henry Harker.

A defense motion that the jury be instructed to return a not guilty verdict in the cases of two of the defendants, W. C. Grooms and W. T. Burroughs, was overruled yesterday afternoon by Trial Justice James M. Proctor.

Attorneys James O'Shea and Frank Kelly made the plea after United States Attorney Leo A. Rover had completed presentation of the Government's case.

They contended that no evidence had been presented showing that the two policemen had participated in the beating of the complainant. According to Harker's testimony, they were present but did not take active part in abusing him.

Harker said the other two, Officers James Mostyn and W. R. Lafin, struck and kicked him.

Attorney Kelly said last night he would make an opening statement for Burroughs when the trial opens this morning. He said he would attempt to show that the day in question was the defendant's off day and that he had left the station before the time Harker is alleged to have been beaten.

The trial reopened after Justice Proctor had ruled that the defense should have wide latitude in cross-examination of Harker, the court holding that the defense is entitled to show motives which might influence Harker to testify against the police.

Questioned point-blank by O'Shea, Harker denied that he robbed the lunchroom, which police said that he broke into; and also said that he admitted doing it, when in custody, only to escape further beating from the policemen.

Harker repeated substantially the same story which he told on direct

Heavy Seas Hold Back Gold Ship Salvage Work

Brest, France, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Heavy seas made it impossible today for divers to take any of the $5,000,000 in gold from the hulk of the sunken liner Egypt, off the coast not far from here, and salvage operations which have been going on for several months were interrupted until the weather improves.

Fuller Laval Explanation Asked in French Chamber

Paris, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Premier Laval narrowly escaped today a peremptory summons from the foreign affairs committee of the French Chamber to appear and report more fully on the results of his recent visits to Washington, Berlin and London.

A motion to that effect, sponsored by Socialist opponents of the premier and Foreign Minister Briand, was passed by the narrow margin of 11 to 9. But some members induced the sponsors to modify their resolution and it was converted into a polite request asking him to appear after the conclusion of Chamber debate on foreign policy.

A demand that the government publish a "yellow book" on the Franco-American conference at London and other capita's was made by Deputy Henri Guernot. It was also requested by Deputy Marius Moutet that the committee be informed on preparations for the 1932 disarmament conference and the league's efforts to settle the Manchurian conflict.

The committee also decided to ask Minister of Finance Pierre Flandin to explain loans made by the Bank of France, together with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, to the Bank of England.

MUSSOLINI CABLED REPORT UPON TALKS

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

President Hoover and Mussolini's minister of foreign affairs, youthful Dino Grandi, yesterday explored the problems of international politics and laid the bases of what may eventuate as an Italo-American entente on disarmament before the departure of the Italian statesman tonight.

Immediately after the White House conversations which lasted from half-past 9 in the morning until a few minutes before noon, Grandi dispatched to Signor Mussolini a lengthy report in which he stated:

"There were no divergencies on any of the points brought up during the talks with the President."

Last night after the formal White House dinner the President and the Italian statesman had another opportunity of reviewing the subjects of their earlier conversation. This time they had a third interested party in the person of Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee.

Very Charming Man.

Senator Borah found the youthful diplomatist "a very charming man" at his first meeting with him in the home of Secretary Stimson. This impression was developed during the friendly chat which lasted for some time last night. Signor Grandi's command of English facilitated to a remarkable degree the interchange of impressions between the American statesmen and himself.

Signor Grandi discussed with Senators Borah, Pittman and Moses, all members of the Senate foreign relations committee, and Senator Watson aspects of the European situation insofar as it affects the Senate.

The morning meeting between the President and the Italian Foreign Minister was held in the historic Lincoln Library on the second floor of the White House. The scene was more characteristic of a meeting of club members than of statesmen. The President and the Italian conversed freely without the aid of an interpreter. There was still a morning chill in the air which a log fire burning cheerily in the grate gradually dissipated. Occasionally Secretary Stimson would interpose an observation of his own and he frequently consulted the bulky attache case which he had brought with him containing the memoranda of all his talks in Europe last summer.

Variety of Subjects.

In the two hours and a half at their disposal the two statesmen exchanged their views on a great variety of subjects. The Italian position in the field of disarmament had been generally known to the President, but several aspects of the general problem were brought up and developed, together with an interesting conversation on the economic situation in Europe and in Italy in particular.

During this phase, it was made known last night that Signor Grandi emphasized to the President the desire of Italy to remain on the gold standard. The internal economic situation of his country, Signor Grandi explained, suffered from the malaise which enveloped all Europe.

Successfully Facing Problems.

Since 1927 Italy has maintained the Italian money at a stabilized figure of 19 to the dollar and of 92.8 to the pound. This stabilization was at a less advantageous figure than that chosen by M. Poincare, the French premier, when he stabilized the falling French franc. Signor Grandi then told the President that despite these handicaps Italy was successfully facing all her financial and economic problems. The balance of trade, which for many years operated adversely to Italian business, is slowly changing. In the last year, he said, this unfavorable trade movement had been reduced by $100,000,000 and Italian credit at once felt the result. Italy was able to handle her own financing without going outside her own borders, the last loan for 4,000,000,000 lire being heavily oversubscribed by Italian investors.

JAPANESE ATTACHE WEDS MISS HAROLD

Marriage of Pair Saturday Revealed; Honeymoon in New York.

Hidenari Terasaki, attache of the Japanese Embassy and secretary to the Japanese Ambassador, was married here Saturday morning to Miss Gwendolen Elizabeth Harold, of Johnson City, Tenn., it was learned here last night.

The couple left immediately afterward for New York. The wedding, a simple ceremony, with only members of the immediate family and a few intimate friends present, called for hurry, as Mr. Terasaki had just received orders to return to his home office in Tokyo.

The wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Everett Collister, at 1400 Ingraham street northwest. Mr. and Mrs. Terasaki will leave shortly for San Francisco, where they will take boat for Japan November 27.

Mrs. Terasaki is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Harold, of Tennessee. She had frequently visited in Washington, and it was during a visit here last winter that she met Mr. Terasaki, who has been four years in the Japanese diplomatic service.

The Rev. Christian Young presided at the ceremony. The living room was decorated with ferns, autumn leaves and yellow chrysanthemums and lighted with Cathedral tapers. A bower of roses arranged before the fireplace provided a background for the wedding party.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Collister.

Acting as best man was Josaku Midzusawa, first secretary of the embassy. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Paro Feraaaki, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony.

Indian Treatment Defended by Dixon

Assistant Secretary of the Interior Speaks Before Engineers Society.

Propaganda to the effect that the Government is neglecting or abusing the Indians, on or off reservations, was branded as lies last night by Joseph M. Dixon, First Assistant Secretary of the Interior, addressing the twenty-sixth annual banquet of the Washington Society of Engineers at the Mayflower Hotel. Mr. Dixon declared that the Indians of America received from the Government far better treatment in every way than is afforded to any other aboriginal race by any government.

Dr. J. Suhiro, director of earthquake research for the University of Tokyo, who is in the United States on a combined mission of research and lecturing, extended an invitation to the engineers to visit Japan and get eye-witness experience with the earthquake situation.

Huston Thompson, former chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, in a talk on "The Curse of Bigness" predicted that the coming generation will bring about a change in present tendencies by demanding individuality in place of mass volume.

Pantages' Counsel Asks Witnesses' Examination

Los Angeles, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—In support of their assertion that Alexander Pantages, theater magnate, was the victim of an extortion plot, his attorneys today sought court permission for defense examination of seven additional witnesses during Pantages' retrial on charges of attacking Eunice Pringle, dancer.

After bitter argument Judge Clair S. Tappan adjourned court for the night without announcing a decision.

U. S. Leaves Debt Action to Europe

Stimson Stands on Policy of Making No Proposal; Discussions Denied.

(Associated Press.)

The United States is standing by its policy of considering any move for revision of war debts and reparations strictly a subject for European initiative.

Secretary Stimson said yesterday that "no new proposal whatsoever has been made by the United States in regard to the intergovernmental debts due it." He added that the subject has not "even been discussed."

The Secretary emphasized that the United States is not participating in the negotiations under way in Europe looking to relief of Germany from some of its reparations payments.

He said there has been no change in this country's attitude toward the reparations problem since President Hoover and Premier Laval issued their joint statement here.

Unusual Picture.

The 36-year-old statesman brought to the President an unusual picture of the problems that are expected to develop at Geneva next February. He knows the atmosphere at the League of Nations, having been representative of Italy's interest in all the important meetings of the council.

The President had the advantage of comparing the Italian views with those so fresh in his mind after the visit of M. Laval. The French theory of disarmament and the Italian theory present several divergences of major importance. French, furthermore, will go into the conference with the solid backing of the French bloc, her political allies, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Roumania.

Almost Identical.

The interests of the United States and of Italy with regard to disarmament are almost identical insofar as the general scope of the conference will be concerned. It was learned that Signor Grandi emphasized the necessity of some understanding preliminary to the conference between those powers with identical views or interests, if any real progress in the reduction of military budgets is to be made.

At the White House last night Signor Grandi dwelt on this aspect for some time in his talk with Senator Borah. The opposition which the senator from Idaho has always manifested to American participation in League activity and to foreign commitments of this Government, was answered by Signor Grandi. He pointed out to Senator Borah the futility of American participation in the Geneva conference unless real advantages are obtained there. That was the very contention of the senator himself. There they saw eye to eye. Then the 36-year-old statesman pointed out to Borah what Borah had also suspected, that the United States should adopt an understanding with other nations who feel the same way as the United States does about disarmament. It was impossible to learn last night whether this argument was considered of sufficient weight to overcome the senator's basic antagonism to all foreign commitments.

Another Meeting Today.

Another meeting between the President and Grandi will be arranged some time today. At the conclusion of that final talk, a communique will be given to the press in the same fashion as at the conclusion of the visit of Premier Laval.

The Saracenic bearded Italian moved in the Hotel Mayflower yesterday morning upon his return from the White House conversations. He lunched with Signora Grandi at the home of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon. Grandi was deep in the contemplation of some of Secretary Mellon's famous Titans, Rembrandts and Murillos when Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was ushered in with Hugh Cumming, jr., of the State Department.

Grandi cordially shook hands with Col. Lindbergh, who was supposed to have flown him here on his arrival in New York. Fog prevented. Secretary Mellon seemed to enjoy the scene as the vigorous dark-haired Italian chatted animatedly with tall, blonde, phlegmatic Lindbergh.

Reception at Embassy.

Yesterday afternoon he and Signora Grandi went to the Italian Embassy to a reception of the Italy America Society. The Lido Civic Club and representatives of the Italian Societies of Washington greeted their distinguished compatriot last night shortly before he left for the White House dinner. They had previously sent a magnificent floral tribute, for which the minister thanked them.

Signor Grandi met at the President's dinner four members of Congress of Italian descent, La Guardia, of New York; Cavicchia, of New Jersey; Palmisano, of Maryland, and Granata, of Illinois.

The special train which will bear the Italian foreign minister and his beautiful wife to New York will leave Union Station at an hour to be announced some time today. They will be received in New York tomorrow by Mayor James J. Walker and will then go to Philadelphia.

Program for Grandi On His Final Day Here

The last day of Signor Grandi in the Capital probably will include a final conference with President Hoover. His program for today is as follows:

1 p. m., he will go with Signora Grandi to the home of Undersecretary and Mrs. William R. Castle, jr., for lunch.

Some time in the afternoon he will hold his final press conference.

8 p. m., Ambassador and Signora de Martino will entertain for the minister of foreign affairs and Signora Grandi in a large dinner at the embassy. There will be a reception afterward.

Shortly after the reception, Signor Grandi will go to Union Station. He will sleep on the train tonight and arrive in New York tomorrow morning.

Greek Islands Ask Italy for Freedom

Grandi Receives Petition for Possession Seeking Independence.

A petition calling on the Italian government to restore to Greece the Greek Islands of Dodecanese, taken over by Italy in 1912, was presented yesterday to Dino Grandi, foreign minister of Italy, by a committee representing Dodecanesian exiles.

The petition, delivered to Senor Grandi by Soteriis Nicholson, who headed the delegation, charged Italy has carried out a systematic moral and material persecution against the Greek Islanders for the purpose of forcing the inhabitants to emigrate, so that Greecian Dodecanese should be populated with Italians."

It was charged that in 1912 when Italy took over the Islands there were 148,232 inhabitants, and that now there are less than 70,000. Italy, it declared, "has whipped mercilessly and thrown into the most damp and underground prisons, without any food for 30 and 40 and 50 hours, many prominent persons of the islands."

Traffic Policeman Hurt After Grandi Reception

A Tenth Precinct policeman was slightly injured at 5:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon in front of the Italian Embassy, 2700 Sixteenth street northwest, while directing the extra flow of traffic heightened by a reception to Foreign Minister and Signora Grandi by the Italy-American Society.

The policeman, John T. Magnus, 31 years old, of 631 C street northeast, was bowled over by an automobile operated by George Ewing Martin, of 1661 Crescent place northwest. Magnus was taken to Emergency Hospital for treatment of bruises about the head, cuts about the knee and a fractured thumb.

Capital Man Divorced By Wife at Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Anne Mitchell, 21, Pittsburgh, has been granted a divorce from Olin V. Mitchell, Washington, D. C., because he told her "he would rather go to school and had no time for his wife."

Mrs. Mitchell told the court they had been married less than three months when he was graduated from Carnegie Tech and went to Washington. They were married March 15, 1929, and he left for Washington the following June, she testified.

BIRTHMARK SHOWN TO DEFEND TEACHER

Woman Accused With Principal Exposes Leg Before Morgantown Court.

Morgantown, W. Va., Nov. 18 (U.P.). Miss Esther Williams, teacher in the Morgantown High School, appeared in defense of her principal, John T. West, today, and displayed to the jury what prosecution witnesses said they saw through a peep hole—a birthmark on her right leg, just above the knee.

West is on trail charged with improper conduct with Miss Williams. Two janitors and a night watchman drilled a hole through the ceiling of West.5s office and from the room above claim to have peered down upon two intimate scenes in which West and Miss Williams were the participants in the first, and West and Miss Betty Garfield, another teacher, in the second.

While a packed courtroom, including many of her students, looked on, Miss Williams lifted her skirt and pointed an identifying finger to the mark. Percy Smith, the night watchman, who had been prosecution's chief witness, had testified that when he sawa woman and West on a divan directly beneath the peephole he did not see the woman's face, but identified her as Miss Williams from the birthmark. He had seen the mark previously while observing Miss Williams swimming.

Miss Williams testified that Smith had asked her for dates, but she had refused because "I do not make dates with married men." On the afternoon she is alleged to have been in West's office, she was actually in Fairmount, W. Va., attending a theater with John Phillips, another teacher, she said. In cross-examination, she admitted that she was a divorcee.

Phillips corroborated Miss Williams' testimony. The prosecution also brought out that he had been divorced.

West preceded Miss Williams on the stand. He testified that Charles E. McCorkle, former superintendent of Morgantown schools, questioned his loyalty and feared that he sought the superintendency. West's testimony was intended to show that he was "framed" to remove him from the school system.

The defense finished its case and the State was presenting rebuttal testimony when court was adjourned until tomorrow.

Baptist Committees Report on Activity

Columbia Churches Hold Second Day's Session of Convention.

Accomplishments of the year were discussed and reported on yesterday at the business sessions of the Columbia Association of Baptist Churches on the second day of its fifty-fourth annual convention, being held at the National Baptist Memorial Church, Sixteenth and Harvard streets northwest.

Those reporting the work of the year were committee chairmen, who told of the activities of their respective groups; Mrs. H. B. Waddey, treasurer, who gave an account of the fiscal affairs of the association, and a special report by the committee on social service.

Addresses were made at the evening session by the Rev. J. B. Lawrence, of the Home Mission Board, Southern Baptist convention, and the Rev. Albaugh, who has just returned from Africa after a prolonged period of missionary work. Devotional and musical observances interspersed each of the morning, afternoon and evening sessions.

Eighteenth street northwest; Carroll Kelchildrees, 937 H street northwest; Lewis G. Goffarth, 1627 Lamont street northwest; William K. Ackerman, 1300 S street northeast; Ruth Rogers, 1120 Ninth street northwest; Howard E. Runkles, 123 Tennessee avenue northeast; Charles Hyde, 123 Tennessee avenue southeast, and Frank Hazelton, of Silver Hill, Md.

The other three arrested were charged with sale and possession of liquor. They gave names and addresses as James Gray, Benning, D. C., postoffice; Leo Hazel, Oxon Hill, Md., and William McDonald, Benning, D. C., postoffice.

An earlier series of raids, made yesterday morning, netted two stills in the vicinity of Najemoy, Charles County, Md., although the operators were not found at either still. One of the "kettles" was of 50-gallon capacity, while the other would take a 500-gallon load of mash.

Immigration Called First U. S. Problem

Tide Now in Reverse, Says W. W. Husband at Club in Chevy Chase.

America's oldest continuous problem is immigration, Assistant Secretary of Labor W. W. Husband declared yesterday in an address before the Woman's Club of Chevy Chase in the Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church.

First law to reduce immigration was in 1880 and since that time various quota laws have been tried, of which the selective act of 1924 appears most satisfactory, he said. The tide of immigration has turned and the chief work of the bureau is to find and deport those who have entered the country illegally and to return to their own lands those who entered in good faith but were unable to find employment, he added.

Mr. and Mrs. Husband were guests at a luncheon before the meeting, with Mrs. Cato B. Hurd as hostess. Miss Esther Spear, guest artist, played two piano solos. Various committee chairmen reported.

KILLER OF 2 SUICIDE AS POSSE CLOSES IN

Man and Wife Shot From Car by Brakeman Spurned by One Victim.

Dennison, Ohio, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Thomas Wheeler, 34, a Pennsylvania Railroad brakeman, shot himself to death late tonight as police officers closed in upon him to arrest him for the double slaying a few hours earlier of Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Scheidiger.

Wheeler's body was found beside his automobile a mile and a half outside of Dennison on Cadiz road. He had shot himself with a small caliber revolver.

Wheeler made a desperate effort to elude capture, and county and city officers traced his car to Cadiz, 25 miles from here, but their quarry eluded them by doubling back toward Dennison. Near the city, faced with the knowledge of inevitable arrest, he shot himself.

According to neighbors, the tragedy was the outgrowth of Wheeler's spurned attentions to Mrs. Scheidiger, whose husband also was a railroad man—a conductor on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

CLOSET GIRL RECORD ABSOLVED BY BOARD

the child welfare division of this board acting in cooperation.

"The committee reported that inasmuch as the child, Edith, now a temporary ward of the board, under commitment from the juvenile court, is receiving the best available care and the charges of cruelty are pending for hearing before the Supreme Court of the District, there seemed to be no occasion for further action of this board."

Accompanied by their attorneys, the Rileys appeared before Justice F. Dickinson Letts, in the District Supreme Court, and stated emphatically that they were not guilty.

Because both were at liberty on bond they were allowed to leave the courtroom without further ado. No date has been set for their trial.

The Rileys, stepmother and father, are charged in an indictment with having brutally treated Edith Riley, who was taken from a closet in the Riley home, where she had allegedly been confined for some time. The girl is now at Gallinger Hospital undergoing special treatment at the hands of physicians and psychiatrists.

Representative Bowman declared that "it would have been easy for the board to obtain an attachment for this child years ago, as apparently was done with no difficulty just recently," he said. "Judge Sellers indicated her willingness to issue the necessary papers to get the child when the matter was brought to her attention ten days ago and it is easy to see she would have been just as willing to have taken such action had the board presented the case to her long ago."

Signora Grandi Will Send Son, 6, to Visit U. S. in 1932

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

Vibrant from the thrill of talking overseas to her children, Signora Dino Grandi yesterday broke her hitherto invariable "no interview" rule to say she would send her son Franco, 6 years old, to America next year.

"I think for him to see this very industrious country will have a wonderful effect upon his character," she said. "Whether or not I can come with him, I do not know, but I shall send him at his vacation time."

Signora Grandi and her husband, the Italian foreign minister, already had planned to have Franco enjoy an educational visit in this country when he was 12 years old. The decision to have him come earlier grew out of that transatlantic phone call—and out of the tremendous impression that America has made on Signora Grandi—in a three days' stay.

Technical checkers on that phone call said the children's voices didn't carry very well, but their mother said she understood every word perfectly.

"Do you know what Franco said to me?" she laughed. "He said, 'Mother, this time you left us here, but next year we will come with you.'"

In the colorful background of a tea at the Italian Embassy, Signora Grandi graciously granted the interview. To questions put in English, she gave Italian answer, but the words had scarcely left her lips before they were translated by an adept interpreter.

She said she had been "merely to the White House and to Woodley house (the home of Secretary and Mrs. Stimson) and briefly about the city," but that even on such brief acquaintance she was enthusiastic about America.

Mrs. Hoover she pronounced "a very charming, a very interesting woman."

"I was already very good friends with Mrs. Stimson, we were very much in sympathy," she said. "And, therefore, I was the more pleased with the taste of her quiet white house in the midst of great and silent grounds. I spent there two marvelous days, and Mrs. Stimson was very kind to show me the city."

Shopping for Simonetta, 4 years old—another telephone call consequence—is what Signora Grandi most looks forward to in New York.

Simonetta was promised "lots and lots and lots of toys," and Signora Grandi must buy them. Her dark eyes glowed with pride as she described her blonde little daughter.

"Her hair is blonde and short—so," she said. "She has blue eyes. In New York I will find her some pretty dresses. For both I will buy some children's literature, besides the playthings."

Farm Union Demands Farm Board Inquiry

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Delegates to the National Farmers Union convention today considered proposals of their resolutions committee which asked, among other measures, "an immediate and searching investigation of the Federal Farm Board" and regulation of the value of money by the incoming Congress.

He was questioned carefully concerning his movements on the night that the lunchroom at 727 North Capitol street was broken into. Saying that he won $75 or $80 in a dice game, he admitted going to the Atlas Hotel and registering under the name of Joe Hancock.

He denied giving the police conflicting accounts regarding the source of the money he accumulated on the night of the robbery. He described in detail what he says took place in the sergeant's room at the First Precinct Station and denied having given false answers to the officers.

With the continuation of the Government's case, Harker's sister, Mrs. Adelaide G. Marcos, testified of being at the First Precinct when Mostyn led her brother from the room, where he stated he was beaten, to the cell block.

Before they came out, she said, she heard groans which she thought came from the room. Harker looked bloody and pale, she stated. Mostyn told her, she said, that her brother did not need a lawyer and that he did not want to see her.

Louis Johrden, Post photographer, and P. Wheeler Johnson, Post reporter, testified that they saw Harker in the offices of Dr. H. Watson Moffitt. Johrden identified a picture he took there of Harker's back and face. It was admitted as evidence and the jury examined it.

Patrick J. Haltigan, deputy clerk of Police Court, told of seeing Harker's discolored eye when he came to the office to sign the bond upon which he was released.

Dr. Moffitt testified that he diagnosed the bruises on Harker's back as the results of blows when the youth was brought to his office by his lawyer, McComas Hawken, following the release.

The fact that the doctor drew a pencil across Harker's back was stressed by O'Shea in cross-examination. He quoted a medical tome which stated that a similar condition, called "urticaria," could be caused by such action.

The plaintiff's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Harker, were on the stand. Their testimony was in further corroboration of the condition of their son's eye and back when they saw him following his release by police.

Four employes of a lunchroom at 929 D street northwest, and two friends of the Harker family, Harry E. Gladman and Ralph A. Talbert, said that The Post photograph was a fair pictorial representation of Harker's bruised back when they saw it.

Milton Bailey, a bell boy at the Atlas Hotel, told of being taken to the station by Mostyn. There he saw Harker in a cell. He had a black eye at that time, Bailey said.

Rover interrupted the proceedings yesterday morning to nolle prosse charges against Detective Sergt. William Messer, one of the eighteen policemen indicted after the Department of Justice investigation of alleged police third degree methods.

After an investigation, Rover told Justice Proctor he was convinced that there was not sufficient evidence to warrant the prosecution of the detective. It is thought that Messer will be reinstated at once. He is under suspension.

WATER POWER HELD NATURAL MONOPOLY

Federal and State Control Must Cooperate, Says George O. Smith.

(Associated Press.)

Water power is regarded by George Otis Smith as a natural monopoly which should be regulated and controlled by cooperation between Federal and State authorities.

The chairman of the Power Commission, a storm center of many recent public utility controversies, yesterday outlined his views on the power question in an article entitled "What I Think About Federal and State Regulation," published in the Public Utilities Fortnight.

Regulation has necessarily displaced competition in electric public utilities, he said, partly to avoid wasteful duplication, but largely because large units and large systems permit higher efficiency.

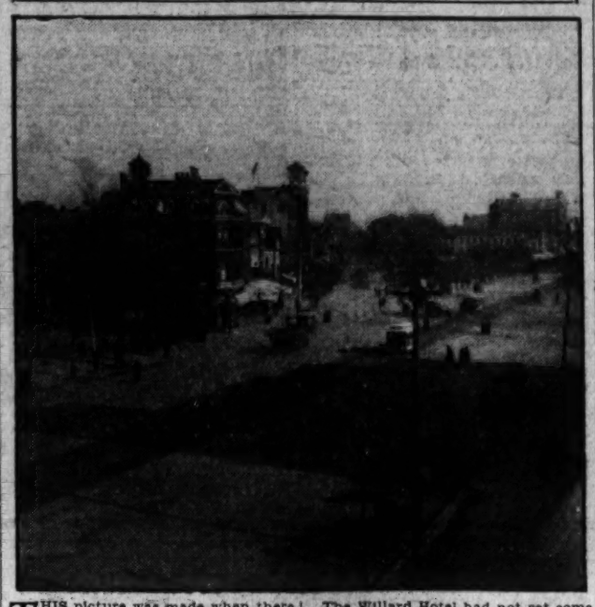

"How to regulate," he added, "is something to be worked out in practice rather than by theory."

Smith said publicity is the first step in regulation, but warned that back of it must be a solid foundation of facts or else regulatory functions "will jar and shake the whole structure."

Citing his experience of many years in Government service, the Power Commission chairman said he had learned "the large possibilities of effecitve cooperation between State and Federal agencies."

"In such purposeful cooperation duplicated action should be feared less than incomplete action," he said. "Overlapping, though extensive, is not so serious as gaps in the regulatory service needed by the public."

When Washington Was Younger—No. 110

THIS picture was made when there were hitching racks on Pennsylvania avenue. In the foreground of this photograph, showing the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue and Fourteenth and E streets, two horses can be seen tied to a telephone pole.

The Willard Hotel had not yet come into being on its present site. In the left background the old National Theater building can be seen. The Avenue seems singularly devoid of traffic to those of us who are more familiar with its modern aspect. There isn't an automobile in sight.

WET REPUBLICANS DEMAND CHAIRMAN FESS' RESIGNATION

League and refrain from being its spokesman.

"His constancy to the costly prohibition experiment will be a thorn in the side of every Republican office seeker in the next election. His defense of a national folly is embarrassing to regular Republican organizations everywhere and the quicker he realizes it the better for all concerned.

Bigotry Charged to Fess.

"To oppose the wishes of millions of Americans who would give expression to their desires through the ballot box, is arrogant and bigoted as well as a show of weakness. If Senator Fess wishes obstinately and unreasonably to attach himself to the losing cause of prohibition in the State of Ohio, that is his business, but when he says that he will use his influence as national chairman in the interest of a costly legislative failure which is kept on the statute books only by false propaganda of those who for years have been making a living out of prohibition, then he is deliberately destroying the very object for which he has been elected as chairman of a great committee.

"I emphatically protest against being placed in a position of apology to my constituents for the personal narrow-minded intolerance of the presumed spokesman of the Republican party."

Representative Schafer, the loudest man on Capitol Hill, had this to say:

"If Mr. Fess wants to be the physician at the death and the leading pallbearer at the funeral of the Republican party, he should continue his public demonstration of prohibition fanaticism as exemplified in the letter which he sent to Mr. Wadsworth."

Fess Called Democratic Asset.

Representative LaGuardia pointed out that Senator Fess took the dry side in the late senatorial election in Ohio. Nevertheless, LaGuardia said, Robert Bulkley, a wet, was elected.

"If," continued LaGuardia, "Senator Fess remains at the head of the Republican party with his provincial viewpoint and his stubborn fanaticism, the party will find itself in a hopeless minority.

"I ask Mr. Fess to point out one dry victory that the Republican party has had since he became its chairman. I have already made known my plans as to what I shall do if the present leadership of the party continues. I think Senator Fess is the best asset the Democratic party has."

Senator Fess had no comment to make yesterday. He has always insisted that he took over the chairmanship of the Republican national committee with the understanding that it was merely a temporary arrangement. Recently, however, he announced that he would continue in the post until the Republican national convention in June.

Dry Platform Forecast.

There are many members of the party who would like to see a change made at the December meeting of the national committee. Considerable pressure, in addition to that brought to bear yesterday by Senator Watson, has been exerted on Postmaster General Brown to have him take over the chairmanship from Senator Fess.

The vigorous statements issued yesterday by Representatives Britten, LaGuardia and Schafer are indicative of the nervousness among the Republican wets as they look forward to the next campaign.

Notwithstanding numerous wet victories in the last year or so, including the election of a House candidate, Michael J. Hart, in an erstwhile dry district in Michigan, the present prospect is that the next Republican platform will contain a dry plank.

It is conceded that President Hoover virtually will dictate the platform, and those close to the President are convinced that he has no intention of changing his position on prohibition.

As for the Democrats, it is pretty well agreed that they will adopt a wet plank at the next convention. Virtually every man who has been seriously suggested as a candidate for the presidential nomination is a wet.

Loophole for Drys.

In this connection, the plan that has gained most sympathy among Democrats is the one suggested for the Republicans by former Senator Wadsworth and frowned upon by Senator Fess.

It was recommended to Jouett Shouse, chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic national committee, by Senator Bulkley, of Ohio, several weeks ago.

Senator Bulkley pointed out if the party wrote such a plank into its platform, all Democratic members of Congress would be pledged to vote for a resolution submitting a repeal amendment to conventions in all the States.

Such a vote, Bulkley pointed out, would not brand all Democrats as wets. Once the resolution had been adopted, he explained, the party would have fulfilled its pledge to give the people a chance to express themselves. Drys in the party, he said, then might go out and fight against the repeal amendment.

Murray Declines Bid To Air Board Attack

Oklahoma City, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Gov. W. H. Murray said today he would be unable to accept Chairman McNary's invitation to appear before the Senate agriculture committee November 24 to discuss his charges against the Federal Farm Board.

"It is not necessary for me to go," Murray said. "What they should do is to have the board give facts on where the wheat is now and what the board did with it last year. If the board gives the truth the controversy is ended except for an explanation. If it fails to give the truth, then is the time to take up the question of proof."

BRITISH TARIFF PLAN IS WATCHED BY U.S.

Federal Officials and Business Anxious About How Far Bars Will Be Raised.

(Associated Press.)

Government officials, along with American busines men, are anxious to see just how far grea' Britain will go toward substituting tariffs for its historic free trade policy.

Since Britain is one of this country's best customers, steps in Parliament to erect barriers on manufactured and semimanufactured goods are receiving plenty of attention. America's half billion dollar export trade with Great Britain has already dwindled as a result of general economic conditions and Great Britain's temporary abandonment of the gold standard.

Officials have drawn encouragement from the move toward tariff scales. Democrats, blaming this country for leading the world in the erection of high tariff barriers, felt that Great Britain's action would turn the tide the other way—and a general lowering of trade walls would follow.

Capitol Hill Comment.

Some other observers believed that in the long run tariffs would put Great Britain back on her feet economically and indirectly benefit this country.

The only comment on the British tariff situation came from Capitol Hill and it varied according to the political theories of the observers.

Chairman Smoot, of the Senate finance committee, a coauthor of the American tariff law, expressed confidence that England would not put a tariff on this country's raw products, which she can not get elsewhere. He said he did not expect a "tariff war" to result and did not believe this country would attempt to change its tariff rates as a result of Great Britain's move.

Representative Hawley (Republican), Oregon, who shared in drafting the 1930 tariff act, said "England has a right to levy a tariff on whatever imports she pleases."

"We levy on what we choose," he added. "I take it England is acting to raise the additional revenue of which she is much in need. It is for her to decide what is best for her trade."

Democratic Viewpoint.

Senator Hull, of Tennessee, tariff spokesman for the Democrats, said the British action might force the world to readjust its tariff policies downward. Unless it does, he said, "it won't be long before both public and private indebtedness will be repudiated because of the impracticability of making transfers across international boundaries."

Hull saw the immediate possibility of American factories moving to England in large numbers to avoid the new tariff.

Representative Rainey, of Illinois, a Democratic member of the House ways and means committee, forecast reciprocal tariff agreements as "the only way out" of a dangerous trade situation resulting from the British action.

Bingham Hopeful of Result.

Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, Republican member of the Senate finance committee, said that in one way the tariff might be "an excellent thing," by getting England back on a sound basis whereby she would be a better customer.

Bingham was more concerned with the effect on English importations into this country as a result of the lowered value of the pound sterling. He suggested a study by the Tariff Commission to see if higher rates were not necessary on some of Great Britain's products.

Commerce Department officials said there was no way yet to tell what effect the duties would have on American trade if enacted.

Third Rabies Case On Ship Develops

Another of 11 Destroyer Sailors Bitten by Dog Ill; Two Dead.

(Associated Press.)

A third case of rabies has developed among sailors who were bitten by a pet dog which ran amuck on the destroyer John D. Edwards October 16.

Eleven other men are under treatment at the Naval Hospital at Canacao, Philippine Islands, and two already are dead.

The commanding officer of the hospital reported to the Navy Department the development of the third case today, but did not give the name of the victim. The two dead were John Macon Jones, of Durham, N. C., and John Adams Borowski, jr., of Baltimore.

Steck's Tariff Post Chances Dimmed

(Associated Press.)

Prospects for the appointment of former Senator Daniel F. Steck (Democrat), Iowa, to the tariff commission were dimmed yesterday.

Senator Dickinson, Republican of that State, recommended to President Hoover that George A. Chaney, of Ames, Iowa, an economist and a Republican, be given one of the two tariff commission vacancies. Senator Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, also indorsed Mr. Chaney.

This move left Mr. Steck without the indorsement of the two senators from his State. Such approval is almost fundamental to an appointment of this kind. Senate confirmation of the tariff commissioners is required.

Intoxicated Man Spills Rum on Dry Prosecutor

New Orleans, Nov. 18 (U.P.).—A distinguished group of new Orleans public officials, mostly prohibition law enforcers, sat conversing in a Pulman of the special Tulane train to the Georgia game last Saturday, when an inebriated Georgia fan approached and offered them a quart of Georgia corn whisky.

He was so insistent about it that the whole quart was upset over the suit of Prohibition Prosecutor W. H. Norman, according to the best available version of the incident.

Norman was riding with R. E. Tuttle, prohibition administrator; Eugene Smith, assistant administrator; E. E. Talbot, district attorney; W. S. Benedict, assistant U. S. district attorney; P. M. Flanagan, another assistant, and R. H. Carter, jr., U. S. commissioner.

MRS. PINCHOT QUITS REPUBLICAN BOARD

Protests "Overloading" With Organization Members of Women's Council.

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the independent Republican governor of Pennsylvania, today resigned from the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women as a protest against "overloading of the board with organization members."

"Because the minority of independents is so small that it is impossible to guarantee that the board will not use the council to strengthen the power of the organization," she said, "I am reluctantly forced to withdraw as a director."

Her decision was conveyed by letter to the council, meeting here in its ninth annual convention, while Mrs. Hannah M. Durham, Allentown, was reading the report of the nominating committee which included the nomination of Mrs. Pinchot for another two-year term as director. Mrs. Pinchot, who was instrumental in the founding of the council eight years ago, said she was not resigning from the council.

In her letter to Mrs. Durham, the governor's wife said the council was created with the idea that "independent" and "organization" Republican women would be given equal representation on the board.

"For the first five or six years such a balance was scrupulously kept," she said. "Since then the situation has changed. Year by year the board has become increasingly representative of the organization point of view. The new ticket to be presented today, as I understand it, increases the organization majority to an even greater degree than at present—so that, if elected, the directors will stand approximately two-thirds organization, and the officers even more than that."

Pittsburgher's Wife Held In Week-End Party Death

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 18 (A.P.).—A coroner's jury which investigated a week-end party at the fashionable Mount Lebanon home of A. L. Culbertson, 35, an engineer, at which Culbertson was fatally shot, today recommended that the man's wife, Laverna Culbertson, 35, the mother of two children, be held for the grand jury on a manslaughter charge.

Bond was fixed at $5,000 for the woman, who was not permitted by her counsel to testify at the inquest. R. W. Walker, Mount Vernon, Ohio, lumber merchant, who, with his wife, was a house guest at the Culbertson home at the time of the shooting testified that liquor was consumed in large quantities over the week-end.

LAND IN ALEXANDRIA PURCHASED BY FORD

Adjacent to Railway and Waterfront; New Plant Is Anticipated.

Purchase by the Ford Motor Co. of five acres of land at the foot of Franklin street, Alexandria, a location adjacent to railway tracks and with deep water facilities, was announced last night by Richard B. English, manager of the Ford Motor Co., for this district.

Mr. English admitted that the deal had been completed, but declined to comment on the use to which the land would be put. He pointed, however, to the natural advantages of the site, formerly owned and operated by the George Washington Stone Corporation.

Reports are current in Alexandria, where rumors of the deal have been circulated for some months past, that 160 persons will be employed at the new site at the start of operations, although no confirmation could be had from officials of the Ford Motor Co.

Selection of a site served by both water and rail was said to be in keeping with an established policy of the company.

The negotiations for the property lasted over several months, according to representatives of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce. Efforts of Alexandria to obtain a site for the Ford company followed announcement that it had sold its building at John Marshall place and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, Washington.

The river has a deep channel at the point in question and it was pointed out that steamers owned and operated by the Ford company could load and unload there. Spurs of the Southern Railway Co. extend to the site. Alexandria business men, convinced that a Ford project in the nearby city will stimulate local business, last night were jubilant over the successful culmination of negotiations.

Third Party Peril Is Seen by Senator

(Associated Press.)

Senator Lewis (Democrat), Illinois, said last night that if the Democrats repeated the blunders of the Republicans prior to the nominating conventions there would be an uprising which would create a third party.

"It must be plain to our Nation," he said in a statement issued through the Democratic national committee, "that the Republican rank and file would never renominate President Hoover—but they are conscious that the machinery of the administration shuts out both their views and their candidates * * *

"It is this very feeling in the masses of Republicans that assures to the Democracy the votes that must elect its candidates as a protest against this imperial order of favored masters obeyed at Washington by administration officers."

If the Democrats followed the Republican example, he said, there would be an uprising which would create another Populist or Progressive-Bull Moose party—"and these would dispose of both old political parties."

Texas Governor Stays Red Wing's Execution

Austin, Tex., Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Chief Red Wing, an Indian, sentenced to die in the electric chair at Huntsville early tomorrow, was given a reprieve today by Gov. Ross S. Sterling until November 30.

A temporary stay was granted the alleged slayer of Angelina Cavazos, 2-year-old Cuban girl, late today to permit Texas Rangers to complete an investigation of a last-minute story told by the condemned man that another crushed the baby's skull with a rock.

COLLADAY BESOUGHT TO HEAD CHEST DRIVE

Leader of Record Campaign Last Spring to Give Answer Today.

Edward F. Colladay, campaign chairman in the successful Community Chest drive of 1931, was virtually drafted for the same position in the 1932 campaign by a group of civic leaders who called upon him yesterday, presenting a letter signed by John Poole, president of the Community Chest; Robert V. Fleming, treasurer of the Community Chest; Charles C. Glover, jr., member of President Hoover's organization on unemployment relief, and E. C. Graham, chairman of the District of Columbia committee on employment, urging Mr. Colladay to again accept the post of campaign chairman. He took the matter under consideration and promised a reply today.

It was pointed out to Mr. Colladay that he had headed the most successful campaign in the history of the local chest last year, and that this year called for even greater results than obtained in 1931 because of the unemployment situation and its aftermath, just now beginning to make itself acutely felt. Attention was called to the fact that the chest must raise approximately $2,601,000 this year to fulfil its obligations to the community, including the District of Columbia committee on employment, which is to be financed through the Chest.

The Government departments, under the leadership of a committee of Government officials, are preparing to raise $1,000,000 of the total goal, leaving about $1,601,000 to be raised by Washington aside from the Government workers. This amount is needed to carry on the regular social work program and to provide for the additional funds demanded by calls for relief, and to obtain this amount, it was pointed out, will require the efforts of every patriotic Washingtonian.

Because of his experience in handling last year's campaign and previous experience in social work and in Government work during the war, Mr. Colladay was urged to reconsider the understanding of last year that he would not be called upon again for a similar job, and to consent to lead the campaign, which starts some time late in January.

velt for it. It was also, so far as is publicly known, their first meeting since the recent visits of Mayor Cermak, of Chicago, and Gov. Ritchie of Maryland.

The political writers were willing to accept the former governor's statement that they talked State finances. They only wanted to know what else they talked about, if anything. They did not find out.

After the luncheon, Mr. Roosevelt sent out the following message:

"I'm busy on my Thanksgiving proclamation, and, if you boys don't leave me alone, there won't be any turkey."

Former Gov. Smith drove up in a limousine promptly at noon, wearing his brown derby at what some of the veterans among the newspapermen described "an aggressive angle."

"Nothing to say," he said gruffly as he went in and then added with a grin:

"I'm here to eat. And I'm ready to eat, too."

As he came out, he was buttoning his waistcoat.

Off, Up and Down Again, Air Corps Is Seeking Song

By JOHN J. DALY

NOW comes the Air Corps seeking a song.

From time immemorable, each branch of the service has had its song—all but the Air Corps, composed of the younger element.

Tired of listening to their brothers in arms sing those rollicking old ditties of the Army, the Navy and the Marine Corps, the fliers want something distinctly their own.

"Here come the doughboys
With dirt behind their ears,
Here come the doughboys,
Their pay is in arrears.
Oh, the cavalry, artillery,
And the frowsy engineers
Could never beat the doughboys
In a hundred thousand years."

"Over hill, over dale
As we hit the dusty trail,
And the caissons go rolling along."

THE air men are not given to slow locomotion. So they like not the Cavalry song:

"For seventeen years I courted Nancy,
High-O, the Rolling River.
For seventeen years I courted Nancy,
I'm bound to cross the old Missour-i."

The middy song never meant much to the aviators—

"Sail, Navy, down the field, Sails set to the sky,"

for the bird men use fields only on which to taxi;

Nor does the Marine song appeal to them—

"From the halls of Montezuma, to the shores of Tripoli,
We will fight our country's battles,
On the land and on the sea——"

The bird men are over land, and sea, and in the air—and they want something that will show the cock-eyed world they stand supreme among the fighting elements of Uncle Sam's forces; not exactly a song of braggadocio, nor one of the do- and-dare type, but a rollicking good one that can be sung when flying fellows get together.

* * * *

THE Air Corps has the air, but they want the words—along lines something like this:

Oh, see the Air Corps
Up in the air soar
While the Infantry, Artillery, and Marines
Wearing out leather,
Marching together,
Tramp the roads and sound the call for pork and beans;
They envy the Air Corps,
Oh, listen to their roar,
Poor old soldier boys who hike until they fall.
Yes, and the Navy
Isn't all gravy;
It seems that, therefore, the Air Corps tops 'em all.

To the tune of "K-K-K-Katy" this can be sung on the air only with the permission of the copyright owners.

Air Lines Open Express Service to Far West

Through an agreement just completed between Pennsylvania Airlines and Transcontinental & Western Air, Inc., it is now possible to send express from Washington by airplanes to Akron and Cleveland, Topeka, Salina and Goodland, Kans., and to Denver, on a single way bill with store door pick-up and delivery service included in the single rate.

This is said to be the first instance in which connecting airlines have joined forces to provide through express service to all cities served by the respective lines, which also includes the United States Airways, Inc., System. In addition to the cities named above, New York, Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, Columbus, Fort Wayne, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Wichita, Springfield, Mo., Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Amarillo, Albuquerque, Winslow, Los Angeles and San Francisco are also included in the list of terminals served by this new method.

Former Ziegfeld Show Girl Sues for Divorce

Westport, Conn., Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Suit for divorce has been filed in Superior Court by Mrs. James Vail Converse, the former Ruth Morgan, showgirl in a Ziegfeld production. Converse is a New York stock broker and sportsman.

In her complaint, which charges intolerable cruelty, Mrs. Converse accused her husband of beating her.

Utilities Body Asks Rate Appeal Costs

Traction Companies Sued to Compel Payment in 1929 Case.

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday brought suit against the Capital Traction Co. and the Washington Railway & Electric Co. to compel them to pay into a special fund in the Treasury Department, $2,300.05 allegedly due the District because of money expended by the commission.

It is charged that an appeal from a court ruling was taken by the District and that, by reason of an act of Congress, the companies should pay costs of the proceedings. Printing of the record cost $2,074.10 and brief printing cost $224.95, which costs should be equally born by the two companies, it is argued.

The case originated in 1929 when a higher car fare was being sought by the traction companies. The District appealed the higher fare award.

Football Associate Calls On Hoover After Party

(Associated Press.)

Martin Kennedy, full back on Stanford University's football team of 1894, which recently held a reunion with President Hoover at the White House, called upon the Chief Executive yesterday "to thank him for the party."

Kennedy left last night for New York to sail for his post as a legal advisor of the Department of Commerce in London. "We all agreed," Kennedy said, "that our reunion was one of the nicest parties we had ever attended."

HumphreysRange in Use For Rifles This Morning

Army Engineer School headquarters at Fort Humphreys, Va., yesterday issued a warning of gun firing in the vicinity of the base this morning.

"The Lorton Rifle Range at Fort Humphreys, Va., will be used for musketry firing on Thursday morning," the warning stated. "All persons are warned to avoid this area during the period of the firing."

Veterans Society To Hold Banquet

Col. U. S. Grant to Be Guest at Annual Celebration Held Tonight.

The Daughters and Sons of the Veterans of the Civil War will hold their annual banquet for "The Boys in Blue" and members of the organization at the Burlington Hotel tonight.

Col. Ulysses S. Grant, grandson of the leader of the union forces in the war, will be the guest of honor at the function. Representatives from many States will attend the annual affair to greet the men who took up arms in the defence of the Union over 70 years ago. The remnant of the war forces to be present, clad in uniforms used now only for display purposes, will mingle with the descendents of their "buddies" telling of the exploits that are now history.

Representative and Mrs. James Wickersham, delegate from Alaska to the United States Congress, and Representative F. H. Zimmerman will be among those present.

DAWES IS EXPECTED TO SIT WITH COUNCIL

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

Paris, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—United States Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, in Paris as an "observer" of the League of Nations Council meeting, tonight became potentially one of the most important figures in the league's negotiations regarding the dispute in Manchuria.

News of the capture of Tsitsihar by the Japanese army in Manchuria gave rise to reports that this would be the development which would bring Gen. Dawes to a seat at the council table.

Heretofore he has participated in none of the council meetings, but has confined his activities to private conferences with the leading council members. The day he came here from London, however, he indicated that he might attend the meetings if it seemed to him advisable.

The fall of Tsitsihar aroused no little alarm among the league members. They had expected that the Chinese commander, Mah Chan-Shan, would be obliged to retreat, but it had been hoped that the Tokyo government might be able to halt the advance of its army and withdraw it soon into the railway zone as the league council demanded last month.

Sze Attacks League.

Dr. Alfred Sze, representing China on the council, was explosively outspoken in his criticism of the league tonight when the council invited him to express his views.

He told the members that China expects the league itself to uphold the sanctity of all treaties, "including the league covenant, the Kellogg pact and the nine-power Pacific treaty."

Japan has violated them all, he charged, and he demanded to know what the council is going to do about it. The league was built on the promises of the nations to respect treaties, and guarantee territorial integrity, he said, and he intimated that in his opinion the league would be a sham if the member powers do not defend a member state against an aggressor.

Determined for Showdown.

From persons close to Dr. Sze it was learned that he is "stoutly determined" that the league shall carry out its engagements or acknowledge itself to be impotent. He was represented as confident that the United States will maintain its open-door policy regarding Manchuria and he was said to feel that the nine-power pact is China's strongest hope.

The league was concerned also about today's developments in Manchuria because the occupation of Tsitsihar takes the Japanese army definitely within the Russian sphere of influence. Gen. Honjo's troops crossed the Chinese Eastern Railway, which is jointly owned by China and Soviet Russia, and there was considerable apprehension lest this embroil Soviet Russia in the Manchurian trouble.

The council called in Kenkichi Yoshizawa this evening to cross-examine him on the purpose of Japan's demand that China recognize the validity of "existing treaties" before withdrawal of Japanese troops.

Will Recognize Sanctity.

The Chinese already have said they will recognize the sanctity of all treaties, but that they never would recognize what the Nanking government describes as the "treaty of 1915, which was signed under duress and never ratified."

It was understood that Mr. Yoshizawa maintained the position he took at the council meeting in Geneva last month and declined to define the exact significance of the Japanese demands.

While he was before the council Tsuneo Matsudaira, Japanese Ambassador to Great Britain, who is also participating in the council negotiations, conferred for an hour with Ambassador Dawes and later the ambassador reported to Washington by telephone.

Sir John Simon, the British delegate, went back to London for a cabinet meeting but will return as soon as possible.

Quits Compromise Talk.

Japan abandoned all talk of compromise tonight in the Manchurian conflict.

At a secret session of the council of the League of Nations, Kenkichi Yoshizawa, the Japanese delegate, laid down a program of peace conditions described in some league circles as tantamount to turning Manchuria into a political and economic protectorate of Japan.

League authorities admitted that in their peace labors they stood with their backs against the wall. The very survival of the league's peace machinery was declared to be endangered.

M. Yoshizawa reiterated that China must conclude negotiations on all of Japan's "five points" before evacuation of troops could begin. He declined to specify exactly what Japan meant by her fifth point, which is a demand that China recognize existing treaties between herself and Japan.

Stimson Still Confident Sessions Will Bring Peace

(Associated Press.)

The thundering guns of the biggest offensive since Sino-Japanese hostilities began in Manchuria brought expressions of concern here yesterday, but the Government clung steadfastly to its hope for a peaceful settlement.

While press dispatches told of Japanese forces entering the city of Tsitsihar, of desperate fighting and a heavy casualty list, a formal statement was issued at the State Department.

In this, Secretary Stimson reaffirmed his confidence that negotiations now in progress at Paris would end hostilities. He denied reports from the French capital that the United States had altered its position.

The Secretary refrained from discussing the activities of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, representing America in the peace-making efforts at Paris. He did say, however, that the Washington Government had proposed no terms of settlement to China or Japan and made no commitment to either.

"This Government has consistently urged and is continuing to urge that only peaceful means and not military pressure shall be used in the settlement of the dispute," he said. "This is the essence of the position taken by the nations represented on the council of the League of Nations at Paris."

Hawk Ling Yen, newly arrived from China, presented his credentials as charge d'affairs of the Chinese legation to Secretary Stimson.

He succeeds Yung Kwai, who has served as charge since the Chinese minister resigned last spring. Yung Kwai is ill.

Yen's first interview with the secretary was confined to introduction and presentation of credentials with no detailed reference to the Manchurian situation.

LONG WINS HIS FIRST LEGAL FIGHT ON CYR

Shreveport, La., Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Huey P. Long today won the first legal skirmish in his battle to retain the governorship against the challenge of Dr. Paul N. Cyr, his elected lieutenant governor.

The Caddo district court ordered dismissal of Dr. Cyr's ouster suit, directed against Long on the contention that Long automatically vacated the governor's chair when he certified his election to the United States Senate last spring.

Cyr alleged Long was already exercising prerogatives as senator and that the State constitution prohibits a member of Congress from holding a State office, but Judge T. F. Bell upheld Long's motion to dismiss on grounds of "no cause of action," based on the plea that Long had not yet taken his seat in the Senate.

Cyr's counsel immediately announced an appeal to the Supreme Court and the two principals exchanged pot shots across the length of the State.

The emphasis which the congressional leaders intend to place on reduced Government expenditures as well as on the need of new revenue was shown in a letter written yesterday by Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, to a Pennsylvania State official.

He declared strongly against full cash payment of the soldier bonus insurance certificates, saying "taxes must be greatly increased" even though Government expenses "are being cut to the danger point." He warned that "in the present market for Government bonds, it is certain that we can not borrow huge sums on bonds paying less than 3½ per cent interest."

Tennessee Officials Hope To Get New York Loan

New York, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—After a series of conferences with New York bankers, Tennessee State officials were hopeful tonight that negotiations had progressed to such a point that they would be successful in effecting the $10,000,000 loan they seek.

Ernest M. Haston, Tennessee's secretary of State, before leaving for home, said that although the outlook in New York had been somewhat discouraging, he believed that funds necessary to meet a renewal of State loans for $5,000,000 due December 1, together with an additional $5,000,000 to cover the balance of the State deficit, would be forthcoming.

JAPAN'S VICTORY GIVES RISE TO FEAR OF SOVIET ENTRANCE

Would Cause Material Loss.

The Soviet government had taken the atitude that cutting of the railroad, which Russia owns jointly with China, would cause material loss to Soviet interests.

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

Mukden, Manchuria, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Japan's crack little army seized Tsitsihar tonight after a day of desperate fighting and sent Gen. Mah Chan-Shan's Chinese troops fleeing in rout to the north in a blinding blizzard.

The Japanese conquered an army ten times their strength. They advanced more than 18 miles, but in the dawn-to-dusk battle they encountered the best resistance a Chinese force has put up in recent years.

At the end of the battle—the greatest engagement since the Manchurian conflict started last September—the Japanese were well above the Chinese Eastern Railway and squarely in the zone of Russian influence.

Appears Shattered.

Mah Chan-Shan's forces appeared to be so effectively shattered as to be incapable of further resistance. So Japan seemed assured of maintaining her position in Tsitsihar, capital of the northern province of Heilungkiang.

The only threat was Russia.

Today's battle was fought in bitter cold. The temperature was as low as fifteen degrees below zero and the Japanese advanced against a gale sweeping from the north out of Siberia.

About 4,000 Japanese troops took part in the action. They turned Gen. Mah Chan-Shan's 40,000 to 50,000 men into a rabble, fleeing across the Heilungkiang plains to get away from an assault carried forward with all the precision of a modern military machine.

The casualties remained undetermined tonight, but dispatches agreed that on both sides they were heavy.

By 8 o'clock tonight every vestige of Chinese resistance had disappeared and the Japanese line moved into Tsitsihar. Chinese police were disarmed and the public was reassured by a proclamation saying that all law-abiding persons would be protected.

The announced purpose of Gen. Honjo, Japanese supreme commander in Manchuria, was to shatter once for all the force gathered together by Gen. Mah, a diminutive military man who was a nonenity in Manchuria until the recent troubles raised him to eminence.

Gen. Honjo followed up with a smashing blow against the Chinese center, delivered by infantry. This furious attack split the Chinese line in two when the battle was only a few hours old.

Retreat of Chinese.

Gen. Mah failed to support his center, and the Japanese advance soon turned the orderly retreat of his divided forces into a rout. Their organization gone, the Chinese raced to the rear.

After occupying Anganchi, the Japanese pushed north almost at will to Tsitsihar.

Expectations tonight were that the Chinese would attempt to swing back to Harbin, with disastrous results to the peace and order maintained there since the outbreak of the conflict.

During the last few days the Japanese prepared for their big offensive to crush Gen. Mah. Reinforcements were quietly brought in. Airplanes were used to determine the disposition and strength of Mah's forces. Units in the South Manchurian Railway zone were reduced to skeleton organization that every bit of strength might be available for the big push.

Fear Is Expressed.

Tokyo, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Fear was expressed tonight that the occupation of Tsitsihar by Gen. Honjo's troops would bring Soviet Russia actively into the Manchurian conflict.

To take Tsitsihar the Japanese army had to cross the Chinese Eastern Railway, operated jointly by China and Russia, and Tsitsihar itself is well within the sphere of Russian influence.

The Japanese assault was made with full knowledge of the dangerous possibilities so far as the Soviet is concerned. Gen. Honjo said the other day that if a battle were fought he might have to establish his line at Tsitsihar regardless of the danger of embroiling Russia.

Temporary Measure.

The Japanese government, it was said, has no intention of remaining permanently in Tsitsihar or Anganchi. The occupation was described as a temporary military measure.

The minister of war declared that so long as the troops of Gen. Mah Chan-Shan, Chinese commander, did not use the Chinese Eastern Railway, Japan would not interfere with that road.

When the Chinese forces have been dispersed, the minister said, Gen. Honjo may retire to Taonan or Changchiatun.

Dispatches received here from the scene of the conflict indicated that Gen. Mah, accompanied by several thousand men, was going north, using trains of the Chinese railway.

In government circles it was said today's offensive was made necessary because Gen. Honjo was in a dangerous position before a superior force of the Chinese.

Kirin Province Reported Under Provisional Rule

Harbin, Nov. 18 (U.P.)—From Chinese sources it was reported today that a new provisional government for the Kirin Province had been instituted a week ago, at Pinhsien, 30 miles east of Harbin and south of the Sungari River.

The new government was said to be loyal to Chang Hsueh-Liang.

Dead-Letter Sale Will Be Broadcast

Radio at Noon Today Will Carry to Nation Cries of Auctioneer.

Biennial dead letter sale of the Postoffice Department will be held today and for the first time the cries of the auctioneer of the undeliverable missives and packages will be broadcast over the radio. They will go on a Nation-wide hook-up of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Baby bottles and Bibles, jews harps and saxophones, pajamas and pistols, billet doux and joke books, these are but a few items in the heterogeneous collection of misaddressed and unclaimed letters and bundles which have accumulated at the dead letter office of the department.

Radio broadcast of the sale will be on the air from 12:15 to 12:30 p. m. and will originate in auditorium of the Washington Boys' Club. A talk by a high postal official is also expected to be included in the broadcast in the form of an explanation of the problems of delivery faced by the Postoffice Department.

ment Service offered another special task of major proportions.

At the same time he has conducted a vigorous campaign for deportation of all criminal aliens unable to present evidence of legal entry.

More recently he has devoted much time and energy to a series of conferences touching the wage discussions now developing in the railroad labor field.

All of these special assignments, in addition to routine affairs of the Cabinet post, have forced Mr. Doak to remain at his desk from 10 to 14 hours a day. Frequently he took great sheaves of correspondence and reports to his home for perusal at night.

While traveling he carried bundles of department business with him. This intensive work gradually undermined his physical resistance.

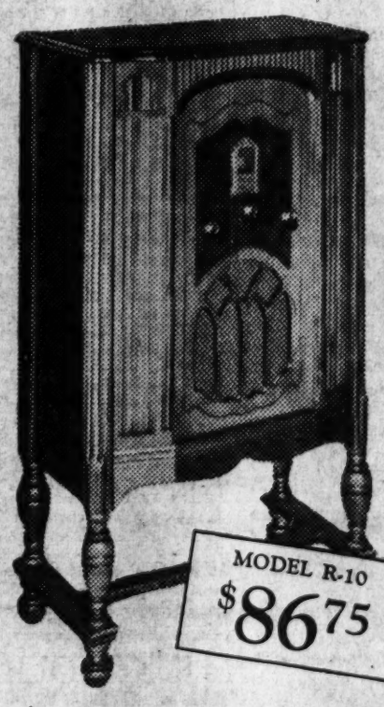

Despite this temporary condition, however, Secretary Doak was favored in his fight last week against a dangerous congestion of the lungs by a remarkable store of vitality. His constitution is sound and vigorous for a man of 50 years and his physicians are confident that a light work schedule for a month or six weeks will put him in tip-top shape again.

TREATIES INVOLVED.

Japan and Soviet Russia are now face to face in Manchuria. In taking Tsitsihar the Japanese forces have penetrated the Russian sphere of influence, in spite of the warning recently sent from Moscow to Tokyo. No doubt Japan has given every verbal assurance to Soviet Russia that the field of operations are aimed solely at the Chinese, and that Japan will withdraw when Gen. Mah's army has been beaten. But the Manchurian fire continues to spread, in spite of assurances and efforts to hold it within bounds.

While the Japanese forces go forward, apparently without regard to negotiations at Geneva, and in contradiction to the repeated statements of the Japanese foreign office, the council of the League of Nations struggles with the dilemma of retaining its prestige while backing down in the face of Japanese defiance. The time limit set by the council for the withdrawal of Japanese troops has come and gone, and the net result is the seizure of Tsitsihar. Now M. Briand and his colleagues must find a way to cancel their ultimatum, with as good grace and as little loss of face as possible. A blow has been dealt at league pretensions which no amount of explaining can soften. The clique of powers composing the council of the league does not dare to apply the boycott or other sanctions which were relied upon to intimidate Japan.

Ambassador Dawes is in consultation with members of the council, setting forth America's position, but carefully avoiding any commitment looking to joint action by the league and the United States. Mr. Dawes has managed to extricate this Government from the consequences of the promise by Secretary Stimson that the United States "will endeavor to reinforce what the league does"—a declaration made before Mr. Stimson knew what the league might do.

The nine-power treaty stands as a bar against encroachment upon the independence or territorial integrity of China. Japan can not permanently occupy the territory she has taken over in Manchuria without running afoul of that treaty. The insistence by Japan upon the sacredness of treaties, in demanding that China comply with treaty obligations, gives point to the determination of the powers concerned to hold Japan to account under the nine-power pact.

China now suggests that it was forced to sign the treaty with Japan, and that the pact should be reviewed by the League of Nations. If the league should enter upon the task of reviewing and revising treaties alleged to be signed under duress, what about the Treaty of Versailles itself, by virtue of which the league exists? The German delegates who signed that treaty declared that Germany was acting under duress. Italy is among the nations that insist upon revision of the Treaty of Versailles.

So the Manchurian dispute is opening up possibilities of mischief in Europe, as well as in Asia.

SELF-CONTAINED AMERICA.

When the committee on employment of President Hoover's relief organization presented its first report last month it made the following statement: "As the most nearly self-contained nation, we have within our boundaries elemental factors for recovery. The overshadowing volume of domestic business in comparison with export trade places us in a position to develop internally a constructive recovery if we grasp the opportunity that is still ours."

Chairman Harry A. Wheeler, banker and former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, now reiterates his belief that the American people have turned their faces to the future, their feet firmly on the foundation of the unshaken strength of their country and with a renewed confidence in its destiny.

The elemental factors for recovery and maintenance of national prosperity Mr. Wheeler notes as follows:

1. The geographical location and territorial expanse of America.
2. Her diversity of products and abundance of supply of virtually all commodities needed by man.
3. Her trained population, their higher standards of living, and freedom from hereditary and traditional labor handicaps.
4. The national mentality of optimism, based upon confidence in individual capacity and ability.
5. Her "owned" wealth, providing adequate domestic funds for development of resources.

Each factor, Mr. Wheeler believes, makes a definite contribution to the national strength. When supported by the "almost incomprehensible aggregate national wealth (even after the deflation processes of the last two years) and by the almost complete independence of our internal trade," he says, they give this country a special status in the family of nations.

When it comes to a consideration of tangible and material reasons why the United States is largely self-contained, Mr. Wheeler counts as one of the most potent the item of "owned" wealth. The World War created an opportunity to wipe out obligations owed abroad and to replace the funds so invested by American capital. For the first time in its history this country possesses adequate means for industrial expansion and development of natural resources without necessity for borrowing abroad.

Mr. Wheeler does not pretend to have discovered any new facts about this country, but his committee's research and investigation have given ample assurance that the United States has the will, the men, the materials and the money with which to build sound, constructive American prosperity, regardless of what the world does.

SIGNOR GRANDI'S MISSION.

Signor Grandi, foreign minister of Italy, is about to leave Washington after a conference with President Hoover, in which the questions that affect world peace and welfare have been discussed. The authentic and complete information which Signor Grandi has been able to impart, and the clear understanding of America's position which he has obtained, can not but promote international good will and encourage the spirit of cooperation.

It is not expected, nor is it desirable, that a special understanding between Italy and the United States should result from Signor Grandi's visit. One of the dangers of personal conferences between leaders of government is the tendency of the public to expect too much. Just now M. Laval is confronted with a demand for more detailed information regarding the outcome of his conversations with President Hoover. The foreign affairs committee of the French Chamber has instructed its vice president to "call upon Premier Laval and tell him that his explanation of his recent visits to Washington, London and Berlin were insufficient." Apparently much more was expected from M. Laval's visit to Washington than was warranted by circumstances. He is now obliged to disillusion his compatriots, and the process holds some dangers for him.

Fortunately Signor Grandi is not in a similar position. He is not required by the Italian people or Parliament to report back a special understanding with the United States. If he can give assurances to Premier Mussolini that Italy and the United States have a clearer mutual understanding of the problems that confront the nations, it is all that will be expected—and this he can do.

The impression made upon Americans by Signor Grandi has been most agreeable. He will leave American shores with the best wishes of many new friends.

A KNELL FOR FREE TRADE.

Before the current week has ended Parliament will have set up a protective policy for British industry. The measure is only an expedient to prevent dumping while Parliament is considering a permanent tariff, but it marks the departure of Great Britain from its traditional free trade policy. From many angles it is intensely interesting to the American people.

The novelty of a tariff that may carry duties as high as 100 per cent ad valorem going into effect within a week must be especially striking to members of Congress who took more than a year to modify a few American duties. Parliament will merely authorize the British Board of Trade to apply emergency imposts wherever they may be necessary to protect industry from unfair foreign competition. The entire program will be carried into effect by administrative rather than legislative action.

Indications are that American trade with Britain will not be seriously affected. The emergency duties will apply only to manufactured and semimanufactured goods. Agricultural products and raw materials, which make up the bulk of British imports from this country, are not included. Furthermore, Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, is a Liberal who does not believe in a high tariff policy for England. The duties he levies will doubtless be moderate and designed chiefly to protect British industry against abnormal imports in anticipation of a general tariff.

This is the second step that Parliament has taken to balance imports and exports. The first was suspension of the gold standard which lowers the cost of production in Great Britain. The coalition government is not yet convinced, however, that a general tariff would hasten the recovery of British industry from the depression. It recognizes that some protection is necessary, but wishes to do a little experimenting before adopting a permanent tariff policy. The emergency measure may be regarded as a trial balloon as well as a safeguard against dumping.

Establishment of even this temporary protective system in Great Britain warms the hearts of those who have stood firmly for an adequate American tariff. England is a trade center for the world, whose prosperity hinges upon international commerce. British factories are largely dependent upon the purchase of raw materials from other countries and the sale of finished products abroad. Yet Parliament has been forced to recognize that Britain can not hold its place in the modern economic world unless more preference is given to enterprise and labor within that country's own borders.

The situation of the United States and Great Britain are not analogous in this respect. America is almost a complete economic unit. Foreign trade is only a small fraction of this country's aggregate commerce. No country in the world is so well adapted to a protective policy as is the United States, the greatest free trade area in the world. When the country that thrives more than any other on international trade moves to protect its home market, and every other nation is struggling to create jobs for its own workingmen, those politicians who assault the American protective policy merely make themselves ridiculous.

BARCELONA'S STRIKE.

The new strike in Catalonia has virtually paralyzed shipping and caused much damage to business and industry. The unusual feature of it is that it has not been called by the Catalonian party, the Syndicalists, but rather was instigated by the conservative Socialist government at Madrid. The Syndicalists, long active under the monarchy, became stronger after the republic was established. The new regime determined to subdue them, however, and thought to wear them out by establishing a rival labor body and giving it official support in such strikes as the present one. This dispute is an aftermath of the large strike two months ago in which a majority of the workers participated.

The former strike resulted in the adoption of an agreement between the Syndicalists and their employers. This agreement is the pretext of the present dissension. The minority labor group is not satisfied with the settlement. Were it not for the official backing of Gov. Aguera de Sojo, the strike would have little weight due to its few adherents. Bitterness toward the governor has consequently increased. He is the direct representative of the Madrid government and so holds supreme authority in the region, with command over the security police, the civil guard and, if necessary, military forces.

It is this relationship between Madrid and Barcelona that the Catalonians wish to change by their autonomy statute, which is still before the Cortes. The resignation of Gov. de Sojo is now demanded on the ground that he was an appointee of the former Minister of the Interior Maura, and should, therefore, have stepped out with the latter. The Madrid Socialists are opposing the demand, in an effort to break down the influence of the Syndicalists.

NATIONAL SAFETY FIRST

From the Atlanta Constitution.

Because of the flare-up of naval discussion in acute form between President Hoover and the Navy League the whole subject of the adequacy of the Navy will occupy a large share of the attention of Congress.

The issue is one of immense importance to the country, although presentable in very simple terms. The pivot of the whole naval problem is its sufficiency and efficiency in case of a war call upon it. We are a vast maritime country, three sides of which are exposed to approach and attack by sea. Our first line of defense is the Navy and upon its power we must rely for our safety first and to bulwark all our other forces of self-protection. Hence the practical and intense interest the people have in the condition of our naval establishment in all its phases.

The question raised is the adequacy, modern equipment and readiness of our Navy to answer fully any call made upon it in the event of war between the United States and any other nation or combination of nations. That issue has been met several times since Jefferson believed that a police navy of "gunboats" would suffice for all our needs, but Jefferson was a passionate pacifist. He believed in and first proposed the international boycott against nations that provoked an aggressive or nondefensive war. He was in very truth the father of the nonintercourse policy now demanded to be applied by the members of the League of Nations.

But what the people of the United States want, in the absence of such an agreed upon and active policy, is full assurance that they have a Navy adequate to defend them in the emergency of a war thrust upon them from any direction and by any combination. That, in fact, is the only issue between the President and the Navy League, as the public sees it.

If the President, with or without the aid of a commission, is able to convince the people that the Navy, under his policy and administration, is adequate to all rational needs they will stand with him to his fullest satisfaction.

If, on the other hand, without an alarmist policy and a campaign of hysteria and ballyhoo for a three-power, a five-power parity construction program, the Navy League can show the people that the President's naval economy program is really perilous to the Nation, the demand upon the Congress for a safety Navy will be imperative and irresistible.

Therefore, the whole matter had better go to the Congress in December without partisan appeal. Its standing committees on naval affairs are ably manned with men of wide and accurate information. They have had to deal with all the mass interests and operations of our Navy, keep strict account of the circumstances of all other navies of the big globe, and to evaluate the power of navies to affect the peace of their own countries and of the world.

Thus far our naval legislation has been conducted with fine skill and understanding. We believe the immediate needs and potencies of the sea establishment can be safely left to the wisdom, skill and patriotism of the people's representatives. The country has far weightier measures to occupy the immediate time and statesmanship at its command than to settle a conflict between the cock-sureness of a society of citizens and the hurt feelings of even a President of the Nation.

After This Long Deficit Drought, It's Expected.

POST HASTE.

Efforts of the League of Nations to throw cold water on the Manchurian affray seem futile when a temperature of 20 degrees below zero doesn't feaze it.

We know now that a consul can get us a seat at the League council, but it takes an ambassador to keep us out.

Anyhow, executive and congressional ingenuity is being taxed to find the way out of the deficit maze.

One experienced observer finds that Sig. Grandi's Saracenic beard "lends an added air of dignity, sincerity and forcefulness to his words." If this report gets about next month Washington barbers will lose a lot of congressional trade.

If Germany expedites that request, the committee of the Bank of International Settlements may be able to report on her ability to pay before the Hitlerites do.

J. P. Morgan says things are looking a good deal better in England, and the Commerce Department gets better reports from eight countries. When are we going to believe it?

A lot of individuals have learned to do without a lot of things during the last two years. Nations can do the same.

Gandhi decides to dig in for the winter and see the round table through. That "fear of change which perplexes monarchs" does not bother the mahatma.

There will be an elimination party for the thirteen Democrats already considered for the presidential nomination, but five candidates going to the polls to beat a lone Republican for Congress in San Antonio looks as though Jack Garner had come away and left Texas to its own devices too soon.

It is encouraging to note that Dino Grandi got enough of the incidental visitor chores done up in two days, so that yesterday he was able to have a brief chat with the President.

Henry Ford says we are going to have prosperity we can keep. And he was our original "spend it" advocate.

The Japanese army is in Tsitsihar. Gen. Mah is not as surprised as Mother League. PAUL HUDSON.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

Two Viewpoints.

The man of comfort shook his head.
"Had but the sinner understood
He might have saved himself," he said.
"It is so easy to be good.

"No need to steal; no need to lie;
No need an outlawed brute to be.
Why do men live with shame, when I
Have kept from it so easily?"

"Easy!" the prisoner replied;
"Think you I like this cell house barred?
Your better ways I've often tried
And failed because I found them hard.

"Some men at ease run faster than
Their slower neighbors in the race,
And never understand the man
Who falls so oft to keep the pace.

"The giant easily lifts high
Great weights before a gathered throng,
And no doubt thinks, if but they'd try
His fellow-men could be as strong."

Why Doubt a Man's Promise to Pay if You Never Have Worked for Him?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

NO matter how stupid and ignorant a man may be, he regards his own beliefs and his own store of knowledge as the measure and proof of sanity.

Anything that lies outside of his experience is untrue, and any belief he does not share is evidence of an unbalanced mind.

A Copernicus describes the earth as a sphere that travels around the sun and is called a madman and a heretic, yet when the passing years have established his theory as a scientific truism those who question it are objects of ridicule and pity.

A Fulton declares that ships can be driven by the power of steam and a scornful world doubts his sanity, but when steam is harnessed to drive the myriad wheels of industry the world accepts it as a commonplace convenience no more remarkable than sunlight.

The sane are those who agree with the majority; a crank is one who believes or knows something that is hidden from the crowd.

Here, then, is a strange indictment of our civilization.

This is nominally a Christian land. The Western civilization is a Christian civilization. In 2,000 years it has made almost miraculous progress while other civilizations based on other religions have made no progress at all, except by virtue of Western example.

Yet this so-called Christian land has wandered so far from Christ that one who believes in His teachings is called a crank. To assert that He spoke the truth is to invite the scorn that ridiculed Copernicus and Fulton.

Do you think that statement an exaggeration? Do you think this generation really believes in Him?

Then why do the millions live in dread, wondering anxiously what they shall eat and how they shall be clothed?

"Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness," said Christ, "and all of these things shall be added unto you."

That is true, or it isn't true. If it isn't true our civilization is founded on falsehood. If it is true, why does fear cause a depression?

This age reverses science. Scientists experiment to find proof. Why, then, do men reject so fair an offer without a trial to test its worth? How can you know it isn't true if you haven't tried it?

PRO AND CON

Backing Away From the League.

New York Herald Tribune.

The State Department, after a direct approach that gained nothing, an alignment with the League that was too easily misconstrued as a binding alliance, and a withdrawal under cover of darkness, as it were, has abandoned impulsive gestures and now reapproaches the League's field of confusion with a studied air of detachment, admirably personified by Ambassador Dawes and his solitary pipe of peace at the Ritz.

When Secretary Stimson exhorted the League in his communication of October 9 "to assert all the pressure and authority within its competence" and promised that he would "endeavor to reinforce what the League does," he certainly did not bind the United States to follow M. Briand and the council into their aggravation of Manchurian issues in support of their rather absurd "moral" ultimatum to Japan. The State Department correctly retained its freedom of action; yet there can be no doubt that the fervor of Mr. Stimson's indorsement of the council's major objective of peace left the best informed circles in this country and abroad under the distinct impression that the United States was associated with the council in its efforts to force Japan's compliance with the abortive resolution of October 24.

Passive Gov. Roosevelt.

Houston Post-Dispatch.

Though in the opinion of many observers of things political, sentiment for Gov. Roosevelt as Democratic nominee in 1932 is becoming more widespread, the governor sticks to his determination to give all his time to the task of governing the State of New York. If he is to be counted as a candidate at all, it is as a passive candidate. For thus far he has refused utterly to have any part in promoting the organization of Roosevelt sentiment anywhere.

Within the last week some of the Western Democratic leaders favorable to the Roosevelt nomination have sought to induce him to lend a hand in setting up Roosevelt organizations in their States. Their contention has been that with Roosevelt organizations functioning in the Western States, movements to "stop Roosevelt" sponsored by various groups could be rendered ineffective. But the governor has turned a deaf ear to these pleaders also.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

"Rather Pessimistic" Democrat Puts Blame on Voters for Rotten Politics—No Difference Between Republican and Democratic Methods.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A letter criticizing the corruption of Tammany by A. E. Ely in Tuesday's Post amuses me. I presume Mr. Ely is a Republican, but rather ignorant of the ways of politics.

I am a Democrat, not a Tammany one, though, and have seen enough about the inner workings of political organizations to view them rather dispassionately, and feel that Mr. Ely is unduly alarmed about the activities of Tammany. If I had the time I could take him to the well-known City of Brotherly Love, Philadelphia, and educate him to the truth that the Republican organization handles the elections and politics of that great city not a whit different from the way Tammany handles New York. Even the peanut vender on the streets of Philadelphia is actively affiliated with the Republican machine—or he would not be a peanut vender. Licensed crime is just as much a factor in rolling up huge majorities for the G. O. P. organization in Philadelphia as it is for the Democrats in New York.

The United States is normally a Republican country. Big business makes it that way. New York is the country's foremost city, the nerve center of the whole country, the place where more news originates than any other ten places combined throughout the United States. Because it is Democratic, because it is so open-faced cosmopolitan, it sticks out in the press as a sore thumb to the ordinary Republican country. Publicity continually tells the world of its every activity. And how rural America hates the activities of New York—the contempt of the hick for the city!

The person Mr. Ely should be concerning himself with is the American voter, because, after all, it is the latter, by his absence from the polls, his susceptibility to bribery, his nonchalance regarding political candidates and elections, who furnishes the real reason why politics is as it is. Experience has shown me that the American voter, as a class, is absolutely unappreciative, in the long run, to those that desire to uplift the standards of American politics, and is more concerned with what an election is going to give him personally than he is with the problem of what the election of certain candidates means to the welfare of the community, State or country in which he lives. Sounds rather pessimistic, I will admit, but it is based on 25 or 30 years of actual experience in American politics.

Plan Suggested by the Gentlewoman's Magazine for Relieving the Depression Strongly Commended by Maryland Woman.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In my copy of the Gentlewoman's Magazine for November there is a wonderful article called "Help! Help! Start the Ball Rolling. The Women of America can Do More to Help Defeat the Ravages of the Present Depression Than Congress Can." It is certainly a timely suggestion, and I trust all American women will aid our country now as they did in time of war. We then did all we could to save; now let us do all we can to help use up the surplus. We should help the farmers who feed us year in and year out. What would we do without their wheat, corn and cotton? We'd starve, as millions are starving in China today.

This magazine suggests that we set aside two days each month in which to use wheat product; that is, substitute wheat products for other items of food as far as possible. Wheat products are whole wheat, bran, shredded wheat, toasted wheat flakes, wheat crackles and all the cereals. The corn products include corn meal, corn flakes, canned corn and corn syrup. Then they ask that we American women set aside two days each month in which to buy cotton material that we may need in our homes. I am sure we always need something in the way of cotton for our homes and the two days per month in which to buy cotton at 50 cents each day is not asking much. They ask that we spend 50 cents each of the other days each month for corn and wheat products.

It is this concentrated buying all over the country, two days each month, that will help. The plan the Gentlewoman's Magazine has of spending 50 cents a day for two days a month would be an immediate attack on the huge surplus of wheat and corn, amounting to $25,000,000 a month for each product. You know there are 25,000,000 homes in the United States. Just see what that would mean to the farmers.

I just wish every woman and home maker could read the article and then act.

Battle Royal Between Railroads and Waterways Predicted in Coming Session.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Unless all indications are at fault, the coming session of Congress will see a battle royal over the transportation question. After more than two years of intensive propaganda, the Association of Railway Executives is now ready to introduce bills covering the legislation desired by the railway interests and press for their passage. The changes which this legislation will produce, if enacted, are nothing short of revolutionary. No community in the United States is too large or too small to escape its influence.

Our twenty-seventh convention will meet in Washington on the 8th and 9th of December. It is important and urgent that the friends of waterways shall be present in large numbers.

Designers Claim Weight Can Be Kept Down to 475 Pounds Empty.

Chicago, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—A group of Chicago engineers have developed a "radically different" airplane weighing only 475 pounds empty, which they think will eventually sell for $1,000.

Maj. R. W. Schroeder, plane expert and airport manager, said the new ship would bring aviation within the reach of the average man.

The plane was not a motored glider, Schroeder said, but was built to stand strains usually requiring a much heavier ship. Its secret lay in the motor, developed by William R. Beckman, H. McKay Steele and Wilson Herren. The plane itself was designed by Claire Linsted.

The motor is four-cylinder, radial, air-cooled, valveless, two-cycle, and burns ordinary gasoline. The plane is a two-place tandem open airplane, with 24-foot wing spread and is 19 feet 6 inches long.

San Francisco Chest Drive Successful.

Blackmailers Avoid Trap Set by Police

Threats to Slay 4-Year-Old Girl Sends Mother to Detectives for Aid.

Miami, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Blackmailers who threatened to kill Patsy Roberts, 4, unless her parents gave them $1,000, evaded a trap set for them last night.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Roberts notified police yesterday they had received a note, which read:

"Unless you deliver $100 at midnight at Ninety-ninth street and Biscayne Boulevard, I will kill your daughter Patsy. P. G."

An anonymous speaker later called Mrs. Roberts over the phone, increased the amount to $1,000, she said, and demanded that she deliver the money herself.

With two city detectives concealed in the rear of her automobile, Mrs. Roberts drove to the appointed place at midnight. She waited for half an hour, but no one approached her. The detectives said they believed the blackmailer had been frightened by the thought of arrest.

The blackmail note was scribbled on a small card and was attached to the mail box at the Roberts home.

Republican League To Entertain Mrs. Gann.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann will arrive in Washington this morning from the West Coast, having hastened her trip East especially to attend the luncheon to be given today by the League of Republican Women at the Kennedy-Warren. She will be the guest of honor and speaker at the fete at which Mrs. Frank Mondell, president of the organization, will preside. Officers of the league will be seated at her table and reservations for 300 guests have been made.

Mrs. Gann had planned to stop over in Columbus to be the guest of the League of Republican Women there, en route to Washington, but plans for the fete having already been made here, she will spend the day in Washington and will leave tonight for Columbus to be the guest of Mrs. Thaddeus Brown, who is prominent in the organization there. She will be the guest of honor and speaker at a large luncheon to be given in Columbus tomorrow by the league.

Miss Boynton to Honor Debutante With Tea.

Miss Betty Boynton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boynton, formerly of Boston, will entertain at a tea dance in honor of Miss Elsie Tuckerman, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman, today at the National Woman's Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Boynton are residing this year at 1818 Twenty-fourth street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Eugene Elliott entertained at tea yesterday afternoon to present their daughter, Miss Lucille Elliott, to society. The party was given at the residence of Mrs. Moncure Burke Berg, sister of Miss Elliott, in Belmont road.

Mrs. Elliott was assisted by Mrs. James Newton, Mrs. Eugene Woodson, Mrs. Hoggatt Clopton, Mrs. Leland D. Webb, Mrs. Moncure Burke, Mrs. Herbert Davis Vogel and Mrs. Berg. Miss Elliott was assisted by Miss Marian Denmark, Miss Jean Woodson, Miss Isabel Perry, Miss Sidney Thompson, Miss Charlotte Mayo, Miss Louise Turner and Miss Frances Mathews.

Last evening Mr. and Mrs. Elliott gave a buffet supper for their daughter and her assistants.

Lieut. and Mrs. Charles P. Summerall, jr., entertained at a supper party last evening in their quarters at Fort Myer in honor of Miss Betty Hase, daughter of Col. and Mrs. William F. Hase.

Maj. Gen. Harry G. Bishop, chief of Field Artillery, and Mrs. Bishop will entertain at tea on Sunday from 4 until 7 o'clock in honor of the officers of the Field Artillery and their wives.

Col. and Mrs. Henry M. Morrow will have as their guests for Thanksgiving the latter's son and nephew, Mr. Clarence Condon, who will come from Yale, and Mr. John Haire, from the University of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Laura B. Kendall, of Oklahoma City, who will spend the winter in Washington, has left for the conference of the Eastern division of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Mitford sailed on Tuesday for England. Mrs. Mitford, before her marriage, was Mrs. Henry Lane Eno, of Princeton, N. J., and Bar Harbor.

Miss Donovan Wed To George A. Walker.

Holy Trinity Church in Georgetown was the scene of one of the prettiest of the fall weddings yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, when Miss Dorothy Ellen Donovan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Donovan, became the bride of Mr. George Alvin Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Walker. The ceremony was followed by a nuptial mass, the Rev. Hugh A. Dalton, of St. Michael's Church, Buffalo, officiating.

The church was decorated with palms, ferns, autumn leaves and chrysanthemums. A violin solo, "Meditation from Thais," by Massenet, was given by Mr. Kenneth Nettles, while Miss Mary Frances Glenn sang "O Salutaris," "O Lord I Am Not Worthy," and Schubert's "Ave Maria."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white transparent velvet, made on straight lines, with a full skirt and a cowl neck of white chiffon beaded in seed pearls. Her veil of tulle was fashioned with a cap of rare lace and caught with sprays of orange blossoms. She wore long white gloves and carried a sheath of calla lilies.

The maid of honor, Miss Mary Katherine Donovan, sister of the bride, wore a frock of peach chiffon and an Empress Eugenie hat of velvet to match. She carried lavender chrysanthemums. The bride's other attendants were Miss Margaret Elizabeth Popkins and Miss Francys Goodchild, who wore frocks of apple green chiffon with velvet toques to match, and Miss Ruth E. Nichols and Miss Margaret Imogene du Fief in orchid chiffon dresses with velvet toques to match. They carried arm bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

The best man was Mr. B. Dorsey Boyle, of Emmittsburg, Md., and the ushers were Mr. William J. Rowen, Mr. William Sommerville Marceron, Mr. John J. Donovan and Mr. Leo I. Donovan.

A reception followed the ceremony, when the couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Donovan and Mr. and Mrs. Walker. Mrs. Donovan wore a gown of dark brown lace with corresponding accessories, and a corsage bouquet of Talisman roses. Mrs. Walker wore a gown of dark blue and a corsage bouquet of pink sweetheart roses.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Boyle of Ruxton, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Boyle, of Emmitsburg, Md., Mr. and Mrs. James V. Brooks, of Baltimore, Hon. and Mrs. Paul E. Brown of Fairfax, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Putnam, of Richmond, Va.

After the reception, Mr. Walker and his bride left for their wedding trip to New York. For her traveling costume, Mrs. Walker chose a Spanish tile tailored crepe and wore a black coat with matching accessories. After December 1, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be at home at 1609 Thirty-first street northwest.

The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Andrew W. Mellon, entertained at luncheon yesterday in honor of the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Italy and Signora Grandi. The other guests were the Italian Ambassador and Donna Antonietta de Martino, the Secretary of War and Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, Senator and Mrs. David Aiken Reed, the Undersecretary of State and Mrs. William R. Castle, jr., the American Ambassador to Italy and Mrs. John W. Garrett, the retiring chairman of the Tariff Commission and Mrs. Henry P. Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. David E. Finley, Mrs. McCook Knox, Miss Mabel Boardman, Signor Augusto Rosso and Signor Leonardo Vitetti, aid to Minister Grandi.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley will go to New York today to spend the week-end. They will return to Washington Sunday night.

The Ambassador of France, M. Paul Claudel was the ranking guest at the luncheon given yesterday by the Minister of Czechoslovakia and Mme. Veverka. Among the other guests were the Danish Minister and Mme. Wadsted, the Egyptian Minister, Sesostris Sidarous Pasha; Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American Union; Col. and Mrs. Robert C. Foy, Dr. Hrdlicka, curator of the Smithsonian Institute, and Mrs. Charles L. McNary.

Baroness Gevers Luncheon Guest.

The Ambassador of Germany, Herr Friedrich von Prittwitz und Gaffron, entertained at luncheon yesterday in honor of Baroness Gevers, widow of the former Minister of the Netherlands at Berlin, who has been the guest of the Minister of the Netherlands and Mme. van Royen.

Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron has canceled her social engagements for several weeks because of illness.

The British Ambassador and Lady Lindsay entertained at dinner last evening at the Embassy. Their guests were the Cuban Ambassador and Senora de Ferrara, the Polish Ambassador, Mr. Tytus Filipowicz; the Minister of Greece and Mme. DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

DR. J. R. BRINKLEY, Kansas goat gland specialist, is still in the goat business. This comes about through his being able to get the goat of the Federal Radio Commission by securing the Mexican government's approval of his 75,000-watt station which he erected just across the border in Mexico.

The commission threw Brinkley off the air in Kansas because of his objectionable medical talks and thought that was the last of him. Finding himself in this predicament, the Kansas goat specialist got the bright idea of erecting a radio station at Villa Acuna, just across the Mexican border from Del Rio, Texas. One report has it that the new transmitting plant in Mexico represents an investment of $350,000.

Every one seemed to think that the Mexican government would put its foot down on the project, but instead, apparently it has given the enterprise its blessing.

The Brinkley station, whose call letters are XER, has been coming into Washington very strong of late, and is plainly heard in many other parts of the country. This also gets the commission's goat.

Station XER operates on 730 kilocycles, which is a Canadian exclusive channel. Theoretically it should not interfere with any American station, but in practice it frequently spills over. On one side of XER are Stations WLW, Cincinnati, 700 kilocycles; WOR, Newark, 710, and WGN, Chicago, 720. On the other side are WSB, Atlanta, 740 kilocycles; WJR, Detroit, 750, and WGY, Schenectady, 790.

If a listener, therefore, tunes in on the dial between WGN and WSB he is almost certain to pick up XER, the station which, as said in the beginning, is not only a thorn in the side of the Federal Radio Commission, but whose unwelcome presence outside the border has raised a brand-new point in international broadcasting.

FOLLOWING the visit of H. G. Wells it was thought that Washington had another literary visitor in Arthur Stringer, the novelist. Instead it proved to be Arthur Stringer, well-known Chicago radio press representative.

Emile Simon, Dutch cellist, now a member of the National Symphony Orchestra, will be the guest artist tonight at 10:30 o'clock in a program broadcast by Station WMAL under the auspices of the Community Chest. Mr. Simon, who will be accompanied by the Hungarian pianist, Miksa Merson, is known in European music circles as the winner of the Royal Brussels Academy medal.

The Community Chest programs are under the direction of C. C. Cappel, manager of the Army Band. Among other artists who will appear in future broadcasts are Miss Helen Howison, soprano; LaSalle Spier, pianist; Miss Helen Ware, violinist; John Marville, barytone; Miss Katherine Riggs, harpist; Miss Felicia Rybler, pianist; Mrs. Ruby Porter, soprano; Miss Mabel H. Duncan, cellist; Miss Hazel Arth, soprano, and Miss Dorothy Halbach, contralto.

DINO GRANDI, Foreign Minister of Italy, will address the American Nation over WRC and an NBC network tonight, 6:30 o'clock. The address also will be broadcast to the world by short-wave radio stations.

Senor Grandi will speak in both Italian and English. For the first two minutes of his address he will speak in his native tongue for the benefit of Italians living in this country. Then he will deliver the main portion of his talk in English. William Hard, newspaper correspondent, will introduce Minister Grandi. The program will originate in the studios of Station WRC.

A new waltz ballad, "Mildred," from the pen of Dr. Seba Christie, Washingtonian, will be introduced for the first time over the air by Ann Arin's Orchestra (WOL), 7 o'clock Ann Arlin's Orchestra (WOL), 7 o'clock graduate of the Washington College of Music, is well known in local circles, having done much church solo work. He is a member of the male quartet, under direction of George Ross.

The Curtis Institute of Music Orchestra, 110 pieces, will be conducted by Fritz Reiner, of the Philadelphia Grand Opera, tomorrow afternoon (WRC, 4:45 o'clock).

The first weekly installment of "The Study in Scarlet," which will be presented in four parts in the Adventures of Sherlock Holmes series, will be heard over WRC at 9:30 o'clock tonight.

THE waltz is on its way back to popularity, says Vincent Lopez * * * John White, N.B.C.'s Lonesome Cowboy, was born in Washington, D. C., and wears spats instead of spurs. His songs are genuine, nevertheless, because he learned them from real cowboys on an Arizona ranch * * * Wayne King, dance band leader, is a certified public accountant * * * Sophie Tucker will be guest artist with Rudy Vallee tonight * * * Billy Ross, tenor, will sing "Goodnight, Sweetheart" in the Washington Gas Light Hour tonight, WRC, 6:15 o'clock * * * The fallacy, "There Is No Place for Small Business Today," will be discussed by Merle Thorpe, WRC, 7:45 o'clock tonight * * * A method whereby the radio public may combine in the selection of an all-American football team will be outlined tomorrow night, WMAL, 10 o'clock * * * Celebration of the ninth anniversary of Capitol Theater programs will be heard tomorrow night.

The Club Prudhomme Orchestra, under the direction of Elmer Calloway, will be heard over Station WOL under a contract recently signed. The orchestra will present a program every Monday and Thursday nights at 7:30 o'clock.

PEOPLE simply must have something to blame for their weather and they continue to pick on radio. Although broadcasting has nothing to do with excessive rain or drought so far as engineers and meteorologists have been able to determine, letters of complaint still reach newspapers and radio stations.

C. W. Horn, general engineer of the National Broadcasting Co., says the most exhaustive research has failed to show that radio can be accused justly of influencing weather conditions. The shoe is on the other foot, for radio is a sufferer from the weather.

Drought-stricken areas of the country have been checked as to broadcasting activity, which was found to be the same as in other sections suffering from floods at the same time. But despite the most conclusive tests, radio still remains in many minds guilty of doing things to the weather.

THE dead letter auction this afternoon will be brodcast by the Columbia Broadcasting Co. over a nation-wide network. The proceedings will be heard locally over WMAL at 12:15 p. m.

Art Interprets the Mode

New York, Nov. 18.

WELL, the time has come, the walrus said—and I say Christmas is coming fast! 'N' we have had a Christmas box for several years past that, to judge from your response, is the better for being repeated every year.

You know what a Christmas box is? It's just that—a great big box, my deahs, placed somewhere out of sight in your room, into which you place gifts for your family and friends, fancy Christmas wrapping papers, seals, ribbons, &c. 'N' the point is that you begin to buy all these things now one by one, instead of waiting until a week before Christmas, when prices are higher and crowds denser and weather more disagreeable.

Today I'll start you off with a whole lot of suggestions, and then, every day or so, give you other suggestions in my column. Among them you'll find something for everybody, even those difficult and particular creatures, husbands, fathers, employers and boy friends!

But right this minute I have some fascinating feminine suggestions that I'll give you first: Little separate boleros of lace, either Irish or Venetian, are being used to wear with dressy afternoon suits.

The latest novelty in sports bracelets for very young ladies who are fond of sports is a slender leather dog collar with a gold buckle and a golden bell. To dress up any pair of evening slippers, and to "ensemble" them, we have found an adorable set consisting of mother-of-pearl slipper heels and a tiny, carved mother-of-pearl fan. Another shoe ornament and fan set was of peacock feathers.

* * * *

I would like to know how you feel if you were al-l-l-l-l packed, packed for a 28-day boat trip, and it was the la-s-s-s-s-st night at the place you were just leaving, and you had written half a day's work—and couldn't find it. So if you have read something like I am going to write now before, just overlook it, won't you? Because it isn't so bad, anyhow it's about my own birthday dress.

Yes, the sketch I have made for you today is none other than my birthday dress, that I am going to wear to my birthday party which is, well, of all things—tonight! And knowing that you would like to see it, there it is—black velvet, with real gardenias draped around one upper arm and over the back of the neck, ending in a pink moire bow which shoves through a strass belt—yes, pink moire shoes and strass ball buttons! And white gloves, and a tiny white fan studded with strass! And the pink is rather vivid, and Dah-ray is a brunette, and you can draw your own conclusions.

* * * *

Well, I wish every one would dress up their houses now that you have heard about my birthday dress Because this week's leaflet tells you how to do that, and in a novel way, too—things for table tops, things for sofa pillows, drapes, whatnots for the house. And all easy to makes, all inexpensive, all interesting. Better send that stamped, self-addressed envelope for the illustrated leaflet telling you how to make them—for your own house, and because Christmas is coming, too.

Au revoir!

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By ELY CULBERTSON

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

SQUEEZING THE DOUBLER.

PENALTY Doubles add much to the charm of Contract, but the expectation of the defeat of the contract should be at least 2 tricks to justify the risks taken by the player making a Penalty Double. The odds in favor of the Declarer are too great to justify the Double on a bare 1 trick margin, which may melt into nothingness against the perils of accurate play by the Declarer and faulty defense. If West, in the hand today, had fully understood this fact he perhaps might not have doubled the contract, although, in any event, South had an opportunity for brilliant play to make his contract, which was, however, made somewhat easier through West's illuminating Double.

Both sides vulnerable.

The Bidding:

South	West	North	East
1◇	Dbl.	3◇	Pass
5◇	Dbl.(1)	Pass	Pass
Pass

1—While West's hand is very strong, it lacks one requisite of a sound Double of a suit bid, i. e., a trick in the trump suit; otherwise the Penalty Double could not be criticized.

West opened the King of hearts and continued to lead the suit until South ruffed the third round. South was confronted with the problem of taking all the remaining tricks to complete his contract. The manner in which he proceeded to do so is extremely interesting, illustrating, as it does, the manner in which mass attack nullifies what appears to be impregnable defense.

After winning the third trick, South proceeded to lead five rounds of trumps. East, of course, was an entirely negligible factor throughout the sanguinary conflict. West followed twice, but was then forced to seek three discards. South retained the 8 of hearts in the Dummy and thus made West's choice of discards an impossible task. He first discarded two spades and then, hoping that East might hold the 9 spot, he threw the 10 of clubs.

South laid down the Ace and King of clubs, upon which West's remaining club honors dropped, and on the third round of clubs, South having played the 9 spot on the King, West was again squeezed. To discard the 9 of hearts established the 8 in the Dummy; to throw a spade would give South both the spade tricks, provided he held, as seemed apparent, the Ace and Queen originally.

West was hopelessly squeezed, but discarded the spade, hoping that his partner might, through some miracle, show up with the Queen. This was not to be, however. Through a triple squeeze, South had completed his contract.

TODAY'S POINTER.

Question: What is a biddable suit?

Answer: One that will develop about 3 trump tricks possibly more, but never less. Also a suit containing at least ½ honor-trick at the top.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a 2-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me how to care for begonias when bringing them into the house. They have been in pots all summer and are huge plants and full of blooms.

MRS. J. H.

Bring them into the house as they are, place them preferably in an eastern window; if not an eastern one, a southern one. Water them whenever you notice the surface soil in the pots has become dry. The warm, dry air of the house may cause the leaves to drop, in which case the plants will have to be cut back. As long as they continue to grow I should not cut them back.

When is the proper time to transplant a snowball bush, or other shrubbery?

MRS. F. B.

Shrubbery may be transplanted in the fall or spring. Personally, I prefer fall planting, because when planted in the fall the bushes are established and ready to spring into growth when the first warm day of spring arrives.

Please tell me why my dahlias grow large leaves and develop no flowers. They produced only a few very poor flowers, though they had enormous stems. Would close planting be responsible for such a condition?

ROLLO.

The dahlia likes an open, sunny location and plenty of fresh air. There is nothing to be gained by early planting because they are a fall flower. Every dahlia should have from 2½ to 3 feet of space and at least 4 feet between the rows. There should be ample room to work about the plants at all times. The main secret of growing dahlias well is to keep them growing. You did not state whether your dahlias were grown from roots or from plants. Plants produce, as a rule, less leaf growth and more flowers, and as their main shoots are thinner than those grown from roots, the pruning process is easier and better results are produced. Sometimes an overabundance of fertilizer may be responsible for lush growth and few flowers. Close planting may also be responsible for absence of blooms. Better send for the circular we have prepared for readers on the dahlia. Be sure to inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Please tell me when to bring a poinsettia into the house.

MRS. ARTHUR M.

Bring the plant into the house any time before cold weather. It will not stand the lightest frost.

Inclosed please find a leaf of a plant I think is a sultana. The plant has grown very well all summer, but now the leaves are beginning to drop off. Three of my neighbors are experiencing the same trouble with similar plants.

L. M. H.

Your plant is a begonia. The warm, dry air of the house is hard on this plant. Better cut it back to the root.

Please tell me how often to water a Japanese garden which is planted entirely with desert plants. I keep the dish in the sun which I suppose is right.

ANNIE H. L.

Keep your garden in the sun and water it only once a week.

What Today Means to You

"SCORPIO."

IF November 19 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:40 a. m. to noon, from 4:30 p. m. to 5:50 p. m. and from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 9:35 a. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8:45 p. m.

Astrological tendencies for November 19: Pleasant influences will pervade the day. The middleaged and the elderly will be particularly blessed, and youth will be forced to take a back seat. Pleasant events within the domestic sphere and social engagements of importance.

The child born on this November 19 will possess fairly all-round abilities, but no decided talent is indicated. Steadiness and common sense are its foremost virtues, and it will be able to accomplish much in its quiet way. Diffidence and shyness will be two handicaps, especially in the social world.

Born on November 19, your abundant nervous energy is a force which never allows you sufficient relaxation for your own physical and mental good. You are a very busy person, but your accomplishments are not outstanding. You do things in too much of a hurry to gain perfection, and your lack of method and system is a time destroyer. You do not know how to keep caught up with your work, and this keeps you in a worrying and fretful mood. During your recesses from serious activities—which are all too seldom—you display traits which are not daily exhibited. Your tongue loses its caustic tone and your sense of humor is given a chance to come to the fore.

Your memory could be improved with training, and it would pay you to make the effort. You do not forget faces, but you can not rely upon the accurate retention of facts. It is hard for you to keep your mind focused, and you try to juggle with several ideas at a time. For this reason you are unable to procure clear conceptions of things.

You never try to shirk the demands of duty, nor to sidestep your obligations. You are quick to acknowledge your own faults; in fact, you are too self-condemning. Your heart is more forgiving than your words would often indicate. Your quick temper is due to frayed nerves, not to an evil disposition. You must learn to take life and situations less seriously.

Successful people born November 19:

William A. Sunday, evangelist.

Right Hon. Walter Runciman, English statesman.

King Charles I.

Lyman Whitney Allen, clergyman and author.

George Eames Barstow, business man.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

TOOTH STRUCTURE.

THE experimental laboratories continue their combat over the question as to what is the principle in foods which prevents the teeth from decaying. Or, to state it differently, when teeth are of poor quality and decay readily, what is wrong with the diet?

Dr. C. E. Bloch makes a contribution to the subject out of Danish experiences. In Denmark there is considerable of an eye trouble called xerophtalmia. Dr. Bloch says this eye disease is the chief cause of acquired blindness in his country. It is an ulceration of the cornea which develops in people, and especially in children, who have lived too long on a diet that is poor in vitamin A. One of the easiest nutrition experiments to do with rats is to feed them on a diet deficient in vitamin A until they develop these ulcers of the eyes, and then to change the diet and cure them.

The foods that are rich in vitamin A are wheat oil, corn oil, and other vegetable oils, including olive oil; carrots, and many rich vegetables and cereals.

Dr. Bloch studied the teeth of a large number of Danish children who had suffered or were suffering from xerophthalmia. He came to the conclusion that deficiency of the diet in vitamin A had nothing to do with tooth decay. As to vitamin B, he was of the same opinion. Likewise as to vitamin C. He did not investigate the effects of vitamin C deficiency on the gums, but limited his studies to the structure of the teeth themselves. He thought some investigators had been misled because the teeth of certain lower animals do not behave just as do those of human beings.

He supported the views of Mellanby that to have good teeth a person must eat a diet that contains enough minerals and that the necessary vitamin was D. This is the vitamin that is found in cod liver oil and in some other fish fats, and in viosterol and radiated foods. It is the vitamin that is produced by exposure to sunlight of good quality.

The time when children especially need this vitamin and the necessary minerals in the diet, as well as sunshine, is when the teeth are in process of formation below the borders of the gums. It is true, he says, that children with rickets and tetany are not especially prone to tooth decay, but that does not prove that vitamin D is not essential to good tooth structure.

TRAINING BEST REMEDY.

M. F. S. writes: What can be done with a boy almost 12 years old who is a chronic bed wetter? Is it the result of disease or is it merely a matter of discipline?

REPLY.

Training is the best remedy.

Buy a pamphlet on the subject from the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene.

A few cases need medical treatment. I have written on the subject from time to time.

SEND A STAMPED ENVELOPE.

ART EMBROIDERY, SEVENTH FLOOR

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

GENERAL MA.

I.

THROUGH the fields a Chinese army
Grimly rolls along to war,
Seemingly it's fierce and savage
And bloodthirsty to the core;
Hard-boiled soldiers most impulsive
They appear to be, but bah!—
Ev'ry move they make is governed
By the orders from their Ma!

II.

Tramp-tramp-tramp they move to battle,
In their eyes a bitter threat;
And you picture them with horror
Driving home the bayonet;
"Reckless, bold, intrepid fighters,"
They are called, but it is blah—
For they never load a pistol
Till they're ordered to by Ma!

III.

On the army plods intently,
With a dust cloud in its wake,
Eager for the scent of battle,
And to die for China's sake;
Fighters desperate and daring—
So they seem—on war intent.
Bosh! They never lift a finger
Without getting Ma's consent!

IV.

HARDY warriors and bitter,
They know how to kill and maul!
And they glory most in scrapping
When their backs are to the wall;
But they never shoot a foeman
Without first exclaiming, "Ah,
If I slay this guy, I wonder
Will it be all right with Ma?"

V.

When the shells explode about them
And the foemen make attack,
They are savage in their fury
But they can not fight them back;
For it's known throughout the army,
Known to every fighting man,
That they mustn't do a thing till
Ma has told them that they can!

VI.

Discipline is all important,
As most any fighter knows,
And a soldier must take orders
As through each campaign he goes,
Which is why this Chinese army
Is a model one, tra-la!
For it never starts the shelling
Till it runs and asks its Ma.

VII.

Thus at night time in the trenches
With the big engagement near
There's a silence weirdly broken
By a cry that all can hear;
When the roar of battle opens,
And the guns go cha-cha-cha—
All the whole darned Chinese army
Calls appealing, "Oh, Ma!"

WHY DRAMATIC REVIEW READERS GO MAD.

"It was hard to tell just what Mr. Sherwood was driving at. Both players lavished their skill and did all that anybody could to carry what seemed to this spectator a turgid and ill-made play. As a whole, the play did not represent the Theater Guild at its best."—Arthur Ruhl, in the New York Herald Tribune.

"This 'Reunion in Vienna' is by miles and aeons the surest, rightest most suave, most picturesquely gay piece Mr. Sherwood has accomplished. It is a simply beautiful job."—Gilbert Gabriel, in the New York American.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

YOUTHFUL TYPE.

You'll like this model immensely.

It is easy to make, easy to wear and so attractive for conservative day wear.

Style No. 843 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39-inch material with ⅝ yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Patterned and plain wool crepe are also lovely for its development.

OFFUTT ADDRESSES CLUB IN ARLINGTON

Speaking at the luncheon meeting of the Arlington County Kiwanis Club held yesterday at the Little Tea House, Mount Vernon avenue, George W. Offutt, president of the Washington Board of Trade, declared that with the opening of the new Lincoln Memorial Bridge development of this section of Virginia will see phenomenal progress.

"The Washington Board of Trade is now advertising the City of Washington and with the coming of the new year, hundreds of persons are coming here to locate and many will come to the hills of northern Virginia," he said.

"The destinies of both the District of Columbia and Arlington County are tied together and especially is this true with the three bridges which will connect the two, I might say, cities.

"Arlington County today is either Little Washington or Washington is greater Virginia," he concluded.

The meeting was held for the purpose of bringing closer together the official family of the District of Columbia and the members of the new county board-elect and other officials of Arlington County.

Crounse stated that a most friendly relation now existed among the officials of the two jurisdictions, but the club wanted to become even more closer related, should it be possible.

The meeting opened with the invocation given by the Rev. F. H. Healy, assistant pastor of St. Charles Catholic Church at Clarendon.

Among the guests were: Representative Howard W. Smith, of the Eighth Congressional District of Virginia; Dr. Luther Reichelderfer, president Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia; Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, member District Commissioners; Maj. Donald A. Davison, Assistant Engineer Commissioner of the District of Columbia; Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, District of Columbia; Fred East, member of Washington Kiwanis Club; Bill Raymond, member of Washington Kiwanis Club, and Edwin F. Hill, vice president of the Washington Kiwanis Club.

Also Lawrence W. Douglass, Commonwealth's attorney-elect, Arlington County; John W. Rust, State senator-elect; Harry K. Green, commissioner of revenue; Hugh Reid, delegate to General Assembly of Virginia; Sheriff Howard B. Fields and members-elect of the new county board, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Magruder, Fred A. Gosnell, Harry A. Fellows, John C. Gall and Lyman M. Kelley.

Entertainment was furnished by Fred East and Bill Raymond, who sang a number of songs.

Driver Sent to Jail Upon Six Charges

Fordyce L. Thwing Convicted in Hyattsville Police Court.

Fordyce L. Thwing, of 1167 Third street northeast, was convicted of driving while drunk, reckless driving, joy riding, operating a car without tags, driving on a revoked license and having no registration card when tried in Hyattsville Police Court yesterday.

His fines amounted to $237, but he was committed to jail in default of this sum. According to State Policeman J. T. Knight, Thwing took an automobile from the used car lot of a Washington motor company and got as far as Colmar Manor with it.

Malcolm McGhee, of 1406 Chapin street northwest, was fined $200 for possession of liquor and $10 for no license. Earle E. Miller, convicted of keeping a disorderly house in Hyattsville, was fined $50. Joseph Hess, of Beltsville, accused of possession of liquor, was dismissed when policemen said they found the contraband in a shed, and not in the house described in the warrant.

Bicentennial Aid Plans Formed in Falls Church

Plans for participation in the George Washington bicentennial celebration were discussed last night by the Arlington-Fairfax Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association in Falls Church, Va.

A committee, composed of Walter U. Varney, J. R. Malloch and Oscar Doyle, was appointed to complete arrangements.

George F. Allwine, of the Jefferson District Fire Department, was nominated to serve his second term as president of the association.

Arlington Seeks Share In Federal Relief Fund

Louis C. Carl, president of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, announced last night that efforts are being made directly with the United States Civil Service Commission to have part of the funds raised by volunteer contributions of one day's pay from Government employes disbursed through Arlington welfare societies.

Under the Arlington request contributions from Government employes living in Virginia would be handled for relief in that area.

Christopher Sworn In As Clerk of Courts

James C. Christopher 3d, of Chevy Chase, Md., yesterday appeared before Clerk of the Circuit Court Clayton K. Watkins at Rockville and was sworn in as deputy clerk to the county commissioners for the Western Suburban District of Montgomery County, Md. He succeeds his father, the late James C. Christopher 2d, who died Friday.

Following his qualification, Christopher assumed his duties at the Bethesda County Building.

WINS CONTEST

MISS ALICE ANTOINETTE DARBY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Darby, of Boyds, Md., who has been named "Miss Montgomery County" to represent the Montgomery County Farm Bureau at the State Farm Bureau contest next January in Baltimore, where she will compete for the title of "Miss Maryland Farm Bureau."

CHARITIES PLANNING DRIVE IN ALEXANDRIA

Committee to Ask Citizens to Donate Funds for Needy This Winter.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The finance committee of the Alexandria United Charities is planning a drive for funds, the money to be used in alleviating distress of the poor and unemployed during the winter.

It has been decided by the committee, of which Elliott F. Hoffman is chairman, to circularize the citizens of Alexandria, asking them to contribute as liberally as possible, and a subcommittee has been appointed to see if arrangements cannot be made with officials in charge of the Federal workers' fund in Washington to permit Alexandrians who so desire to allocate one day's pay of the three which they are supposed to contribute, to the Alexandria United Charities. This committee is composed of Mayor Edmund F. Ticer, L. H. Dudley, and Ben S. Hollenga.

Alexandria Lodge of Elks, through Park A. Kersey, has offered net proceeds of the benefit show to be put on by that lodge November 25, to the United Charities and the Alexandria Children's Home and Day Nursery. One-third is to go to the United Charities for its general work, one-third to a fund for supplying meals to transients in search of work, and the balance to the Children's Home.

Mrs. Mary W. Troth chairman in charge of the Red Cross Roll Call being conducted under auspices of the Business and Professional Women's Club, has called a meeting of her committee and all group captains for 7:30 o'clock this evening in the Chamber of Commerce to check up on the campaign to date.

Enrollment will continue for some time, it is announced; although the results so far have been encouraging, the goal is far from being attained.

County Electrical Work Is Called Fire Hazard

Calling a large part of the electrical construction work in Prince Georges County a "very serious fire hazard," J. C. Hawkins has written to the county commissioners suggesting an electrical inspector for the county.

Mr. Hawkins, an electrical contractor of Hyattsville, also suggested that contractors be required to take an examination before being allowed to do electrical work in the county. The proposed office could be modeled after the county building inspector, whose fees make his office largely self-supporting. Aside from the electrical inspectors in the larger towns in the county, there is now no inspection of this work.

Falls Church Society Headed by G. N. Church

The business and professional men and women of Falls Church have formed an organization to deal with all questions relative to the business and professional life of the town.

Guy N. Church has been elected chairman; D. N. Luttrell, vice chairman, and Torreyson Reeves, secretary-treasurer. A committee of five was appointed to draw up a constitution and by-laws of the organization. The members of this committee were: Miss Mattie Grundy, Horace E. Brown, Carroll V. Shreve, Burns N. Gibson, and Olin Snyder.

Women Voters to Hear Two Maryland Judges

Judge Thomas J. T. Waxter, of the Baltimore Juvenile Court, and Judge R. Granville Curry, of the Montgomery County Juvenile Court, will address a meeting of the Montgomery County League of Women Voters tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in Grace Church, Woodside, Md.

The nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Charles R. Mann, Mrs. Milton Bancroft and Mrs. Paul Clark, will present a slate of officers for election.

Gaithersburg Bazaar Tonight.

A turkey dinner and bazaar will be given tonight at 5:30 o'clock by the Ladies' Aid Society of Epworth M. E. Church, Gaithersburg, Md., in the Masonic Hall. Mrs. W. Lawson King is chairman of the committee in charge.

EDUCATION CALLED BASIC STATE DUTY

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Dr. Sidney B. Hall, State superintendent of public construction in Virginia, addressing the meeting held in the Washington-Lee High School last night under the auspices of the Arlington County Business and Professional Woman's Club in celebration of National Educational Week, declared that "education is the basic function of the State and in proportion to our educational facilities shall we measure our prosperity and development."

Having developed a program for the development of education in Virginia, Dr. Hall stated, there are three ways in which the State may meet the situation: First, take over the entire burden; second, allow the local communities to carry it, and, third, let the State share its portion with the cities and counties. The first two plans are wrong, declared Dr. Hall. The third is correct and can be carried out, he said.

Education Demands Grow.

"The demands for education are increasing by leaps and bounds. In the last year there has been an increase of 10,000 pupils," he said. "The remedy for financing public education lies in the following program, of which I have made a great study, and which I hope to see carried out.

"First, the establishment of a minimum educational program.

"Second, the equalization of the burden of paying for the carrying out of that program.

"The program for the State is providing for a teacher for all groups of pupils in proportion to the density of population; each teacher shall have the proper amount of training; the schools of this State shall operate for a term of nine months.

"Arlington County schools did operate for a term of nine months last year, but many counties did not and I do not consider it right that some shall an others do not. All should be equal.

Plan for Financing.

"The minimum salary for a teacher shall be $60. This is too low, but I fear to ask that it be more from the State.

"To finance this plan," Dr. Hall stated, "let the State pay the minimum instruction cost of $60 and the counties and cities pay the difference between the salary of $60 and the salary paid, the capital outlay, maintenance of buildings and for other costs found necessary."

Dr. Hall was introduced by Fletcher Kemp, county school superintendent. Other speakers were Harry O. Hine, secretary, Board of Education of the District of Columbia; W. T. Woodson, Fairfax County school superintendent; Hugh Reid, delegate in the General Assembly from Arlington County, and Maj. E. W. Cushing, member of the Arlington County School Board.

Parade Will Feature Road Opening Saturday

Opening of the new road from the District line to Central avenue, through Maryland Park, will be celebrated by a parade and games sponsored by the Maryland Park Citizens Association, it has been announced.

The parade will begin at the District line at 7:30 Saturday night and proceed to Alden's store, where a ribbon closing the road will be cut. Wheelbarrow and roller-skate races and a rolling-pin contest will be among the games. The new street has been christened Park avenue by the property owners along it, who will attempt to have the county commissioners adopt this name.

Hyattsville Theater To Show for Jobless

The Hyattsville show to aid the mayor's committee for unemployment relief will be given today and tonight in the Arcade Theater in Hyattsville. Feature picture will be "The Brat."

Entire proceeds of the performances will be donated to the committee by Sydney Lust, owner of the theater. Employes have donated their services. Funds will be devoted to helping the jobless of the town. Mr. Lust at first offered to give a show Sunday, but there was opposition, and he changed the offer.

ELEVEN ARRAIGNED IN ROCKVILLE COURT

Criminal Trials Will Begin Today; Dr. Anna Dunn to Amend Suit.

Eleven persons who had been indicted by the Montgomery County grand jury were arraigned before Judge Robert B. Peter in circuit court at Rockville yesterday. The trial of criminal cases will begin today.

Judge Peter yesterday gave permission to attorneys for Dr. Anna Bartsch Dunn, of Washington, who is suing the county commissioners for damages for alleged unlawful confiscation of her property for the widening of Georgia avenue and Colesville pike, to amend the declaration, and allowed ten days for the filing of the amended papers. The doctor is represented by the law firm of Peter & Simpson, of Rockville.

Court Continues Stepdaughter Case

Doctor Testifies Mrs. Scott Held for Assault Is Too Ill to Go on Trial.

Because her doctor certified that she was not able to undergo trial, the case of Mrs. Hattie Scott, of Colmar Manor, accused by her stepdaughter of assault, was continued for two weeks yesterday in Hyattsville police court.

Mrs. Scott was present in court, but her attorney, Bird H. Dolby, presented the doctor's certificate, which stated she was suffering from high blood pressure. Any sudden shock might cause her death, the physician said.

In the meantime Mary Scott, the 17-year-old Hyattsville high school pupil, will continue to live with Judge Retta D. Morris, where she went after swearing out the warrant against her stepmother. Her father yesterday agreed to pay her board at Judge Morris' home.

Mr. Dolby yesterday produced a piece of the "hose" alleged to have been used in the beating. It is a small soft-rubber tube, about half an inch in diameter. The piece actually used to discipline the child she took away from home with her, Mr. Dolby said.

2 Members of Legion Win Verdun Citations

Herbert M. Lowey and Robert Milburn, members of Cooley-McCullough Post, No. 22, of the American Legion, were awarded medals yesterday at a meeting of the post held at 1314 L street northwest for their part in the defense of Verdun, France, during the World War. The medals were sent to this country by the mayor of the French city.

Three new officers were appointed to serve during the coming year. They are Charles J. Dean, welfare officer; John C. Swank, Americanization officer, and Joseph E. Chinn, publicity officer. A resolution was adopted favoring national representation for the District.

Alexandria Committee To Ask Illiteracy List

The committee on illiteracy of Alexandria, at a conference with R. C. Bowton, superintendent of schools, has decided to request all civic clubs to submit names of white persons unable to read and write, and to have the names in the hands of the committee not later than December 1, after which another meeting will be held.

In order to establish a school for illiterates it will be necessary to have an enrollment of at least ten or twelve, it is announced, who would be taught at one of the public schools at night, four nights each week. This school would be paid for by funds furnished by the State.

WHEN YOU OVER-INDULGE

THERE are times when we all are tempted to take a holiday from the usual prudence.

Where is the person who wants to be discreet in diet every day in the year? It isn't human!

And it isn't necessary!

Your stomach won't be poisoned by every little indiscretion if you will just remember to give it the friendly aid of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It will sweeten the sour system and put things to rights.

Suppose you do overload your stomach with those things that bring an acidity? Phillips' Milk of Magnesia will neutralize many times its volume in acid. Just take two spoonfuls before and after such over-indulgence. It's a very simple way to prevent those miserable mornings which follow too much to eat and drink.

When you over-indulge—eating, drinking, smoking—don't suffer for hours! Nature will restore a proper alkaline balance in time, but Phillips' Milk of Magnesia acts immediately. A creamy, pleasant-tasting emulsion that sweetens the stomach, dispels that sour gas, and relieves the nausea and headache, and feeling of biliousness due to overdoing. (Phillips' mild laxative properties always help the bowels at such times.)

Make sure it's genuine. The signature of Chas. H. Phillips on the wrapper and bottle will tell you it's the real product endorsed by the medical profession. Less perfect preparations do not act the same.

For a Healthy Mouth.

Use Phillips' Milk of Magnesia as a mouthwash every evening before retiring. Use Phillips' Dental Magnesia, a superior tooth-paste, to keep the teeth clean and white.

PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA

Beer Stored as Evidence Explodes; Man Then Freed

Beer which exploded while being held in the Hyattsville police station yesterday freed Arthur Ball, of Bladensburg, who was to face a liquor charge in police court.

Eighteen bottles of beer, alleged to be stronger than the legal limit, were seized by Constable Andrew Gasch when he raided Ball's home. They were brought to the warm police station, where normal processes continued until the pent-up gases burst the bottles. State's Attorney Alan Bowie nolle prossed the case after learning of the self-effacing evidence.

PUBLISHER ASSAILS ISLAND COMPETITION

Advertising Convention Told Farmer's Trade Hurt by Butter Substitutes.

Charging that the farmers of the United States are being burdened with the support of an "Asiatic orphan asylum," Frederick E. Murphy, publisher of the Minneapolis Tribune, yesterday demanded a tariff against imports from the Philippine Islands, in an address at the closing session of the convention of the Association of National Advertisers at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Protection of the farmer against the competition of Oriental labor was an essential part of the program which Mr. Murphy urged for sustaining the purchasing power of agriculture.

He declared that the Philippine Islands export annually to the United States about 650,000 pounds of copra and coconut oil, the latter commodity being used extensively for the manufacture of butter substitutes in competition with American dairy farmers.

Island Exportations.

"Cocoanut oil and sugar," he said, constitute by far the largest part of the Philippine exportations to the United States. Thus the whole burden and cost of maintaining our guardianship of the Philippines falls on the shoulders of the American farmer. And the American farmer is in no position today to support any Asiatic orphan asylums."

Mr. Murphy pointed out that although he has been an advocate of independence for the islands, it is not necessary to give them independence.

"Congress," he remarked, "has the power to impose any tariff duties it sees fit on the Philippine importations. Either the Philippine Islands should be given their freedom or restrictions placed on the importations of coconut oil and sugar. As a newspaper publisher, I realize that there is advertising to be had out of butter substitutes, but I know also that there is far more advertising to be had out of a prosperous agriculture."

Mr. Murphy declared that there are 5,000,000 cows in the country which "do not pay their own board," explaining that instead of being profitable to the farmers, the cows are liabilities, because they are not producing butter fat.

Robinson Crusoe was held up as a model to be emulated by modern business men in an address by Billy B. Van, former musical comedy star, who retired from the stage about five years ago to become a soap manufacturer.

Van Cites Crusoe.

Van recalled how Crusoe, stranded on his desert island, not only adapted himself to the situation and overcame obstacles which surrounded him, but also found himself a Friday to take over the details of maintaining his wilderness existence.

"There are plenty of Fridays standing around waiting to help you if you will look for them," Van told the advertisers. He explained how his home town of Newport, N. H., has met changing conditions by adapting its industries to produce salable merchandise in place of commodities which have for any reason lost their markets.

A resolution criticizing certain States which have enacted legislation penalizing manufacturers who name in their advertising the ingredients of their products was adopted by the association, which held that such legislation, which is contrary to the Federal pure-food laws, prevents manufacturers from telling the complete story of their products.

Plans for an advertising exhibit at the Chicago world's fair were revealed by T. F. Driscoll, of Chicago, and Bennett Chapple, of Middletown, Ohio.

Park Commission Opens 3-Day Meeting Today

Discussion of a legislative program will occupy the opening session of the three-day meeting of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission today. A tour of the projected park area in nearby Maryland also is scheduled.

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, executive director of the commission, will present the proposal for establishment of an Edison Memorial on Hains Point. Plans for extension of the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway to Woodlawn, Va., and the status of the military roads leading to Fort Myer also will be discussed.

About The Showshops

With NELSON B. BELL

THE large company of guests who assembled Tuesday for Managing Director Harry W. Crull's invitational midnight preview of the Fox dialogue production of "Over the Hill," one of the company's most popular earlier subjects in silent form, witnessed a decidedly modernized version of the famous fable of the struggling mother of a large family who only found happiness and contentment after a lifetime of harassment and sorrow. There is even a touch of rumrunning to bring it fully down to date!

It was interesting, too, to view the return to the screen after a long absence of Mae Marsh, whose work in D. W. Griffith's "Birth of a Nation" placed her among the foremost emotional stars of her day, young as she was when that classic was filmed. She comes back now in the difficult role of the gradually aging mother, played in the silent picture by Mary Carr. It would be exaggerating the fact a bit, perhaps, to say that Miss Marsh is as continuously and wholly convincing in the part as Mrs. Carr, but she does, nevertheless, reveal a matured and poignant command of those qualities of appeal with which the role is most extravagantly endowed.

There can not but be a wallop in the story for any one who ever had a mother.

No less important than the preview of "Over the Hill" was the opportunity afforded those present to catch a glimpse of Les Stevens, the new master of ceremonies, in action with "The Diplomats," a trio of clever and versatile young men, who took possession of the stage after the screening of the picture and passed out samples of their wares. If the inclinations of those out front had prevailed, the lads would be out there yet!

Here is a combination a little different from anything that has been booked for similar purposes in the Capital. It would be my unsolicited guess that the boys will be at the Fox for a long, long time.

As long as we are talking about the Fox it might as well be observed now as any time that, like all the downtown, first-run motion picture houses, the F street cathedral has a busy week ahead of it.

Tomorrow the Fox will inaugurate its Thanksgiving week by opening the doors at 10 a. m. and presenting five de luxe shows during the day and evening. The same schedule will prevail on Saturday.

On Thanksgiving Day the house will open at the regular hour of 11 a. m., but a complete extra performance will begin at 10 p. m., including both screen and stage features in their entirety.

All of which means that you can enjoy your turkey dinner, sneak in a nap and still see a complete presentation of the bill. Not bad.

And don't forget that beginning tomorrow, with first Washington screenings of Universal's production of "Frankenstein," the Rialto will inaugurate its new bills on Friday, instead of Saturday as heretofore.

And that reminds me. The complete roster of screen attractions for Thanksgiving week will be as follows: Fox—Mae Marsh, James Dunn, Sally Eilers, and James Kirkwood in "Over the Hill," and Fanchon & Marco Revue. Palace—Bert Lahr and Charlotte Greenwood in "Flying High" and Loew's "Going Places" Revue. Earle—Joe E. Brown in "Local Boy Makes Good," with Jack Little headlining the vaudeville bill in person. Rialto—Colin Clive and Mae Clarke in "Frankenstein." Metropolitan—"Sherlock Holmes' Fatal Hour." Columbia — Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne in "The Guardsman," and, following Seth Parker in "Way Back Home" at RKO-Keith's, will come "Bill" Boyd, Jimmie Gleason, and Ginger Rogers in "Suicide Fleet."

For the first time in its history, to the best of my knowledge, the National Theater will be dark Thanksgiving week, leaving the Belasco in solitary grandeur as the only house in Washington sheltering a practically "legitimate" drama.

The offering on Lafayette Square, beginning next Monday evening, will be Mae West, in "The Constant Sinner," her own dramatization of her own novel of the same name, now listed, I believe, among the "best-sellers."

The play is presented in sixteen scenes, requiring the use of a revolving stage, and enlists the services of a supporting cast of some half-hundred or so. The pivotal character is Babe Gordon, a practitioner of the oldest profession, about whom revolve exciting and flambuoyant events—so I hear.

On Sunday afternoon, with fine appropriateness, Burton Holmes will devote his fourth pictured travel revue in a series of five to the beauties and grandeurs of Italy, under the comprehensive title of "All Over Italy."

From an extensive outline of its itinerary, I judge that that is precisely where this particular talk will take you.

The Chesterfieldian Mr. Jimmy Lake announces as his always eagerly awaited attraction for the week beginning with the usual Sabbath matinee, at the Gayety, that eminent thespian, Mr. "Sliding" Billy Watson and his "Big Fun Show," with Evelyn Whitney as the featured personality among the feminine funsters.

There are also events of importance on both sides of Sunday.

Saturday night at 8:30 the Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus, "the singing horsemen of the steppes," will be heard again in the Capital, at Constitution Hall, as the opening attraction of Mrs. Wilson-Greene's Saturday evening concert series.

On Monday evening at the same hour, Marion Chace and Lester Shafer, with George Cornwell, as associate artist, will present a diversified program of dance and music at the Wardman Park Theater.

So this is November, eh? Roses are still blooming out in the garden, and I am looking for those robins back any day now—not that I'm kicking!

Charles Aufenthie Dies at His Home

Charles Aufenthie, retired restaurant manager and lifelong resident of Washington, died yesterday at his home, 5240 Colorado avenue northwest, following a brief illness. He was 55 years old.

Mr. Aufenthie was educated in the District public schools and since 1900 conducted a restaurant at 941 D street northwest. He retired in 1914. He took an active part in charitable organizations and was a member of the board of directors of the German Orphans' Home.

Well Known in social circles, Mr. Aufenthie held membership in the Stansbury Lodge of the Masonic Order, Kallipolis Grotto, The Almas Temple and Ruth Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Augusta Aufenthie, two daughters, Miss Caroline Aufenthie and Mrs. Julius Andrae and a brother, Dr. Rudolph Aufenthie, of Washington State.

Mrs. Nellie Hains To Lie in Arlington

Service Will Be Saturday for Woman Who Lived Here Many Years.

Funeral services for Mrs. Nellie H. Hains, formerly of this city, who died Tuesday in Newton, Mass., will be Saturday morning in Arlington National Cemetery, according to word received here last night. Arrangements had not been completed at a late hour.

Mrs. Hains, who made her home in the Capital more than a score of years ago, is the wife of Robert Peter Hains, Boston attorney, member of the Naval Academy class of 1891.

Her first husband was the late Alexander Wilson, also a naval officer. One son, Lieut. Comdr. Hains, who lives at McLean, Va., left Tuesday night for Boston, and will return with the body of his mother. Mrs. Hains, who was 64 years old, is survived by another son, and two daughters, Mrs. Frank Laimbeer, Garden City, Long Island, and Mrs. Bruce Johnson, of Newton.

LEWIS H. FREEMAN RITES.

Funeral Services Will Be Held at Clarendon Today.

Funeral services for Lewis Howard Freeman, 92 years old, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Eleanor F. Hatcher, 142 Marion avenue, Clarendon, Tuesday night, will be conducted from the home this afternoon at 1 o'clock by the Rev. John H. Pearson, pastor of the Clarendon Methodist Church, assisted by the Rev. Perry L. Mitchell, pastor of the Clarendon Baptist Church. Burial will be at the old home, near Arcola, Loudoun County, Va.

Mr. Freeman is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Hatcher and Mrs. Annie Cloyen, both of Clarendon, and one son, John C. Freeman, of New York.

Accountants to Meet Tonight.

An organization meeting of the American Institute of Junior Accountants of Washington will be held tonight at the Jewish Community Center at 9 o'clock. Dean Edwin C. Bosworth, of Benjamin Franklin University, will speak.

Maj. Leigh Rovzar Funeral Is Today

Retired Army Officer Will Be Buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

Funeral services for Maj. Leigh V. Rovzar, retired United States Army officer and manager of the Carlton Hotel, who died yesterday in Mount Alto Hospital following a brief illness, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Tabler Funeral Home, 928 M street northwest. Interment will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

Born in Kansas City, Mo., in 1889, Maj. Rovzar was a graduate of Lafayette University. He served in the World War as a captain in the field artillery, Thirty-third Division, and was later advanced to the rank of major. Returning from France, he went to Mexico City, where for some time he was connected with the Federal Highway Commission of that country.

Coming to the United States, Maj. Rovzar served as assistant manager of the Stevens Hotel, Chicago, Ill., and two years ago came to Washington to serve in the same capacity at the Wardman Park Hotel. He had been manager of the Carlton for about six months.

MRS. S. K. ALLEN RITES.

Funeral Services to Be Held at Former Residence Today.

Funeral services for Mrs. Suzanne Kelley Allen, wife of Clifford R. Allen, who died early yesterday morning after a long illness, will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at her residence, 4500 Broad Branch road.

Services will be conducted by the Rev. Frederick Harris, pastor of the Foundry M. E. Church. Interment will follow in Glenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Allen is survived by her husband, three sons, Melrose W., Clifford R., jr., and Marshall E. Allen; her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kelley, of Nashville, and three sisters, Mrs. William Simmons, Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Marguerite Riggan and Mrs. Nina Street, of Nashville, Tenn. All were at her death bed except Mrs. Simmons.

W. E. OWENS OBSEQUIES.

Former Policeman Will Be Buried From His Home Saturday.

Funeral services for William Edward Owens, 64 years old, of 1010 Twenty-fifth street southeast, will be held at his residence at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, with the interment following in Rock Creek Cemetery. Mr. Owens, who served for 38 years on the Metropolitan Police force prior to his retirement last November, died early yesterday following an extended illness, having been in failing health since his retirement from duty at the Eleventh Precinct. Mr. Owens was asisgned to duty at the White House during the latter part of the Wilson administration and all of the Harding administration. He was widely known and popular with his fellow officers.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Laura Owens, and a son, Raymond.

Ad Club to Hear Glassford.

Brig. Gen. P. D. Glassford, superintendent of Washington Police, will address the Advertising Club at a luncheon in his honor at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Raleigh Hotel.

COASTGUARD WOMEN MEET IN CONVENTION

Out-of-Town Delegates Hear Discussion at Banquet in Mayflower.

The annual convention of the League of Coast Guard Women, an organization which includes women relatives and women friends of Coast Guard personnel and which has for its objective the ministering to the general welfare of Coast Guard personnel and their immediate families, held their annual convention yesterday in the beautifully furnished league room at Coast Guard Headquarters.

The out-of-town delegates included Mrs. H. G. Hamlet, New London, Conn.; Miss Ethel L. Foss, Portsmouth, N. H.; Mrs. W. H. Munter, and Mrs. G. U. Stewart, Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Edward McGarvey and Mrs. James Raymond, Bay Shore, N. Y.; Mrs. W. H. Styer and Mrs. C. V. Styron, Northern New Jersey Unit; Mrs Milda Shek and Mrs. John Doughty, Lewes, Del.; Mrs. W. I. Purnell and Mrs. Charles Lewis, Ocean City, Md.; Mrs. J. I. Bryan and Mrs. Joseph A. Vaeth, New York; Mrs. E. W. Beaune and Mrs. C. H. Garrison, Norfolk, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Johnson and Mrs. H. Gardner, Wakefield, R. I.; Mrs. E. H. Norton, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. M. H. Camp, Cape May, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Rohdin, Wakefield, R. I.

The out-of-town guests included Col. and Mrs. Eddie V. Rickenbacker; Commander and Mrs. C. C. Von Paulsen, and District Commander and Mrs. C. J. Sullivan.

After the annual meeting a banquet was held in honor of the visiting delegates in the Chinese room of the Hotel Mayflower, which, in addition to the delegates, was attended by members of the Washington Unit of the league and the visiting guests, together with the commissioned and warrant officer personnel attached to Coast Guard Headquarters and to the Coast Guard Depot at Curtis Bay, Md. Seymour Lowman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, accompanied by Mrs. Lowman and Miss Lowman, were the guests of honor.

This morning a pilgrimage is to be made to Mount Vernon, a stop being made en route in Arlington National Cemetery, where a wreath will be placed at the base of the Coast Guard World War Memorial by the visting delegates.

TRIAL IS POSTPONED FOR SLAYER OF FOUR

Maryland Court Recognizes Ades, Beaten by Mob, as His Legal Counsel.

Baltimore, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Trial of Yuel Lee, confessed Negro slayer of a Worcester County farm family of four, scheduled for tomorrow under protection of National Guard troops, today was indefinitely postponed.

The postponement was granted by officials of Dorchester County Circuit Court at Cambridge after Judge Eli Frank, of the Baltimore City Court, granted a writ of mandamus recognizing Bernard Ades as attorney for Lee.

Ades, counsel here for the International Labor Defense League and voluntary counsel for the Negro, previously had been ruled from the case by the Worcester County Circuit Court. He, with two league companians, were beaten by a mob and ordered to le ve the county. A change of venue sending Lee's trial to Cambridge followed.

Ades, after the court order recognizing him as the Negro's attorney, communicated with judges of the Cambridge court and gained their consent to a postponement to allow him time to prepare his case.

A battalion of National Guard, mobilized to escort Lee from Baltimore to Cambridge and guard him during the trial, was disbanded. Lee has been in the Baltimore City Jail since he confessed the slaying of Green Davis, his wife and two daughters, and mob threats were made against him.

Hinkler Is Reported Arrested.

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Bert Hinkler, British flier, who recently flew nonstop from New York to Jamaica, was reported in dispatches from Fortaleza today to have been arrested and his plane sequestered because his papers were not in order. He was on his way to Rio de Janeiro.

Favorite-Son Boom For Garner Is Seen

Senator Connally Says Texas Conditions Are Getting Better.

(Associated Press.)

The growing list of returning legislators who are optimistic over better business prospects was augmented yesterday by Senator Connally, of Texas. He said conditions in his State are beginning to show signs of improvement and predicted the meeting of Congress would have a "good steadying effect."

Switching to politics, the Texas Democrat said both Gov. Roosevelt, of New York, and Newton D. Baker, of Ohio, have "good support" in his State for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He added that Texas probably would give Representative Garner, a native son and party choice for the House speakership, strong support for the nomination.

Alfred A. Taylor Shows Signs of Improvement

Johnson City, Tenn., Nov. 18 (A.P.). Former Gov. Alfred A. Taylor spent a restful night and was reported "much better" today by attendants at Appalachian Hospital, where he is a patient. Attendants said hope was held that a threat of pneumonia might disappear.

46 Residents Face Trial In Alabama Rum Case

Opelika, Ala., Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Further details of liquor dealing at Phenix City, Ala., were promised by District Attorney Arthur D. Chilton as the trial of 46 residents of that city proceeded here today.

He said he will call many witnesses before completing testimony against two representatives in the Alabama Legislature, former members of the Phenix City commission and most of the town's policemen.

Drought Tightened In Southern States

(Associated Press.)

The passage of another rainless week has intensified the drought gripping a small cluster of States from Maryland to Georgia.

Centering in the Carolinas and Georgia, the drought has created a serious water supply problem, and pastures and ranges are dry. Georgia and the Carolinas, the bureau said, were experiencing the dryest fall on record.

Winter truck crops are suffering heavily in the Southeast, especially in Florida.

Maj. Gen. W. A. Kobbel Dies in Pasadena at 91

Pasadena, Calif., Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Maj. Gen. William A. Kobbel, 91, retired United States Army officer, died at his home today following a lengthy illness.

He was a veteran of the Civil and Spanish Wars and the Philippine Insurrection. He held two citations for gallantry in action, one for gallantry at Manila and the other for bravery at Luzon. He was born in New York in 1840.

2 Identify Ohio Clubber, Former Asylum Lunatic

Youngstown, Ohio, Nov. 18 (A.P.). Police Chief Paul Lyden said a 14-year-old girl and a maid in a South Side home had identified a man brought here from Wheeling, W. Va., today as the clubber who attacked them last week.

The man, police said, was released a few months ago from Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane. He is suspected of three other attacks, one of them in Niles, Ohio.

MARYLAND BARS 7 MEN, 3 HORSES IN RINGER PLOT

"NIGGER NATE" RAYMOND.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—"Nigger Nate" Raymond, who held a hand in Arnold Rothstein's last card game, today was ruled off the Maryland race tracks on charges growing out of a fixed race at Havre de Grace. Six other men and three horses also were barred for life.

The action of the Maryland racing commission was one of the most drastic taken in recent years and follows a similar action taken against an owner and stableman yesterday. It culminates an investigation, which started when a horse, entered under the name of "Shem," spreadagled the field in a juvenile race October 3.

Shem, a 2-year-old gelding, was entered in the event, but the race was run and won by Aknahton, a 3-year-old colt. The winner was spirited away the day following the race and was found stabled at Lake County fair grounds, Crown Point, Ind. Shem, which left New York in company with Aknahton and Ep, another 2-year-old, has been in seclusion at Water Witch, N. J.

"Sham" Consigned To Raymond.

The Maryland commission, in a formal announcement, said Raymond figured in the fixing of the race under the name of A. Ray. "Shem" was consigned to "A. Ray" when shipped from Havre de Grace to Jersey City.

Others who were barred by the commission were Herman Brackenheimer, manager of Max Schmeling's training camp when the heavyweight champion trained for his fight with Jack Sharkey; Leo Canerman; Patrick Christie, alias Peter Wesley, alias Charles Hall; William Marino, in whose name Shem ran at Havre de Grace; Vladmar Sulick and Julius Delolt, who under the name of J. Lebolt ran Aknahton at Aqueduct September 17.

Aknahton and Shem, both of which are chestnut in color, together with Ep, also were barred. The license of Arthur Kennedy, trainer of the horse that started in the Havre de Grace race under the name of Shem, was revoked.

Trainer Is Cleared In "Fixing."

The commission pointed out there was no evidence that Kennedy was a party to the fixing of the race, but ruled that he was not entitled to a license to train on Maryland tracks because he accepted the horse without properly identifying either the owner or the horse, and saddled a 3-year-old colt when the entered horse was a 2-year-old gelding.

The report of the Maryland Racing Commission follows:

"In accordance with recommendation of the Stewards at Havre de Grace's recent meeting we are ruling off of all courses under the jurisdiction of the Maryland Racing Commission the following for their connection with the "Shem" ringing case:

"First: A. Ray, in whose name the gelding 'Shem' was consigned, when shipped to Jersey City from Havre de Grace, and who is Nate Raymod, of New York City.

"Second: Leo Kammerman, alias Leo Canerman, of New York City, who ordered the shipment of 'Shem' from Dr. Tubb's farm at Havre de Grace to A. Ray, Pennsylvania Yards, Jersey City, N. J., and who receipted for the horse upon arrival there as follows: 'A. Ray, Anderson Bros., Leo Canerman.'

"Third: Patrick Christie, alias Peter Westley, alias Charles Hall, the man who arranged for the purchase of 'Shem' and 'Ep' and came down from Aqueduct to Havre de Grace in Beter Leher's van with 'Shem,' 'Ep' and 'Aknahton,' and made arrangements about leaving the horse 'Shem' at Dr. Tubb's farm.

"Fourth: William Marino, of New York City, in whose name the supposed 'Shem' ran at Havre de Grace on October 3, 1931.

"Fifth: J. LeBolt, in whose name 'Aknahton' ran on September 17, 1931, in New York and who actually is Julius DeLott, alias J. DeBlott.

"Sixth: Herman Brackenheimer, of Water Witch, N. J., where the gelding 'Shem' has been in seclusion in a garage fixed up as a stall.

"Seventh: Vladmar Sulick, who is undoubtedly aiding Peter Westley to hide the horse that ran at Havre de Grace.

"Eighth: 'Aknahton,' Chestnut colt, 3 years old, by Stimulus; Scarab, by Wrack, who ran as 'Shem' on October 3, 1931, and which horse has been in seclusion at Lake County Fair Grounds, Crown Point, Ind., until Monday, November 2, 1931, in charge of Vladmar Sulick, a stable hand, who left Havre de Grace with 'Aknahton' and the bay filly 'Ep,' on Sunday, October 4, 1931.

"Ninth: 'Shem,' chestnut gelding, 2 years old, by Noah, out of Dick's Daughter, and the bay filly 'Ep' by Epinard, out of Hey Presto."

Old Line Frosh Beat Baltimore Poly Hikers

University of Maryland Freshmen cross-country team downed Baltimore Poly, 25 to 30, over a 2½-mile course at College Park yesterday afternoon.

John King, of Poly, led the field in 13 minutes 30 seconds. It was the fifth hill-and-dale test he has captured in as many starts this season. He won by 25 yards over Ramsburg, of Maryland. Bowers, another Old Liner, was third, followed in order by Peach, Poly; Ashton, Maryland; Litzinger, Maryland; McCalley, Poly; Wackenfuss, Poly; Firman, Maryland, and Johnson, Poly.

Other participants included Archer and Maguire, of Maryland, and Bullock, Pickering, Henkel, Prom, and McCauley, all of Poly.

MARYLAND U. DEFENSE IS GROOMED

Squad in Strenuous Drill for Struggle With Generals.

UNTIL long after dark last night, Maryland University's grid squad was drilled in the fine art of bringing down ball runners after they had passed the line of scrimmage. It was a 2-hour workout, with tackling and secondary defense making up the majority of the tussling, and the entire two hours was aimed directly at the quartet of first-rate backs Washington and Lee is bringing up Saturday.

In Joe Sawyer, the Generals are bringing to College Park a man who bodes no good for the success of Maryland's Homecoming Day. Sawyer, a near-ten second man, with the ability to change his direction on a dime, personally accounted for the V. P. I. and Princeton victories. In the former game, he snagged a pass which was not meant for him and raced to the touchdown, and last Saturday he streaked underneath a pass from a colleague to make possible the caging of the Princeton Tiger.

Tilson, Washington and Lee's defensive guard and offensive full back, is another the Terps must mind, as is Bailey and Mattox.

Backs Spend Busy Session.

It was an active day for Maryland's backs yesterday afternoon and evening. Holes were purposely opened in the Maryland lines and ball carriers shot through, with the responsibility of grounding them resting on the regular Old Line ball carriers.

Bozey Berger Maryland's shifty-hipped half back, will not start Saturday. In retrieving a loose ball yesterday Berger twisted a shoulder and arm. His place in the starting line-up will be taken by Kiernan, as good a reserve man as there is in the District. Berger's injury may permit him to see service for a while in the second half.

The game itself Saturday is the crowning event of a day of activities at Maryland, beginning early in the morning with the registration of alumni in Ritchie Gymnasium and ending at midnight, when the annual homecoming ball will close. In the interim the alumni will hold their annual meeting and luncheon at noon and a supper dance will be held in the gymnasium at 6 o'clock.

The game will start at 2:30 o'clock. During the half a comic costume competition will be staged between members of campus organizations. Organization and individual awards are at stake. Before the start of the game a pair of soccer teams, culled from the freshman and sophomore classes, will play.

W.-L. in Signal Drill For Old Line Contest

Lexington, Va., Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Coach DeHart gave the Washington and Lee eleven which is expected to start against Maryland a brisk signal drill today.

Davis-Elkins Seeks North Dakota Game

Grand Forks, N. Dak., Nov. 18 (A. P.).—Davis and Elkins seeks a football game with the University of North Dakota for Philadelphia November 28, Coach C. A. West, of the latter institution, said today.

He said he awaited word from Randolph Jennings, Davis and Elkins athletic director, as to whether Franklin Field would be available.

West, whose squad leaves tonight to meet Duquesne at Pittsburgh on Saturday and George Washington at Washington, D. C., November 26, said he was "interested" though playing two games in three days would be called for.

Ernie Schaaf Choice Over Dorval Tonight

Boston, Nov. 18 (U.P.).—Ernie Schaaf, fourth ranking heavyweight, and Napolean Jack Dorval, who has amassed an undefeated record against heavyweights of dubious worth, were pronounced ready today for tomorrow night's ten-round bout at Boston Garden.

Schaff was a decided favorite. He weighed 210 pounds and will be guided by Jack Sharkey, who owns something like 16 per cent of Schaaf's earnings.

Dorval weighed 214 pounds today and said he was in better shape than for any bout of his career.

Eastern Title Sought by Harvard

Mahan on Last Unbeaten Crimson Team in 1913.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—The Eastern football crown, as well as a prized victory over an ancient rival, will be at stake when Harvard takes the field against Yale at Cambridge Saturday.

The only undefeated and untied team in the East, with victories over such good teams as Army, Texas, Dartmouth, and Holy Cross, the Johnnies enter Saturday's game favorites to win and hang up a record not equaled by a Crimson squad since 1913.

Eighteen years ago a Haughton-coached eleven, which included such giants of the gridiron as Pennock, Krickley, and Mahan, went through an undefeated season, taking Princeton 3-0 and Yale 15-5.

Barley Won Two Games.

This 1931 team has not crushed the opposition as did the 1913 squad, winning two of its games by the margin of a point after touchdown, but on the record and on its play to date it is the best in the East.

Each team has played four major opponents. Harvard won its four. Yale lost to Georgia, won from a weak Chicago team, and tied Army and Dartmouth, yet has scored only five less points than the Crimson—144 to 149—and has yielded 29 more—65 to 26. Harvard has won its last three games with Yale—17-0 in 1928, 10-6 in 1929, and 14-0 last year.

Harvard Faces Yale Plays.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 18 (A.P.).—The Harvard forces today had their last real workout of the season and spent most of it facing the Yale formations put on by the black-shirted scrubs in a dummy scrimmage.

The varsity had little trouble stopping the Yale plays and was especially effective against the Eli's overhead attack.

Harvard had four scouts following the Yale team this season and the quartet supervised the scrub team's play.

This work was preceded by a short session on the tackling dummy and blocking machine and was followed by a 15-minute signal drill, during which several new plays were given a polishing.

A traditional ceremony, not held at Harvard in recent years, probably will be revived after tomorrow's short workout. The Harvard players have informed Eddie Casey that they would regard the burning of their tackling dummy as a lucky omen and the head coach not only gave his permission but promised to take a leading part in the destruction of the roundly hated stuffed figure.

Yale Smothers Passes.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 18 (A.P.). The Crimson passing attack, as played by the Yale scrubs, was useless today in a 30-minute secret scrimmage with the Yale varsity.

On the other hand, the Eli offensive, playing against defensive plays expected to be put into play by Harvard eleven next Saturday, netted one touchdown, resulting in a final score of 6 to 0 for the varsity in 30 minutes of play.

The second and third varsity elevens, also playing secret scrimmages against the crimson-jerseyed scrubs eleven, battled to scoreless ties in 30 minutes of work.

Capt. Albie Booth played throughout the varsity scrimmage. Although still hampered slightly by bruises received in the St. John's game, he appeared fast and an effective ground gainer. Holcombe played at center.

After the secret scrimmage, the squad returned to Anthony Thompson Field for a drill of fundamentals. President James Rowland Angell and a large number of Yale Alumni and former players looked on.

Army, Navy Plan $400,000 Intake

Service Academy Officials Meet Here in Planning Charity Grid Game.

(Associated Press.)

The men who once wore the uniforms of the Military and Naval Academies are actively behind a bull market for tickets to this year's Army-Navy game.

Capt. "Biff" Jones, former head football coach at West Point and now assistant graduate manager, yesterday told a group of athletic officials from both institutions the game probably would net at least $400,000.

The officials met to lay plans for the gridiron battle, which will start at 1 p. m. December 12 at the Yankee Stadium.

The proceeds will be divided equally between the Naval and Military Acadamies for allotment to unemployment relief.

The general public will not have an opportunity to buy seats until members of the athletic associations of both academies and their friends have been supplied.

The Army was represented today by Maj. Philip B. Fleming, graduate manager, and Jones, his assistant. Navy officials were Commander J. L. Hall, graduate manager, and R. R. Thomas, a civilian connected with the Navy Athletic Association.

STEELE AND DUSEK IN BATTLE

Sell-Out at Wrestling Show Tonight Is Forecast.

IF the advance ticket sale is any harbinger, wrestling appears to be on the verge of affluence once more. How long the affluency will last is a matter of speculation, but the fact remains that tonight's rassle-fest among and between, to-wit, Ray Steele and Rudy Dusek, at the Washington Auditorium, is winning back a host of former mat fans, who wandered away for reasons ranging from financial distress to Benny Ginsberg.

Rated on the scale that the advance sale usually amounts to two-fifths of the actual turnout, tonight's crowd should fill up those arid sections of the big auditorium which have gone undusted for many wrestling moons. The auditorium, for that matter, has not been filled since the last appearance there of Jim Londos, who carried George Hagen about 20 minutes before dumping him.

Steele-Dusek Real Event.

Even the best match Washington has ever seen, that between Dick Shikat and Ray Steele, drew only about 4,000 and since then the house average has been around 3,000.

A meeting between Steele and Dusek is a wrestling event, no matter

Association Fails To Oust Hickey

Four Clubs Block Attempt to Unseat President; One-Year Contract.

Chicago, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Thomas Jefferson Hickey has turned back another assault to topple him from the American Association baseball throne he built 30 years ago.

Backed solidly throughout a two-day deadlock by four of the eight clubs, the veteran leader of the Class AA league emerged victorious with a one year's contract stuffed in his coat pocket.

The contract was grudgingly given by his foes for one year instead of the customary three only after it was definite that the deadlock of ballots could not be broken. Thus the outcome was identically the same as that of the battle to unseat him at last year's meeting in Montreal, where the same four club owners voted for him and the same foes opposed his reelection.

St. Paul, Minneapolis, Louisville and Columbus held out stubbornly against his reelection, while Milwaukee, Toledo, Indianapolis and Kansas City supported him.

Hickey organized the American Association 30 years ago and was the target for attacks almost from the start. He served as head of the league for three years and then left it to enter business only to return nine years later to pick up the presidential reins again and hold them for 18 consecutive years. His reelection insures him of 19 straight years as head of the circuit he organized.

C. U. EXPECTS M'VEAN TO STAR

Quarter's Passing Is Likely to Upset Providence.

A BRAND-NEW forward passer—and, incidentally, a triple threat—will be sent into action Saturday when Catholic University's eleven meets Providence College's huskies at Brookland bowl. Having been drilled on aerial tossing all this week, Quarter Back Charley McVean will be ready to undertake his latest assignment when the starting whistle sounds at 2:30 o'clock.

Should he succeed in mastering the overhead heaving, as is expected, Charley automatically will become one of his eleven's best-rounded performers. Already adept at kicking and running the ball, he also is a good blocker and, despite his 151 pounds, a deadly and vicious tackler.

C. U. to Stress Aerial Game.

Having yesterday divulged that McVean has been selected to start in Saturday's line-up, Head Coach ("Dutch" Bergman further intimated that the aerial game will be stressed against the highly respected "Friars."

"Providence's advantage in weight will force us to take to the air," he declared last night. "Consequently I've been polishing McVean in this particular department since Monday.

"Although Tommy Whelan again will be the main receiver, we do not intend putting all our 'eggs in one basket' when we take to the overhead. Therefore, we've groomed Sheary, Fraatz, Howe and several others to have a hand in the passing game."

Having smoothed out flaws discernible in Tuesday's workouts, Catholic's varsity smashed through with a markedly improved defensive exhibition against the freshmen yesterday. Employing Providence plays, the yearlings were checked time and again on drives through center and off tackle and also succeeded in completing surprisingly few passes.

Cards Show Drive, Fight In Drill.

Flashing their best form of the week, the upper classmen showed drive and fight that presages a return to the stride that characterized their victories over North Carolina State and Duquesne.

Completing work at Providence yesterday the Friars are to entrain en route here late tonight. Reporting in Washington tomorrow at 1:15 o'clock, they are to cast anchor at the Mayflower Hotel, and will frisk through a final drill at Brookland Stadium in the afternoon.

Notre Dame Is First Team In All College Football to Draw Finger of Suspicion

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The Notre Dame football team is the first college team which has been seriously suspected of failing to put forth its best efforts, as the prize fight commissioners would phrase it. Last Saturday's game between the Notre Dame company and Navy in Baltimore had many of the characteristics of the Barney O'Leary, or waltz, as it used to be interpreted in the ring by Sam Langford, who was a master interpreter.

The final score, 20-0, was about 70 points short of the total Notre Dame might have amassed if the Navy boys had made themselves obnoxious, and the entire performance was reminiscent of those old-fashioned business fights in Little Rock and Wheeling in which a master pugilist encountered a respectful young boy doing the best he could for himself and treated him nice. If Navy had not been respectful and had scored a touchdown or two for themselves, the Notre Dame boys might have lost their patience and run up a score of 100 or so to put them in their place.

Motives Could Be Very Noble.

Of course, the motives of the Notre Dame boys could easily have been of the noblest. The Navy team was coached by Mr. Rip Miller, an old Notre Dame boy himself, and it would have been a sort of reflection on Notre Dame if an old Notre Dame boy in his first year at an important job had been made to look bad.

Moreover, the Navy boys were using, or trying to use, the Notre Dame style of football, which, in itself, was a conspicuous compliment to Notre Dame, and it would have been ungracious to humiliate them unnecessarily. And, possibly, the Notre Dame players, who seem to be pointing for careers as football coaches themselves, were thinking of the time, not long hence, when they might be striving to make good and hoping that bread cast upon the waters on this occasion would come back cake next year or the year after that.

By an odd twist of sporting ethics, the Barney, or waltz, which is considered to be most reprehensible in pugilism and condemned by press and pulpit, is not so regarded in intercollegiate football.

Commission Would Revoke License.

The New York prize fight commission, always ambitius for more territory, recently took over amateur boxing, and apprehension has been expressed lest the commissioners should decide to claim jurisdiction over intercollegiate football. If they had done this they might even now be holding a meeting to revoke the Notre Dame license and forbid the game between Notre Dame and Army in New York on the ground Notre Dame did not try hard enough in Baltimore.

In such a hearing, the counsel for the defense could only plead that the boys from South Bend were trying to serve the interests of the sport, because, if they had really cut loose any alert referee would have called the game a mismatch and no contest. Although pugilism is supposed to exist for the beautiful purpose of in-

Mills Spares Stars Hard Workout

7 Regular Players on Bench See Final Scrimmage.

G. U. Coach Expects Even Game With Villanova.

GEORGETOWN concluded its scrimmaging for the year yesterday afternoon with a strenuous 45-minute workout in preparation for Saturday's game against Villanova, at Philadelphia. The final scrimmage was a tough one, lasting more than half an hour, and was considered a bit too rough going to allow the presence of King, Dubosky, McManus, Benner, Stanley, Donohue and Alenty, who were kept on the sidelines.

Those seven players Georgetown is counting heavily upon to bring a Hilltop victory Saturday, and Coach Tom Mills was wise enough not to jeopardize their chances of playing by inserting them into yesterday's tangle, which, by the way, ended a chapter in the 1931 Georgetown football history which has accounted for many of the alarming injuries which have stalked the team this year.

Viskovitch, Bordeau Show Form.

Miskovitch and Bordeau looked good yesterday, leading the first team to a hard-fought couple of touchdowns against the strong secondaries. The punching bag freshmen were given a day's respite yesterday, the varsity squad spending its spirit on the Georgetown reserves.

Villanova uses the identical attack which Georgetown has been schooled in, and Coach Mills last night rated the two teams as about on a par in all phases of the game, with the possible exception of kicking, in which Georgetown is below normal. At the same time, Mills gave Villanova the edge, an edge which belongs to every team who plays on its home field, all other things being equal.

It is doubtful if Dyer, reserve left tackle, will be in the game Saturday. He suffered a bad shoulder injury yesterday. Dick King, stellar back, and Donoghue, another back, are nursing a twisted ankle and wrist, respectively, but will see service Saturday.

Western Basket Ball Prospects Are Rosy

Western High will have one of its best basket ball teams in recent years this coming season if the material Coach Cliff Moore has on hand develops. The squad of about 40 has been working out for two weeks, and yesterday staged a three-hour drill.

Anthony Latona, leading scorer of last year's series, is back in the line-up this year, as is Everett Buscher, his running mate forward. Bill Payne, lanky center, is back in the Western line-up after a layoff of a couple of years. The guards are still a problem, but Swanson has been showing up well.

Irish Running Attack Overhauled in Drill

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Notre Dame's running attack was given a thorough overhauling today by Coach Heartly "Hunk" Anderson, as he sent his first and second teams through a two-hour dummy scrimmage. Every play used to date was reviewed and several were added.

Fear of more injuries prompted Coach Anderson to call off the regulation Wednesday afternoon scrimmage. George Melinkovich, victim of an injured shoulder, was in uniform again today, but did not take part in the practice except for a short signal drill.

Melinkovich's chances of starting in Saturday's battle against Southern California's Trojans still were considered remote, although he was recovering rapidly.

Coach Anderson tried three full backs in Melinkovich's vacated post today. Steve Banas started on the job and was followed by Bernie Leahy and Jimmy Leonard. All three looked good, but Anderson refused to make any predictions as to which one would start in case Melinkovich failed to be ready.

LONDOS WINS AGAIN.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Jim Londos, recognized heavyweight wrestling champion in some parts, threw Sandor Szabo in 39 minutes and 22 seconds with a series of body slams in a one-fall match here tonight. Szabo claims the Hungarian title.

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

MARYLAND is becoming the chief stronghold of thoroughbred racing in America just as surely as a quadruped has four legs.

Kentucky, the land of the blue grass with its fast horses and beautiful women, has slowly been eclipsed by the Free State in racing interest. New York, minus the parimutuels, can not compete with the Maryland tracks in point of attractive programs despite its rich stakes. Illinois, with its beautiful tracks at Hawthorne, Arlington and Washington Park, lacks the background of tradition and is still in the stages of a renaissance following years of blacklist legislation. The winter tracks can not hope to attract the ranking horses in the age divisions which the leading stables retire from training in preparation for rich stakes in the spring and summer.

For the first time in modern racing history, Kentucky this year enjoyed only one fall meeting. Latonia alone carried on. Churchill Downs, seat of the Kentucky Derby, and Lexington, always a major track, abandoned meetings this fall in view of the depression. Legislation has harried the Kentucky tracks for the past several years, threatening their very life, which was sustained only after several close elections.

The past two days has seen the Maryland Racing Commission act drastically in the protection of the good name of the sport in the Free State. On Tuesday, the suspension of an owner and an attendant was announced in the fatal doping of Pourboire at Pimlico after the horse dropped dead following his race. Both were ruled off the Maryland tracks for life.

Yesterday, the banishment of seven New York men was announced in connection with the Shem "ringer" case in which a good 3-year-old colt, Aknahton, ran under the name of Shem in a 2-year-old race and won easily.

The official report of the commission, which traced the hiding place of Aknahton to a small town in Ohio, demonstrated the thoroughness and the avidity of the commission's efforts in ferreting out the offenders. The sharpers have been warned to keep out of Maryland with their skullduggery. The integrity of the sport in the Free State scored heavily in the investigation and drastic action of the racing commission.

Even though "Shem" won by several lengths, the finger of suspicion might not have been pointed so accusingly at the race if the "come-back" money had not poured into the mutuel machines in such quantities that the logical 30-to-1 shot was backed down to near favoritism. The Senegambian in the woodpile was apparent when the flood of money from all over the East found its way back to the track.

The master minds in the betting coup could have won more money by betting half as much. They would not have driven down the odds to the point where the "take-out" by the track affected such a huge gob of their own money. The slickers were caught in their own backwash, as it were.

The committee, comprised of representatives of the three local colleges and the District group for the relief of the unemployed, which is in charge of the charity game here December 12 when teams from Georgetown, Catholic University and George Washington meet the University of Alabama Rose Bowl eleven, is gratified by the advance seat sale for the game.

Spalding's yesterday reported a sale of more than 500 tickets, which exceeds the early demand for any other game in local football history. Each local college yesterday was allotted 1,500 tickets in their respective cheering sections and the Alabama Society of Washington has subscribed for a block of 500 seats.

The seats are on sale on a first-come-first-served basis with a 50 cent reduction on each ticket in effect until December 1 in order to stimulate the demand. The scale of prices, ranging from $1.00 to $2.00, is the lowest in the Capital's football history for a game of such importance.

MEXICAN NETMAN DIES.

Mexico City, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Manuel Llano Rios, Mexican tennis star, who shot himself last week, died today. He suddenly took a turn for the worse after having been reported out of danger.

HELIANTHUS, 13-TO-1 SHOT, WINS IN BOWIE FEATURE

Choices Fail To Figure In Race

Misstep, $11.90, Second, and Mabla, $28.40, Third.

Hilianthus Finishes Fast to Near Record for Track.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
Special to The Washington Post.

BOWIE RACE TRACK, Nov. 18.—Favorites were lost in the running of the Bay Shore, feature race, when the Brookemeads Stable's Helianthus won. LeMar Stock Farm's Misstep finished second, beaten a head, and Mrs. George W. Loft's Mabla was third, all at long odds.

Helianthus, Albert Robinson riding, paid $28 to win, Misstep was $11.90 to place and Mabla $28.40 to show. The time was 1:11 1-5, within three-fifths of the record for six furlongs.

Mabla set the pace to the stretch, but finished five lengths back of the two leaders. Misstep was closest to Mabla until displaced by Helianthus.

Black Majesty Tires.

Black Majesty had early speed, but tired. While the track remained fast, as the time shows, it was enough to displease Judge Schilling, the Adolph Spreckels horse, which runs best on a perfectly dry course.

Eight fast sprinters started. The Coe entry of Black Majesty and Masked Ball drew a heavy play as did Judge Schilling.

A large crowd was at the track, and many were compelled to stand out and in the rain.

J. P. White's John F. scored in the sixth race by a nose, passing Polydorous on the rail at the last stride. Rubio was well up, finishing third. The winner paid $13.10. W. Prior had the mount on the winner and made a strong finish. Polydorous, as usual, went into a long lead, but began stopping turning into the stretch. John F. was restrained in the early running, but kept in striking distance of the leaders. Try closed much ground after a bad start. The time was 1:47 2-5.

Frank Grossman's Skyway, with Kurtsinger up, won the first race in the last sixteenth from Mrs. M. Segal's Robot. Parsnip was third, in a nose finish, with Robot for place. Robot, well ridden by A. Greco, led to the stretch, with Walter K. forcing the pace. Walter K. ran out turning into the stretch, and Kurtsinger rushed the Skyway through and took a lead of two lengths. The time for a mile and 70 yards was 1:48 1-5. Skyway paid $6.80. There was a long delay at the post, but the start was good.

Fairdale, $31.30, Wins Second.

G. C. Milton's Fairdale showed improvement under Workman's handling to win the second race by a half length from Black Patricia, which in turn was a neck in front of Make Believe. Berber, the favorite, was far out of it, poorly ridden by the apprentice, V. Arthur, who had been substituted for Accardy. Fairdale went to the front after the field turned from the clubhouse and was ridden out in the stretch. The time was slow, 1:55 4-5, a mile and a furlong. The winner paid $31.50. Tinita, which won at the longest odds of the Maryland season Monday, ran well in this race, but had little chance. Berber's race was the worst he has run this year.

Brandon Mint, carrying the green of the Brandon Stable, and the favorite, led all the way to win the Deep Run Purse, for 2-year-olds. A. Schuttinger's Bonnie Prince, in the field group, was second, and L. E. Keiffer's Daisaburo was third, Arrow fourth. Eddie Barnes never let up on Brandon Mint, and he won by a half length, well in hand. Bonnie Prince closed ground in the stretch. Arrow, which had been the contender, dropped back to fourth during the stretch drive. The time was 1:12 2-5. The winner paid $4.80, while the field was $14.10 for place. Twelve started. The start was good.

A. Schuttinger's Dark Seeker won the Vanity Purse by a length, with S. W. Labrot's Boscobel second and the Kilrane Stable's Diane de Poitiers, third. The winner, well ridden by A. Ambrose, paid $15. The race was run in a downpour of rain which made it almost impossible for the race fans to see the horses except directly in front of the stand.

Jockey W. Prior scored a double, taking the riding honors for the day, in piloting home the winners of the last two races. In the seventh, in which Scot Free won by four lengths, he kept the horse under stout restraint until he reached the stretch, and then drew away.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SKYWAY, $6.80, $4.50, $3.70; ROBOT, $4.00, $3.30; PARSNIP, $11.90.

SKYWAY improved his position when settled on the back stretch, responded stoutly for the final issue, wore down ROBOT and drew clear under stout pressure. ROBOT, steadied in front, shook off keen contention from WALTER K., but was unable to stay with the winner when the final test came. PARSNIP, in a forward position throughout, finished gamely and would have beaten ROBOT in a few more strides. WALTER K. was used up racing with ROBOT in the opening six furlongs and tired.

SECOND RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 1:41. Off at 1:45½. Winner, G. C. Milton's b. g. (5), by Ormondale—Fair Phantom. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:41 3-5, 1:55 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FAIRDALE, $31.50, $13.70, $7.20; BLACK PATRICIA, $17.40, $9.30; MAKE BELIEVE, $4.40.

FAIRDALE, close up from the start, assumed command leaving the back stretch, swerved out badly during the stretch run but, holding on stoutly, outstayed BLACK PATRICIA. Latter, crowded back approaching the final turn, came again when securing clear passage and finished with good courage. MAKE BELIEVE, away in a tangle and shuffled back early, improved his position and closed strong. SWATTER, messed about and all over the track for the entire trip, finished full of run when too late.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; allowances. The Deep Run. For 2-year-old colts and geldings. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:15. Off at 2:16. Winner, Brandon Stable's b. c. (2), by Stimulus—Largo. Trained by F. M. Bray. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 3-5, 1:12 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BRANDON MINT, $4.80, $3.70, $3.10; BONNIE PRINCE (field), $14.10, $7.70; DAISABURO, $4.30.

BRANDON MINT, away in the first flight and showing good speed, raced ARROW into defeat, but had to be kept under stout pressure to withstand BONNIE PRINCE. Latter, rated close up, secured racing room next the inner rail during the stretch run and was wearing the winner down gradually. DAISABURO broke alertly, but lacked early speed, settled in his stride and, taking a wide course, finished full of run. ARROW, a keen factor early, lost ground entering the home stretch, but continued resolutely thereafter. WAR PLANE secured racing room after being in tight quarters early and made up ground steadily.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,400; allowances. The Vanity. For 2-year-old fillies. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:49. Off at 2:52. Winner, A. Schuttinger's b. f. (2), by Traumer—Sun Quest. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 2-5, 1:12.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DARK SEEKER, $15.40, $6.70, $6.30; BOSCOBEL, $4.80, $3.20; DIANE DE POITIERS, $4.80.

DARK SEEKER, outrun for the first half mile, swung to the outside of the leaders when moving up, came with excellent speed in the final drive and, displacing the leaders inside the final furlong, was moving clear at the end. BOSCOBEL, stoutly ridden to take command, saved all possible ground, but was unable to withstand the winner. DIANE DE POITIERS, hustled hard from the start to hold her position on the inside, continued gamely for the final test. AT SUNRISE broke well, but lacked early speed. He closed with good energy in the closing drive.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,400; allowances. The Bay Shore. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:20. Off at 3:23. Winner, Brookmeade Stable's b. c. (3), by Sun Flag—Multiflora. Trained by G. R. Tompkins. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:46 3-5, 1:11 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HELIANTHUS, $28.30, $16.90, $9.20; MISSTEP, $11.90, $7.80; MABLA, $28.40.

HELIANTHUS, going in his best form, raced close to the leaders in the first half mile, finished in determined fashion when taken to the outside for the stretch drive, displaced MABLA and, holding on stubbornly, outstayed MISSTEP. Latter, in the thick of contention from the start, responded to punishment and fought it out gamely. MABLA had keen early speed, raced JUDGE SCHILLING and BLACK MAJESTY into defeat, saved ground, but faltered in the closing furlong.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:51. Off at 3:54. Winner, J. P. White's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—JOHN F., $13.10, $7.50, $4.90; POLYDORUS, $4.90, $3.70; RUBIO, $3.80.

JOHN F., restrained in a forward position for the first six furlongs, came courageously for the final drive and finished resolutely under vigorous urging, wore POLYDORUS down to get up in the concluding strides. POLYDORUS opened up a commanding lead while saving much ground, was shaken up vigorously when challenged, but weakened from his early efforts. RUBIO made a stout effort midway of the far turn, drew up to the pacemakers nearing the final furlong pole, but faltered thereafter. SIR BYRON, badly outrun early, came stoutly in the closing stages.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:25. Off at 4:30. Winner, T. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SCOT FREE, $8.00, $4.80, $3.30; COADY, $9.20, $6.20; EGAD, $7.70.

SCOT FREE, much the best, was taken up going to the first turn, lost considerable ground, weaved his way through his opposition until approaching the far turn, came very wide thereafter and, finishing with high speed, wore the leaders down to win in easy fashion. COADY, well placed from the start, came through on the inside of the leaders and closed gamely. EGAD worked his way up on the outside and came willingly for the final test. DOUBLE O, prominent throughout, bore over and interfered with KEITH and then weakened.

RACING NOTES AT BOWIE

Special to The Washington Post.

BOWIE RACE TRACK, Nov. 18.—Thomas J. Healey, popular trainer of the Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney string, has an army of racegoers pulling for his charges to shatter the all-time American money winning record of $438,849 hung out in 1923 by the Rancocas State. To date, the Whitney string has amassed $412,500.

Doc Watson, whose string is quartered at Laurel, has changed his mind about shipping to New Orleans, but will remain around until after the conclusion of this meeting.

Joe Martinelli, who has been riding in nice form this fall, has several offers for winter jobs. Joe won six races at Laurel, two at Pimlico and one here. He has seventeen more winning mounts left before he loses his apprenticeship and can ride at 100 pounds.

Jack Healey, son of Trainer T. J. Healey, will take a division of the C. V. Whitney stable to Miami. It is understood that Smear will be included among his charges.

The horses which Freddie Hopkins has been handling for the C. V. Whitney Stables, will be wintered at the historic old Benning track.

Dame Rumor has it that Trainer Bill Brennan is going to point the Greentree Stable's Byzantine, 2-year-old brown son of Brown Prince 2d and Thecdora for the $50,000 Kentucky Derby next May. The colt, while not considered a topnotcher among this year's juveniles has shown a liking for a route, and it may be that the mile and one-quarter of the Derby will bring out his best.

ALEXANDRIA ELEVEN IS WEAKENED

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Nov. 18.—Head Coach Dr. Carl Dreifus, of the Fraters, is worried over his team's outlook for Sunday's game here with the fast Brookland A. C., of Washington, as five of his players are on the hospital list.

Haywood, star half back, is the newest member to the casualty squad. He reported to Coach Dreifus that he was suffering from a sprained shoulder and would not be right for the Brookland contest.

Sutton Out for Two Weeks.

It developed that Russ Sutton, big tackle, who has been playing the game of his career, will be on the sidelines for two weeks. Sutton received a badly wrenched leg in Sunday's Marion game. He is on crutches. X-ray pictures were taken of the injured member today.

"Bottles" West, tackle, Casey Dennis, end, and Ralph O'Neil, lineman, are also suffering from injured knees. These three boys were out of the Marion battle.

"Dug" Crupper, rated as one of the best backs, in sand-lot football, will probably be ready for the Fraters contest. Crupper scored the Fraters' only 6 points in the battle played in Richmond three weeks ago.

The Alexandria boys must win this game to keep pace with the other teams in the league. Dreifus' Club has yet to suffer a defeat in the contests.

The punting of Parke Bell, former Hargrave Military Academy star, and the return to form of Joe Hamilton, end, has bolstered the attack of the locals. On Friday night, another practice will be held at Baggett's stadium.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

THOMAS COCHRANE was in supreme command of the navies of three different nations.

In the British navy he rose to the rank of flag captain and then was dishonorably discharged. He became successively "admiral and commander in chief of the naval forces of Chile" (after rejecting a similar commission from Spain); "first admiral of Brazil," and "first admiral of Greece." Returning to the British navy, he rose to the rank of admiral ("rear admiral of the United Kingdom").

Strange as it seems—Mrs. Mary Hale, who died in Ellsworth, Me., in 1930, at the age of 82, was the daughter of a senator, the wife of a senator and the mother of a senator. Her father was a senator from Michigan; her husband and son, from Maine . . . The average barber uses more than 500 strokes every time he gives a shave . . . In the Holy City of Mecca, birthplace of Mohammed, no one may take a photograph or even smoke a cigarette. Once on the holy soil, you are not permitted to shed blood, you may not kill a wasp, a mosquito, or even so irritating an insect as a flea . . . Royal purple is not purple . . . Idiots, or weak-minded persons, can not be hypnotized; the more powerful the will, the more easily hypnotized.

—Bowie Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

BOWIE RACE TRACK, Md., Nov. 18.—Bowie's feature, the Glenburnie, fifth on the card, has nine potential starters tomorrow. CON AMORE, the speedy filly, which has beaten some of the best horses in Maryland this fall, is selected to win. She is conceding weight and sex allowance to all the others nominated, as well as age to several of the field. DR. FREELAND, at his best now, gets in the race with 112 pounds, and should be the contender.

DR. FREELAND won a stake at Pimlico. Baron Long, California breeder, is here seeking to purchase DR. FREELAND, a Preakness winner, to run him in the $100,000 Agua Caliente Handicap, but it is doubtful if Walter J. Salmon will part with the horse. TOTE appears next best. Winner of three races at Pimlico, the Wheatley Stable colt has a chance in most any field. He is coupled with BLENHEIM.

FIRST RACE—JACK B. looks best. He ran well in New York and should beat these. HEAVY SUGAR will put up a skirmish for the purse. FAST STORM has worked well. JACK B. last spring was thought to be one of the bread-winners of the C. V. Whitney string.

SECOND RACE—THE HEATHEN is a standout in the second. His weight concession is a small factor, for he is above the others in class. PORTCODINE, under new ownership, was second in a fast field in his last start and will be a contender in this sprint. WESTWARD'S fast workouts should be noted. But it looks like a two-horse race between the two first mentioned.

THIRD RACE—MEEK has the edge in the third race. Scratched at Pimlico, she should be among the favorites in this race, due to her partiality to the Bowie track. CALL PLAY will be a dangerous rival for the purse. But he is a bad luck horse and misses races he appears best in. DAWDALE, in the field, ran a good race at Laurel and should have a chance.

FOURTH RACE — FREDERICK should repeat in the secondary feature. His easy victory Tuesday showed his condition and six furlongs is his best distance. ESPINACA likes a longer route, but should be the contender. MAD FRUMP is easily better than the others.

SIXTH RACE—FULL DRESS has been running in improved fashion and should win, with only 111 pounds up. FRUMPER is rated next best, having the class on WHIPPER CRACKER, but the last named horse has been coming close in his last three races. Full Dress has been running with much better horses than these.

SEVENTH RACE—HOLD, which changed hands at Pimlico, will run for his new owner, and, if he can be gotten away, has enough speed to win. If he gets a bad start, JUDGE CAVERLY should take the purse. REFORM showed speed last out and may go on in this mile and three-sixteenths.

BROOKLAND DRILLS.

All members of the Brookland Boy's Club 150-pound football team are requested to report for practice tomorrow night at 8 o'clock on the field at Twelfth and Quincy streets. Sunday the team plays its most important game of the season when it clashes with the Palace Eleven in The Post's Capital City League.

ALCOVA CHALLENGES.

Manager Charley Deutermann would like to arrange a game for Sunday for his Alcova team with St. Stephen's, Dixie Pigs or Griffith-Blue Coals. He can be reached at Clarendon 1078-J-1 after 7 p. m. or at Adams 5983 during the day.

PIXLEE NAMES FAST G. W. BACK FIELD TO FACE BUTLER

Expects Lone Touchdown To Decide

Combination Will See Action Together for First Time.

COACH JIM PIXLEE is putting it up to his new back field combination of Lee Carlin, Joe Carter, Finis Parrish and Johnny Fenlon in tomorrow night's game in Griffith Stadium with the husky Butler Bulldogs whether or not his George Washington Colonials will be able to repel the bid of the determined visitors.

Realizing that one of his best chances for victory may result from a brilliant touchdown gallop, the G. W. mentor has named his four speediest and best backs for duty, hoping that at least on one occasion one of the quartet breaks loose. All four are highly capable running backs and it will be the first time this year that they have worked as a unit.

Group Together for First Time.

In past games Carlin, Parrish, Fenlon and Carter have never been in the game at the same time. Usually Carlin, Carter and Fenlon played the same position, relieving one another. All have done effective work in the past and with the three of them in the game along with Parrish, who has played more minutes than any G. W. back this fall, at once, the Colonials ought to exhibit more offensive power than they have shown any time this season.

Coach Pixlee is banking heavily on the improved ball running ability of Carlin and Carter for a victory. Carlin has come along strongly since the opening of the season, while Carter, too, has advanced steadily. Tomorrow night Carter is to share with Carlin the major portion of the advancing. He is to do the plunging from full back, while Carlin undoubtedly will specialize in his effective off-tackle slants and end runs. Fenlon and Parris are scheduled to play the wing back positions and do the blocking.

Besides counting upon Carlin for his share of ground gaining, the duty of punting and forward passing will be intrusted to him, too. He is highly proficient in both departments, but will have to look to his laurels in each because Capt. Kenneth Booz, ace of the Butler back field, is said to be one of the best triple threats among the smaller colleges in the Midwest.

DUSEK AND STEELE IN BATTLE TONIGHT

in what light you hold it. Big, rough boys with notorious careers of rough tactics and plentiful victories behind them, Steele and Dusek are expected to bring a light even to those eyes which have been dulled by watching countless mat travesties. Steele should win. Neither is particularly popular here, but there are no local fans who deride the skill of either one.

Tonight's bout should draw the fight fans, too. Both are reformed pugs and hit with little thought to the rules which forbid such things.

The preliminaries promise to be a little better than ordinarily. Matros Kirienko and Chief White Feather mix in perhaps the best of these. Others working tonight are Jonn Katan and Steve Znoski, Herb Freeman and Kankal Zaleriak, and Al Geicewicz and Bennah Ginsberg, the worst wrestler in the history of the game.

WINGFEET PRACTICE.

The Mercury football team, champions of the unlimited class of The Post's Capital City League last season and one of the leading contenders for the honors this year, will work out tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Four-and-a-Half and B streets southwest. All candidates are requested to report ready for a hard drill.

COMPANY A WINS.

Company A, Fort Humphreys Engineers, swamped St. Mary's Celtics at Alexandria last night by a score of 32-14. Al Dorsey took high scoring honors for both teams with four baskets and a foul shot.

BUTLER'S BACK-FIELD THREATS

Hitting the Head Pin

THE Times Terrors, those demons of the mapleways who baffled even the most villainous of bowling teams last season and almost escaped without winning a single match (well, it would have a record if they had succeeded), met and vanquished the Nativity five, of the Holy Name League, at Rendezvous last night.

The match was decided on a total pin basis and the Terrors picked up 79 pins in the final game to finish 68 pins ahead. The final scores were 1,538 to 1,470. Gay Hager's 381 set is a striking example of the dastardly deed committed by the Terrors. Bob Rebholtz, newspaper champion in 1928 and captain of Nativity, spilled the maples for a 308 total.

Joe Toomey pulled one for the books while rolling with S. Kann's Sons in the Business Men's League at Convention Hall last night. The team took the odd game from Hechts and smashed the league set record, hanging up a mark of 1,683, with Joe cast in the role of head man. It was the final game and neither the Kanns Team nor Toomey were doing very well. In fact, the team was trailing its opponent by 59 pins and Joe had a nice, juicy score of 60 for his efforts in seven boxes. But in the eighth, ninth and tenth boxes Dynamite Joe ripped off a trio of strikes and hung 'em up on the scoreboard. That simple act raised his score to 137 and won the game and set for the department store crew.

In the other matches Call Carl and Brodts swept their sets with Briggs Meat Market and Edmonds, respectively. Colonial Ice Cream took two out of three from C. & P., and Convention Hall won all three from Fitzpatrick's Service Station.

E. J. Payne, of Electric Storage Battery, and Andy Barbagallo, Central Armature No. 1, were the turkey winners in the Electrical League at Convention Hall. Payne's high game of 141 won his bird, and Andy's feast was a reward for his 368 set. The matches resulted in Central Armature No. 1's clean sweep from its brother team, No. 2. O. R. Evans was a complete washout, losing three to E. B. Warren, and Creel Bros. No. 2 developed a short circuit and dropped three to Electric Storage Battery.

The leading Marquette team, of the Knights of Columbus League received the shock of its life at Convention Hall when Palos hit it for all three. Santino's 146 game and 376 set failed to save the leaders. In the other matches Balboa won an odd game victory over Trinidad, Genoa took a 2-1 win over De Soto, Nina swept its set with La Salle, Ovando gained the decision over San Domingo, Pinta won from Santa Maria in the final tilt, and Salvador made short work of Columbia, winning all three.

Esther Burton and Eva Gude were the stars of the Convention Hall-Lucky Strike Ladies District League match at Convention Hall. Mrs. Burton's game of 128 and 319 were high for the night, and led the Luckies, while Miss Gude's 111 game and 298 set topped Convention Hall—and Convention Hall won, 2-1.

George Isemann reports entries for the Dixie Sweepstakes on the upward trend with Baltimore pinspillers leading the out-of-town entrants. Ray Von Dreel, individual champ in 1929, was the first to enter, and a good many of the boys are following his example. Applications may be filed with Isemann at his office, 714 Denrike Building.

Petworth took King Pin for a ride in the District League at King Pin No. 2 alleys last night, winning the odd game in a close match. Helpman, of the winners, collected a 363 set, but "Hokie" Smith was just a trifle better, knocking down 387 bottles in his three games. The scores were King Pin, 571, 584, 535; Petworth, 555, 587 and 554.

The bowling enthusiasts of the Capital City Tennis League are still at it. Rock Creek took all three from Pan-American, and Clairemont won the odd game from Edgewood. White took individual honors with games of 131, 94 and 111 for a set of 336. The matches were rolled at King Pin No. 2.

The Five Greeks continued their winning ways in the Business Men's loop with a clean sweep over the Nationals at King Pin No. 2. It's beginning to look like the boys really mean business, or bowling.

The Yards and Docks League, a newcomer to the ranks, got in a couple of licks at Columbia last night. Architects A took the odd game from Architects B, Structural B won all three from Structural A, and Specifications won from Mechanics by a 2-1 score.

In the Bureau of Standards League rolled at the same establishment, Cermos won from Technologists, 2-1, Engineers took Industrial for all three, and B. P. U. treated Piles in the same manner. Chemists gained the decision over Mimeos in the final setto. Leuce's game of 144 and Cragoe's 361 set topped the individual performances. B. P. U. hung up new team game and set records with scores of 590 and 1,647, respectively.

In the Nautical League matches, also rolled at Columbia, Drifters No. 1 took two from the Potomac Boat Club. Bonzai won all three from Washington Canoe No. 2, and Drifter's No. 2 swept its set with El Dorado, Anchors and Colonials eked out one game victories over Washington Canoe No. 3 and Washington Canoe No. 1.

NOTRE DAME WAS GOOD TO NAVY

Motive Could Have Been Very Noble, Says Pegler.

culating the ideal of chivalry in the young, chivalrous acts of the type performed in Baltimore on this occasion are looked upon with suspicion and punished with vigor. So it is fortunate that the prize fight commission has not yet established jurisdiction over intercollegiate football.

It is illuminating to compare Notre Dame's treatment of the Navy team with the treatment accorded the Pennsylvania boys at South Bend. The Pennsylvania team, which is supposed to be considerably better than Navy, was firmly put down by a large score, and the inference might be drawn that the Pennsylvanians got fresh to Notre Dame. But, then, it must be remembered that Pennsylvania's coach, Mr. Harvey Harman, is not a Notre Dame alumnus, but comes from Pitt. True, he, too, is a nice young man trying to get along in his first year on his job, but blood is thicker than water, and, moreover, Mr. Harman teaches the Warner system of football, which, to the Notre Dame nation, is about the same as the goose-step is to the French nation.

Navy's Duties Curtailed.

I did not see the Pennsylvania game, but I was reading last week an article by Mr. Frank Carideo, quarter back of last year's Notre Dame team, in which he said his team huddled just once in his entire career and huddled that once only to kill time. They would engage in a dummy huddle and the quarter back would then sing his signals, as used. The same process was revived at Baltimore, and Navy's defensive duties were greatly curtailed, not only by this detail but also by a leisurely and forbearing quality of the attack.

Mr. Benny Friedman, the Yale coach and professional player, who watched the game as a professional expert, concurred in the general impression that the winners were not bearing down any more than just enough. In fact, their very nonchalance throughout the game was further evidence of their own great superiority, and again one thinks of a great artist in the ring, amusing himself with a respectful third-rater.

If an opponent gets fresh there is only one thing to do with him. He must be disciplined with a firm hand.

Leo P. Flynn Did Friend a Favor.

Mr. Leo P. Flynn once wished to do a favor for a sport writer who had bought a heavyweight pugilist for $500, part cash, at an auction of the effects of a big operator who was going away for a long, long time. The pugilist had no reputation, however, and it was impossible to get any matches for him, a fact which bothered the sport writer very much. Out of the kindness of his heart, Mr. Flynn therefore offered to give him a fight with his colored champion, the Jamaica Kid.

"We will gallop ten rounds, and if your boy is nice we will take good care of him," Mr. Flynn said. "Then you can take him out and make some money with him, because it isn't every bum that can go ten rounds with the Jamaica Kid. I am doing this for you because I wish to help you, but, remember, your mugg must not get fresh."

But on the night of the contest, the sport writer's mugg got very fresh, indeed, and smacked Mr. Flynn's Jamaica Kid a hard hook on the chin in the first round.

"The Kid was very well mannered," Mr. Flynn related, "so he did not smack back but waited until the round was over to consult me. When he came to his corner, he said, 'Mist' Flynn, 'at white boy done bus' me one.' 'I know he did,' Mr. Flynn exclaimed, very angry. 'It was very dastardly of him to do so. Very, very dastardly, and I want you to go right out there and pop him out as soon as the bell rings.'"

So the Jamaica Kid popped him out at once, and when the sport writer came around to protest, Mr. Flynn broke off relations for life.

"'You are no sportsman,' Mr. Flynn said. 'It is your type that brings discredit on the grand old game of pugilism, which I hold dear.'"

But there was nothing dastardly about Navy's conduct. Navy did not get fresh.

Apaches Seek Revenge In Mohawk Contest

With only a slim mathematical chance of getting back in the running for the South Atlantic League title, the chief mission of the Apaches Sunday will be revenge. True, the Mohawks were only able to tie the Little Indians in their previous clash, but the Apaches feel that the whole world is against them now and as the success of any Apache season is judged by the result of the Mohawk battle, they will be out to fight all the way.

Coach Jim Farrell is busy trying to work up some "neighborhood spirit" in the Apaches. They are determined to make amends for their poor showing against the Celtics and would like nothing better than to throw a wrench in the championship hopes of the Mohawks.

GOLF CHIEFS TO ACT ON BALL

Meet Today; Walker Cup Matches Next Year Doubtful.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

THE executive committee of the United States Golf Association will hold its fall meeting today in the Hotel Biltmore, New York City. A full attendance is expected inasmuch as many important matters are to be considered.

Not only will the place and date of the annual meeting to be held some time next January be determined, but it is asserted that final action will be taken in regard to the new ball. Up to the present time the official weight of the new ball has not been made public, although many manufacturers have already placed on the market a ball which is 1.68 inches in diameter, the size of the present ball, and 1.62 ounces in weight, which was the weight of the ball last year. It was supposed that these figures represented the standard ball of the new year.

1.62 Ounce Limit Expected.

On the contrary, the outlook is that the U. S. G. A. officials will decide upon a ball "not exceeding" 1.62 ounces in weight. This will allow players who desire to continue the use of the present ball an opportunity to do so, besides which it is stated that the manufacturers have found that a ball weighing 1.58 or 1.59 ounces, as against the 1.55 of the present ball and the 1.62 of the proposed change, gives greater satisfaction to the golfers, who are said to find the 1.62 ball too heavy in proportion to its size. It is probable that the majority of the balls manufactured will be 1.59 ounces, although any ball may be used, whatever its weight, that does not exceed 1.62 ounces.

While no definite announcement may be made concerning the anticipated Walker Cup matches in Great Britain next year, it is stated that there is little probability that this contest will be staged.

Three reasons are assigned for its abandonment—first, the depression in England; second, the fact that the British team is weary of making continual unsuccessful attempts to win the trophy, and, third, the friction existing between the Royal and Ancient of St. Andrews and the British Golfing Union.

The latter organization objects to the manner in which it has been ignored in the matter of selecting the British team and claims that the personnel chosen by the Royal and Ancient was largely dependent upon personal favoritism.

At the meeting today the dates and courses for the major golf tournaments in the United States next year will be named.

Boston, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—A move to broaden the Ryder Cup golf matches between the United States and England into a world-wide competition similar to the Davis Cup tennis play was made today during the closing session of the Professional Golfers Association convention.

The proposal, made by George Sargent, former open champion, from Columbus, Ohio, aroused such interest among the golfing delegates that they appointed a committee to study the subject.

Gunners Meet Mercury In Capital City League

Battle for Unlimited Lead Feature Sunday; Brookland and Palace in Outstanding 150-Pound Contest.

FOR the third successive week a battle for the leadership of the unlimited division of The Post's Capital City League, this time between the Seaman Gunners and champion Mercury eleven, will feature a program of nine league tilts. Gonzaga Field will be the scene of hostilities. The Gunners top the loop at present with eight points to their credit and the champs are lodged in the runner-up berth, deadlocked with the Brookland aggregation at seven points.

While the leadership question is being argued out Benning way, Brookland will be at Alexandria, in the role of Horatius at the bridge, attempting to stop the runaway Fraters. Three District elevens, including the strong Gunners and Marions, have failed in this respect, and while the fourth applicant for the position does not seem to possess the desired qualifications, it will make a strenuous effort to succeed. Del Ray and the Marions will come to grips at Silver Spring in the only other tilt listed in this division.

150-Pounders Offer Battles.

The 150-pound division menu is just as tempting as that offered by the larger teams, inasmuch as Brookland will oppose the undefeated and untied Palace team at Seat Pleasant in the headliner. Brookland, the surprise team of this division, is conceded a good chance of stopping the Southwest gang. Jim Howes' boys are in a tough spot, for a victory will only serve to throw the league into a three-way tie with Palace, the champion Centennials and Brookland knotted.

The other games in the 150-pound division will find Brentwood pitted against the Meridians, Petworth opposing Columbia and the Stantons trying conclusions with the Northern Preps. Brentwood will find a worthy foe in the spunky little Meridian Team. The boys from Columbia Heights have fought like demons from the start of the season until now, and they show no sign of weakening.

The Pennants rank slight favorites over the Columbias, although both clubs have been hit hard by injuries and this may put them on a par basis. The Northerns are favored to stop the Stantons, but not by such long odds after the way the green-jerseyed Northeast crew played against Palace last Sunday.

A game of championship caliber will ring down the curtain in the 135-pound division. Its running mate will be a battle between two clubs seeking to evade the disgrace of the cellar position. St. Stephen's, riding out in front, must gain at least a tie with the Federals to tie the Northeast Trojans for the crown. A victory for the West Enders will give them the title outright. The Northeast Motors and Notre Dame Preps are the principals in the cellar fight. The latter stand the best chance of finishing on top.

UNLIMITED DIVISION.

Brookland vs. Fraters, Alexandria, 2:30 p. m.
Mercury vs. Seaman Gunners, Gonzaga Field, 2:30 p. m.
Del Ray vs. Marions, Silver Spring, 2:30 p. m.

Wilson Teachers' Five Bows to Business, 21-10

The day after its ill-starred football team ceased its sorry operations the Business High Basket Ball Team, which can hold its own in any high school competition, opened its season yesterday with a 21-to-10 victory over the newly formed Wilson Teachers in the Business gymnasium.

The Stenogs, with two players from the 1930 team in the line-up, Esenstad and Sherman, were slow to start, amassing only 5 points in the first half, as did the Teachers, but Esenstad got his shooting range thereafter and the game was soon in the hands of his team.

NOEL HOUSE IDLE.

Due to the cancellation of its game with the Potomac A. C. the Noel House 135-pound football team is without a game for Sunday. It would like to arrange a contest with any strong team in its class, particularly the Palace eleven. The manager of the latter club is requested to call Lincoln 2901 after 7 p. m.

Federal Court Loop Names Gauzza Head

Vic Gauzza was elected president of the newly organized Federal Basket Ball League at a meeting held at Vic's Sport Shop last night. J. Earle Moser was elected secretary-treasurer. The number of teams entered in the loop was raised to seven with the addition of the Playground Teachers, Naval Hospital and Interior Department quints last night. One franchise is still open.

The league will open about December 15. Under rules adopted last night teams will be permitted to use only those players employed in the department supporting the team, and although there is no limit to the number of players a team may have, no additions will be permitted after the first half. Two halves will be played with the winners of each meeting in a series to determine the champion.

NORTHERNS MEET.

An important meeting of the Northern Athletic Club will be held Friday night at 8:30 o'clock at the home of Ted Otte, 5213 Georgia avenue northwest. All members of the club are requested to attend as important matters will be discussed. Any prospective members are also invited to be present.

GONZAGA TO CLASH WITH CENTRAL

THE HIGH school series, with its noisy bands, uneven scale of competition and big galleries, is once more a matter of scholastic athletic history, but its closing in no way writes finis to the high school football year. There are five notable games left, each of them able to hold its own as a major attraction of the schoolboy year.

Gonzaga and Central hook up tomorrow afternoon at Central Stadium in one of the biggest games of the year, and the second meeting between the schools since 1925, when Gonzaga, through the efforts of Johnny Bozek, won a thrilling 7-3 victory. Last year Central more than atoned for this with a smooth 12-0 win, but this year the odds swing toward Gonzaga to turn in a handy win.

Many Rate Gonzaga At Top.

The Gonzaga team this year has everything a coach could desire, and many followers of schoolboy ball rank it the best in the city. Central has a slightly larger team, but lacks the aggressiveness, speed and general skill of the Purple. It is Gonzaga's final game, but Central will meet Washington-Lee High the following Friday in a charity C Club game.

Western High's collection of hefties engage in their final game of the year tomorrow against Washington-Lee, at Ballston. The Westerners, for all their might and main, will have a time downing the Virginians, who, last year, had one of the best teams in this section of the country.

St. John's and Georgetown Prep hook up tomorrow afternoon at Eastern, in what should be one of the most evenly contested games of the year, with the odds very slightly bending toward the Saints. St. Alban's meets Christ Church at Christ Church, Va., Saturday, while Emerson plays its final game of the year the same day against Staunton, at Staunton, Va.

Hyattsville High Bows To Lackey at Soccer

Lackey High School soccer team, of Indian Head, champion of Charles County, won their first game in the Maryland State series when they conquered Hyattsville High, Prince Georges County champion, 3 to 2, in a game requiring two extra periods yesterday on the Monument Grounds.

STOCKS SELL LOWER IN QUIETER MARKETS

Copper and Rails Record Heavier Losses; Steel Drops 3 Points.

New York, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Stocks gave up without a struggle today, declining steadily from the opening and reaching their lows in the last hour.

Weak commodity prices, unfavorable action on some railroad dividends, the copper situation and negative midweek trade reports dictated the reaction, which averaged 3 points and put the market back to the level of late October.

Bar silver softened both here and in London, while wheat dropped 2 cents and more, carrying other grains with it. Cotton sagged somewhat reluctantly, but could not fight the trend of other markets and closed 40 to 60 cents a bale lower.

Copper and Rails Weak.

Copper and rail stocks appeared to be the weakest groups, although there were numerous soft spots in others. U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can and Allied Chemical lost 3 points or so net.

American Smelting and Eastman were down 5; General Motors, Union Carbide, Case, Consolidated Gas, Kennecott, Anaconda, Coca Cola and Corn Products about 2. Pennsylvania, New York Central, Illinois Central, Union Pacific, Delaware & Hudson, Westinghouse and Western Union touched new lows. Trading, however, was quiet, although sales of 1,692,249 shares were the largest of the week.

The steel industry is holding its recent gains, but is unable to extend them, Iron Age placing current operations at 31 per cent of capacity, unchanged from a week ago. This is an unadvantageous basis, but it compares favorably with the extreme lows touched in October.

November Is Ahead.

November so far is running 10 per cent ahead of last month on a daily basis and any marked pick-up in automobile demand will be quickly reflected.

Word that the British government did not plan an early return to the gold standard had little effect on exchange and sterling closed steady at $3.77 for cables. Banking circles feel the question of stabilization is so large that hasty action toward restoring gold might not be desirable. Britain's first concern is to be the balancing of the budget and the correction of her trade balance.

Bearish estimates of Farm Board stocks and of European crop prospects, together with weakness abroad and the uninspiring action of stocks, contributed to wheat's break. At the close futures were down approximately 2 cents a bushel, while corn was 1 to 1½ cents off.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—A slight opening advance in cotton today on trade buying and covering was followed by declines under liquidation of old long accounts, combined with some local and Southern selling. Prices eased from 6.45 to 6.31 for January, or about 9 points net lower. January closed at 6.32, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 8 to 12 points.

The opening was steady, 1 to 4 points higher on some covering by near-month shorts and trade buying in the later deliveries. The demand for December was quite readily supplied by a renewal of liquidation, however, and the general list worked gradually lower during the balance of the day under comparatively moderate offerings. There was some Southern selling here at the start and again toward the close, but offerings from that source were not materially in evidence, according to local brokers and the selling was attributed largely to liquidation. December contracts sold off from the early high of 6.35 to 6.20, while May declined from 6.79 to 6.65, and the market closed within a point or two of the lowest.

The action of the wheat and stock markets was considered a disappointment to recent buyers, and supposed to account largely for the selling, while the liquidation of December contracts had rather an unsettling effect which probably contributed to the decline. An early decline in silver was mentioned as another factor on the selling, although this was followed by rallies with a somewhat irregular closing.

The rains reported in the central belt and western sections of the Eastern belt seemed to attract very little attention. A private report placing ginnings prior to November 14 at 13,853,209 bales, making an outturn for the last period of 1,722,653 bales, compared with 1,098,932 for the same period last season, appeared to be without much effect on the immediate market. The census report on ginnings will be issued next Saturday.

Liverpool cables reported trade and Bombay buying in that market and said there was an increased cloth inquiry from India. Exports today, 34,945 bales, making 2,405,970 so far this season. Port receipts, 48,728. United States port stocks, 4,651,839.

Curb Review

New York, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—The curb market sagged in sympathy with other financial markets today, but trading was quiet, the turnover of 240,000 shares duplicating yesterday's.

Utilities were rather actively sold, and the coppers, a minor group in this market, declined substantially, reflecting failure of leading producers to agree upon a plan of reducing output. Oils held fairly well, easing fractionally here and there.

Electric Bond & Share dropped about a point to a price of 18. Middle West Utilities sold off a point to 9½, then recovered to close at 10. Northern States Power A, a lightly traded issue, lost 2¼. American Gas & Electric and United Light "A" declined fractionally.

In the coppers, Newmont dropped 2½ to 17. The year's low was 13⅝. United Verde Extension sold off ¾ of a point to 4, a new low. Roan Antelope, an African producer, declined ¾ of a point to 8¼. It has sold as low as 8 this year.

Among industrials and specialties, Aluminum Co. lost about 3 points, Deere fell back nearly 2, and Cord Corporation lost 1. Ground Gripper, a rarely traded issue, appeared at one-half of 1 point. The previous appearance in this market was at 4. Radio-Keith-Orpheum rights closed at ½, up 1-16 of a point.

BONDS REPEAT DROP WITH RAILS LEADING

Federal Issues Join Others in Losses; Passing of Dividends Reacts.

New York, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Bonds closed generally lower today after quiet trading in most issues. Sales on the stock exchange aggregated $9,428,000, which is fairly comparable with the recent turnover rates.

The downward trend was less marked among utility loans than in the rail, industrial or foreign issues. The average closing price of 60 corporate bonds was 83, a net loss of seven-tenths of a point. The decline was fairly general, but not uniform.

Railroad obligations as a rule scored larger losses than other domestic issues. Some foreign bonds proved much more vulnerable than others.

Liberty and United States Treasury issues were firm or slightly higher during the forenoon but reversed their trend in the second half of the session and closed slightly lower. The volume was not particularly heavy. Total sales of this group approximated only $1,000,000.

The passing of common and preferred dividends by the Chicago & Northwestern in the early afternoon accelerated the downturn in the carrier loans. Active rails to lose 1 point or more included Baltimore & Ohio 4½s of 1933, which reached a new low at 88, and the 4½s of 1960; Canadian Pacific 4½s of 1946 and of 1960, Chesapeake & Ohio general 4½s, St. Paul 5s of 1975 and general 4½s, Rock Island 4s of 1934, Denver & Rio Grande Western 5s of 1955 and of 1978, Erie 5s of 1967 and of 1975, several issues of Missouri Pacific 5s, Chicago & Northwestern 6½s of 1936 and Southern Pacific 4s of 1955.

These losses were larger than most, although weakness cropped out in other groups also. One of the most conspicuous examples of the latter appeared in Western Union obligations, whose net losses ranged from 2 to 6 points following weakness in the stock.

Some fairly wide declines appeared among Argentine and German obligations. The price movement of other foreign issues was rather irregular.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Almost a complete halt in North American wheat export business, together with a sudden drop in Liverpool quotations, gave grains an all-around tumble today. In addition a decidedly unsettling factor was a report by a leading British authority that Europe's 1931 wheat crop, not including Russia, would total 37,000,000 bushels more than last year's production. There was also increased selling pressure owing to assertions that the aggregate of United States Government sponsored holdings of wheat on September 1 was 194,000,000 bushels.

Wheat closed nervous, 1¾@2⅜ cents under yesterday's finish, rye 2⅛@3 down, corn ⅞@1⅛ off, oats at ⅜@⅝ decline and provisions unchanged to 25 cents lower.

Putting wheat bulls at a further disadvantage was general belief that the huge amount of domestic wheat reported as in the hands of Federal Farm Board allies was the total after deducting foreign sales of Government-financed wheat. Traders friendly to higher prices expressed keen disappointment also over the meagerness of today's export call for wheat from North America. The business done from the United States and Canada together being but 300,000 bushels. This was partly ascribed to an official report saying wheat crop conditions in Argentina were generally favorable. A statement differing from recent unofficial advices of damage which the official report discredited except that in some districts of Pampas Province frost injury might be 50 per cent.

Announcements that the British government would introduce a wheat quota system tended further to stimulate price downturns. Besides, it was noted that the new British trade estimate of Europe's 1931 wheat crop outside of Russia would be 11,800,000 bushels larger than shown in latest figures received by the United States Department of Agriculture. Drought complaints from the western part of Kansas and Nebraska were intensified, but failed to act as a counterbalance.

Corn, rye and oats gave way with wheat, the abnormal position of corn supplies being overshadowed for at least the time being as a result of wheat action.

Provisions lacked buying support, despite upturns in hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—December, 57¾, 60¾@60⅞; March, 60⅝, 63½; May, 62@62⅛, 65⅛; July, 62¼, 65⅝. Corn—December, 43⅝, 45¾; March, 48½, offers; May, 47⅝@47¾, 52@50⅛; July, 49¼, 51⅝.

New York, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Net income for the first nine months this year, as reported by 304 large industrial, rail and utility corporations, aggregated $696,312,000, a decrease of 42.4 per cent from $1,209,573,000 reported by the same companies for the comparable period of 1930.

The Iron Age composite prices remain unchanged at last week's levels—2.116 cents a pound for finished steel, $14.96 a gross ton for pig iron, and $8.75 a ton for steel scrap. Finished steel is 38 cents a ton below its price of a year ago, the pig iron average is down $1.17 a ton and scrap is $2.92 lower.

Stockholders of New York Fire Insurance Co. and Bronx Fire Insurance Co. have approved the proposed merger of the two companies, subject to approval of the State superintendent of insurance. The consolidated company will operate under the name of New York Fire Insurance Co. and will continue under the underwriting management of Corroon & Reynolds, Inc.

Production of electricity in the United States by the electric light and power industry for the week ended November 14 showed a decrease from the preceding week. The total of 1,623,151,000 kilowatt hours, however, showed a decline of 5.2 per cent from a year ago, compared with a drop of 5.8 per cent shown by the previous week.

Sales of the Kroger Grocery & Baking Co. for the four weeks ended November 7 amounted to $17,911,347, a decrease of 11 per cent from $20,114,732 reported for the corresponding period last year. Stores in operation this year numbered 4,890, a decrease of 6 per cent from the number of units a year ago.

EARNINGS AND DIVIDENDS.

New York, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—The fiscal year ended September 30 brought increased earnings for the Kelvinator Corporation over the preceding year, and the three months ended September 30, the last quarter of the fiscal year, produced a profit for the first time in Kelvinator history, the company's annual report today showed. The full year's results showed a 10 per cent increase in earnings over the previous year and a gain of 44 per cent over the 1929 fiscal year, the report said.

Net profit for the year ended September 30 was $1,761,709, equal to $1.53 a share on the common, compared with $1,601,016, or $1.35 a share, for the preceding fiscal year. These figures do not include that portion of profit of Kelvinator of Canada, Ltd., applicable to the common stock of that concern held by Kelvinator Corporation, and amounting this year to $62,413.

Kenvinator of Canada reported net profit of $132,149 after payment of Dominion income tax. Refrigeration Discount Co., the Kelvinator wholly owned subsidiary handling consumer paper for Kelvinator and Leonard outlets, reported net profit of $176,135, compared with $161,716 for the preceding year.

American Safety Razor Corporation and subsidiaries reported for the September quarter net profit of $207,095, equal to $1.03 a share, against $287,695, or $1.44 a share, in the preceding quarter, and $392,627, or $1.96 a share, in the third quarter last year.

North Central Texas Oil Co. reported for the September quarter net loss of $8,098, against net profit of $63,414 in the third quarter of 1930.

Park & Tilford, Inc., estimates September quarter net loss at $74,379, against net loss of $14,426 in the like period last year.

Pet Milk Co. has resumed payment of dividends on the common stock with a declaration of 25 cents a share, payable January 1, to stock of record December 11. Quarterly dividends of 37½ cents previously were paid, but the common payment was omitted last May.

Paraffin Companies, Inc., declared a dividend of 75 cents a share on the common, payable December 28 to stock of record December 17. Previously the company paid $1 quarterly.

The Southern Pacific Co. today declared a quarterly dividend of $1 on the common stock, reducing the annual rate to $4 from $6 paid previously. The $6 annual rate has been maintained since 1908, when it was increased from $5.25 paid in 1907. The dividend is payable January 2 to stock of record November 24.

R. H. Macy declared the usual extra dividend of 5 per cent in stock in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents, payable February 15 to stock of record January 22.

Chicago & Northwestern Railway has omitted the semiannual dividend on the common stock and the semiannual dividend on the 7 per cent preferred stock due at this time.

American Telephone & Telegraph Co. directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2.25 a share, payable January 15 to stock of record December 19.

J. I. Case Co. has declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the preferred stock, payable January 1 to stock of record December 12.

CHIEFS CITE FUTURE OF TRANSPORTATION

Rivers and Harbors Session Here December 8 Is to Include Symposium.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

A symposium, "The Future of Transportation," will feature the speaking program of the twenty-seventh convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress at the Willard Hotel, December 8 and 9. In this symposium, the future of the great means of transportation will be discussed as follows: Waterways, Roy Miller, vice president Intracoastal Canal Association; highways, Ivan Bowen, general counsel Greyhound Lines, Inc.; airways, F. R. Neely, chief aeronautic information division, Department of Commerce. Speakers for railways and pipe lines will be announced later.

F. D. Sleeper, general agent for the Aetna Life Insurance Co. for the Washington-Virginia district, thinks there is reason to feel encouraged over the business prospects in his territory. While there have been discouraging reports from some sections of the country, indicating a slight reduction in the amount of life insurance written in 1931, business of the Aetna Life Insurance Co. for the Washington-Virginia district has shown a healthy condition.

Life Insurance Grows.

"For the ten months ending October 31 our life insurance business for this district has increased 3 per cent over the same period in 1930," said Mr. Sleeper. "In Washington alone our business has shown a steady growth, while in Virginia business has been considerably better than last year. The reception accorded the representatives of the company has been cordial, indicating, in our estimation, a growth in the necessity for life insurance and a greater desire on the part of clients to familiarize themselves with the advantages that may accrue to the well-informed man in this type of investment and protection for his family and his business.

"The experience of our organization has increased its confidence in business conditions now existing and the prospect for a greater volume the coming year. I have reason to believe that the volume of life insurance written in this district in 1932 will be the largest in the history of the Washington-Virginia agency."

All officers of the Washington Stock Exchange were reelected as follows at the annual meeting yesterday: Edward L. Hillyer, Union Trust Co., president; C. J. Gockeler, District National Bank, vice president; Y. E. Booker, Y. E. Brooker & Co., secretary; James M. Johnston, James M. Johnston & Co., treasurer. Mr. Gockeler and John F. Brawner, of Waggaman, Brawner & Co., were elected to membership on the board of governors composed of the officers and Karl W. Corby, of W. B. Hibbs & Co. Charles E. Howe, American Security & Trust Co., and Myles H. Quail, Y. E. Booker & Co., will serve as the auditing committee.

Transactions on Exchange.

The year's transactions on the exchange up to November 14 were as follows:

Prosecutor Says Woman Admits Two Slayings

Pekin, Ill., Nov. 18 (A.P.).—State's Attorney Louis Dunkelberg announced tonight that Mrs. Alice Mason, 50-year-old widow, of Delavan, Ill., had signed a statement admitting she killed her husband, John, a year ago, and her daughter, Mildred, 12, last August, with poison.

Mrs. Mason charged, Dunkelberg said, that the poison was supplied her by Dr. B. M. Barringer, who signed the girl's death certificate. The State's attorney said, however, that he doubted the physician participated in the alleged plot.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau. Washington, Wednesday, Nov. 18—8 p. m.

Forecast for the District of Columbia—Cloudy and cooler Thursday; Friday, showers; gentle northeast, shifting to east or southeast winds, increasing Friday.

For Maryland—Cloudy and cooler Thursday; Friday, showers; moderate northeast, shifting to east or southeast winds, increasing Friday.

For Virginia—Cloudy and somewhat cooler, with showers in south portion, Thursday; Friday, showers; gentle to moderate shifting winds, becoming easterly.

The northern disturbance is centered tonight east of Hudson Strait, Resolution Island, 28.98 inches, with a trough extending southward to the Straits of Belle Isle and thence southwestward to Maine. Another disturbance is developing over the southern Rocky Mountain region and Texas, Del Rio, Tex., 29.80 inches, and pressure is low and falling over southeastern Alaska and British Columbia, Ketchikan, Alaska, 29.42 inches. These disturbances have been attended by general rains in the North Pacific States, and east of the Mississippi River, except in portions of the Atlantic States, and by local snows in the plateau and northern Rocky Mountain regions. The rainfall was rather heavy from Michigan southward to the interior of Alabama and Mississippi, Montgomery, Ala., reporting the greatest amount, 1.42 inches. An area of high pressure is moving rapidly eastward over the lake region, Ontario and Quebec, Doucet, Quebec, 30.42 inches, another has moved inland from the Pacific ocean over Oregon and northern Canada, Eureka, Calif., 30.42 inches, and presurse remains high from southern Newfoundland southward and southwestward over the ocean, Cape Race, Newfoundland, 30.36 inches. The temperature has risen in the Atlantic States, and it has fallen in the lake region, the Ohio Valley, and the plateau and Rocky Mountain regions. Unseasonably warm weather still prevails east of the Mississippi River.

General forecast for the Atlantic States, the lower lake region, the Ohio Valley and Tennessee: The Texas disturbance will move northeastward, and it will likely be attended by showers over practically all sections, except the Florida Peninsula, within the next 48 hours. The weather will continue generally fair Thursday, however, in the Northeastern States. The temperatures will continue above normal during the next two days, but it will be somewhat lower in the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States Thursday, and in western Kentucky and western Tennessee Friday afternoon.

PRICES ARE MISLEADING

The value of a used automobile is governed by the number of miles it will run at a reasonable cost per mile plus appearance, plus comfort and ease of handling.

Our cars are guaranteed as to condition. You can judge the appearance, and a ride will demonstrate the comfort and ease of handling.

See these cars, ride in them and get our prices and terms before deciding on any used car. You will be well repaid for your time.

DELAY IN PURCHASE OF LAND FOR RENO SCHOOL FACES QUIZ

Post Story Basis of Request for Probe to Be Made by Education Board.

INFORMATION SOUGHT FROM COMMISSIONERS

Mrs. Doyle Cites Peril of Two-Year Postponement if Action Lags.

Inquiry into the report that the District Commissioners intend to postpone acquisition of land for a new school in the Reno section until instructions are received from Congress will be made by the Board of Education, it was decided by the board at its meeting yesterday.

Using a story in yesterday's Post as a basis for her action, Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, board member, introduced a motion asking that the District Commissioners be requested to furnish information as to the status of the Reno situation so that the purchase of land might be facilitated. The motion was adopted.

Delays School Building.

Mrs. Doyle pointed out that if the property is not purchased soon that construction of the school will be postponed for two years or more. The board is anxious to have construction of the school start as soon as possible.

Maj. D. A. Davison, acting Engineer Commissioner, in announcing the decision to postpone purchase of the property, explained that negotiations toward acquisition of land has been complicated by objection to the various selected sites by factions of residents in the Reno section. Condemnation proceedings have already been taken against a site at Thirty-eighth and Fessenden streets northwest despite the protest of a number of residents in that vicinity. However, District officials have thought it best to defer actual purchase of the property until the cooperation of Congress in handling the matter can be obtained, Maj. Davison said.

Equipment Approved.

The following recommendations of the committee on buildings, grounds and equipment were approved: That the Commissioners be requested to furnish suitable water service at the Chain Bridge Road School, that the Commissioners be requested to have inspection and adjustment made of heating facilities at the Miner Teachers College, that the Commissioners be requested to give consideration to the installation of acoustical plaster or other sound-absorbing material in different schools.

Ground formerly occupied by portables at Tenth and Franklin streets northeast would be divided from school grounds property by Franklin street and be assigned to the playground department for play purposes, and that a triangular piece of property adjoining the school grounds be purchased by the Park and Planning Commission.

George M. Whitwell, new board member, was appointed by Rabbi Abram Simon, newly elected president of the board, to fill his place as chairman of the finance committee. Mr. Whitwell was also appointed by Dr. Simon to succeed the late Dr. H. B. Learned as the board's representative on the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

H. A. Haines, teacher at Armstrong, was appointed to serve as assistant superintendent of colored schools during the absence of H. H. Long.

Arms Cuts Called Help to Prosperity

Huston Thompson Also Holds World Tariffs Should Be Restudied.

Reduction of armaments and a restudy of international tariffs were advanced as the two major steps necessary to restore normal business functioning by Huston Thompson, former chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, in an address to the Washington Rotary Club yesterday at the Willard.

Mr. Thompson took as his subject "The Road Away From Revolution." He suggested that Congress pass a resolution approving a reduction in armaments up to 50 per cent over a ten-year period with the understanding that all other nations participate.

A total saving of $17,500,000,000 would be effected, which could be used for the clearing up of international debts and for the promotion of productive business enterprise, which would improve employment conditions, Mr. Thompson said.

Other steps advocated by Mr. Thompson included: The restraint of business mergers to protect small but successful industries; a national blue-sky law to protect investors as now enforced in European countries and modification of the patent laws.

Grant Will Be Speaker At Grand Army Reunion

Members of the Department of the Potomac of the Grand Army of the Republic, their wives, and widows of deceased members, will be the guests of honor at a dinner and reception beginning at 7 o'clock tonight at the Burlington Hotel.

The dinner is to be given by the Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey Tent of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, together with the Lincoln, Cushing and Harding Camps of the Sons of Union Veterans and their auxiliaries. Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d will be the principal speaker. A musical program will be offered. All visiting veterans of the Civil War are invited to attend.

Baltimore Philatelists Are Entertained Here

Members of the Washington Philatelic Society last night entertained the Baltimore association at its twenty-sixth annual dinner held in the ballroom of the National Press Club.

More than 80 stamp collectors were present to exhibit their collections valued at several thousand dollars. A resolution expressing appreciation for his long period of service and naming him president emeritus of the society was presented to William A. Johnson.

Skyviews of Washington, No. 19

Fairchild Aerial Surveys, Inc.

The familiar tower of the Postoffice Department is shown farther up Pennsylvania avenue. Behind it are the new Internal Revenue Building and the National Museum (with the dome). The black edifice just discernible behind the museum is the old Smithsonian Institute.

Facing the Postoffice, from across the Avenue is shown the Raleigh Hotel. The Washington Hotel may be seen in the central foreground, and the dark structure just above it, the Willard Hotel.

SUPPLEMENTAL RENTAL SYSTEM IS SUGGESTED

Bear Hunt Is Described and Alaskan Pictures Are Shown at Meeting.

Members of the Federal Bar Association who, together with other government employes, are wondering where they will park their automobiles when they occupy new buildings in the triangle area were informed last night by Col. U. S. Grant 3d that the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, of which he is director, has gone on record favoring construction of garages in new Federal buildings.

This announcement, made public for the first time, was voiced by Col. Grant at a dinner meeting of the association at the Lee House, attended by approximately 300 persons.

Col. Grant said that under the proposed plan the garages would accommodate employes in the various buildings in which they would be built.

Rental Plan Suggested.

Col. Grant admitted that this system of garages would not entirely solve the parking problem in the triangle area. In this connection he spoke in favor of a plan presented by William A. Roberts, assistant corporation counsel, member of the executive committee of the association, for organization of a Federal corporation for condemnation of land for a municipal garage.

Rents would be fixed by a District agency, probably the Public Utilities Commission, and they should not be more than 10 or 15 cents a day, Mr. Roberts said in presenting his proposal last night.

"Such a program on the part of the Federal Government would be no more than has already been done by many progressive employers in private business, and it would pay rich dividends to the Government," said Col. Grant.

Alaskan Hunt Described.

Seth W. Richardson, Assistant Attorney General, gave the association an account of his experiences while bear hunting with Senator Frederick W. Hale, of Maine, on Kodiak Island, off Alaska, last spring. Mr. Richardson said he was almost killed by a 1,500-pound bear when it rolled toward him down a mountain side after he had shot it about six times. A guide fired the fatal shot, saving the Assistant Attorney General from probable death, he said.

This bear, neatly stuffed, is now at the Burning Tree Golf Club. Three bear cubs, caught by Senator Hale, are at the local Zoo.

BEST SECRETARY

MISS KATHERINE L. KRAMER.

Title of Ideal Secretary Is Given to Girl

"Miss Katherine L. Kramer—"

The words came from a radio into the quiet of a home at 1215 Holly street northwest last night. Stephen E. Kramer, assistant superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Kramer waited anxiously.

The same question assailed their minds: "What had happened to Katherine?" She was far away, in Des Moines, Iowa. "Had she been in an accident?"

But in the next instant their anxious expressions were transformed into delighted smiles as the announcement was made that Katherine had been awarded the title of "ideal secretary" by the Alpha Iota Sorority, a national business women's organization now holding its annual convention in Des Moines.

Miss Kramer was selected for the honor, which is made annually, by Harry Kruz, secretary of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. The choice was made on the basis of appearance and efficiency. Nineteen years old, Miss Kramer is the perfect" five feet two, eyes of blue" type. She is a graduate of Central High School and Strayer's Business College.

Miss Kramer's first secretarial position was with the National Education Association. She is now secretary to the head of the Washington branch of the American Nautical Academy, a training school for officers of the Marine Corps.

Interviewed by an Associated Press representative in Des Moines, Miss Kramer summed up her idea of a good secretary as follows: Modish clothes and a pleasant disposition; pleasant relationship with the boss, but no familiarity—and no dates (with him). "This means cheering him up when he is singing the blues, but does not mean holding his hand or patting his head," she explained.

No gum chewing and sparing use of the cigarette and cocktail are the Washington girl's final words of advice to the young woman who intends to make good with typewriter and notebook in the business world.

AMUNDSEN PLANE PHOTOGRAPHS ARE BRANDED SPURIOUS

Capt. Baldwin Says Franz Josef Land Evidence Was "Faked."

EXPLORER SAYS VENDER DID "LIVELY BUSINESS"

Charges that photographs purporting to show Capt. Raold Amundsen's airplane on Franz Josef Land were doctored were made last night by Capt. Evelyn Briggs Baldwin, veteran of Peary's expeditions to the Arctic, in an address at the first meeting of the season of the District Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution at the Mayflower Hotel.

"In the photograph recently published," Capt. Baldwin explained, "is shown an airplane resting on land partly covered with large stretches of snow and ice and otherwise indicating Arctic topography. From these circumstances, as well as the announcement that the photograph had been taken on an expedition to that part of the Arctic world which Amundsen had set out to reach by airplane in June, 1928, it is evident that the vendor of the photograph did a lively business, for at once many sympathetic publishers hastened to suggest that at last some reliable trace of the lost Amundsen party had been found.

'Doctored or Double Exposure.'

"Hoping against hope that this might prove true, I eagerly scrutinized the reproductions of the photograph and was filled with disappointment, not to say anger. Apparently the photograph was the result either of a double exposure or a photograph of a 'doctored' photograph.

Agrees With Foreign Experts.

"It is also noticeable that the white streaks of snow do not blend at any place with the dust-covered patch, but lie across it like narrow bands of rigid paste. And still more striking, the narrow streams of whiteness stretch across gullies and ravines like painted timbers, perfectly rigid, with no snow whatever visible upon the banks or land surfaces at those points.

"This feature alone is sufficient to prove or show the double exposure of the film or perhaps a photograph of a doctored photograph whereby the airplane on a comparatively snowless body of ground, excepting here and there a dust-covered patch, is given the appearance of land much farther north, as in Nansen Land or Spitzbergen."

Capt. Baldwin shared the opinion of Norwegian and French experts who, after examining a damaged pontoon found off the coast of Norway, that Amundsen's plane, the Latham, had fallen into the sea somewhere south of Bear Island.

WAR FLIER ESCAPES HOSPITAL; IS SUICIDE

St. Elizabeths Inmate Kills Self With Shotgun at Baltimore Hotel.

A few hours after he escaped from St. Elizabeths Hospital here, John F. Heinsohn, World War veteran and former naval aviator, killed himself with a shotgun in the Hotel Condon, Baltimore, early yesterday, according to word received here last night.

Heinsohn, according to friends here, was placed in St. Elizabeths to be "watched," after he developed fits of depression and a suicidal mania. He was said to have escaped from the institution Tuesday after he had been released on ground parole to get a shave.

Registering at the Condon as Harold D. Johnson, Baltimore, he went to his room, propped a shotgun between his knees and pulled a string attached to the trigger. Coroner Eugene Zellers said he apparently held the muzzle of the gun in his mouth and discharged the weapon with a string attached to his wrist.

He left two notes, one of them sealed and addressed to his wife at a Washington hotel. The second asked that authorities at St. Elizabeths be notified. Funeral services will be at Arlington Chapel at 11 o'clock tomorrow. Interment will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

District Names Leaders Of Jobless Fund Drive

Appointment of a chairman and 39 vice chairmen to assist the President's committee on employment in its drive for funds to aid the unemployed was announced yesterday by the District Commissioners. This group will have charge of the collections throughout the District government.

Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, is chairman of the committee and the vice chairmen are all heads of the various departments. All divisions of the District government, including the courts, the Police Department and the schools, are represented by vice chairmen.

Parent-Teachers Plan To Give Program Dec. 2

The executive committee of the Parent-Teacher Association of Western High School held its monthly meeting yesterday in the office of Dr. Elmer S. Newton, principal of the school.

A program in which various school activities are to be presented in the auditorium on December 2, with exhibition drills by the cadets, gymnastics by boys and girls, public speaking, vocal and instrumental music, was decided upon by the association. Plans were also formulated for the dedication of the new athletic field.

Page Tells of 50 Years He Worked in Congress

A survey of his experiences during 50 years of service with the House of Representatives was given by William Tyler Page, clerk of the House of Representatives, last night before the Men's Club of the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church.

Reviewing his service since a pageship, Mr. Page concluded with an appeal to citizens to understand that Congress is only human and that it is doing its best to solve the problems of the Nation. Vocal selections by members of the club and refreshments closed the program of the organization.

Coroner Will Hold Inquest In Case Police Call Closed

Jury to Decide What Caused Death of Daniel J. Curtin After Reported Fall; Mix-Up in Official Actions Goes Unexplained.

A coroner's jury will convene at 11 o'clock this morning to hear stories of witnesses of the actions last Sunday afternoon of Daniel J. Curtin, 27 years old, who died in Casulaty Hospital Tuesday from a fractured skull believed to have been sustained in a fall.

A short while before Coroner Joseph D. Rogers assured The Post last night that the inquest would be held. Detective Sergt. John Flaherty, homicide squad member assigned to investigate the death, stated that the case was closed, basing his attitude on the assertion that Deputy Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald had issued a certificate of accidental death.

What caused the conflict of statements could not be ascertained. Dr. Rogers maintaining that he had not heard of any action by Dr. MacDonald. Mr. Flaherty could not be reached for a clarification of his statement.

Dr. Rogers said that he had ordered the inquest when he was informed of the conflicting nature of stories as to how Curtin received his injuries. The dead man is said to have told police on Sunday that he had been hurt in a tussle with a friend while witnessing a football game. After receiving treatment he left Casualty Hospital, where he was accompanied by a young woman who first gave her name as Dorothy Waters, but who upon later investigation proved to be Loretta Hamilton, of 440 Massachusetts avenue northwest. Another story that Curtin had come to her home "covered with blood" on Sunday and said he had been "thrown from an automobile" was vouchsafed by Miss Hamilton. Miss Annie O'Connor, 635 K street northeast, from whose apartment a Casualty ambulance took Curtin to the institution on Monday night, said that the man had told her he had fallen and struck his head while alighting from an automobile near Seventh and F streets southwest.

At the Fourth Precinct the death had been recorded as follows: "There will be no inquest in the death of Daniel Curtin. Acting Coroner MacDonald issued a certificate of death by acciden' as the result of a fractured skull sustained in a fall." Following this was a notation, "Later information. There will be an inquest at the District morgue on Thursday at 11 o'clock." Whether Dr. MacDonald had withdrawn his certificate could not be learned, but it was assumed that either a mistake in telephonic transmission of information to the police regarding the case or the former circumstance, must have occurred.

Funeral services for Curtin were to be from the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary Curtin, 479½ F street southwest, at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow, with a requiem mass following at St. Dominic's Church. Interment was to be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

CORNER STONE IS SET FOR CHRISTIAN HOME

Miss K. E. M. Dumbell Presides at Exercises Held on Northeast Site.

The Young Women's Christian Home, forced by the Government building program to leave its present site at 311 and 315 C street northwest, yesterday laid the corner stone for its new $98,000 building at 235 Second street northeast.

Miss K. E. M. Dumbell, president of the board of trustees of the home, lowered the corner stone for the structure, which will be completed by spring. She introduced the speaker, Dr. Robert Johnston, of St. John's Episcopal Church, who outlined the history of the project.

Copies of yesterday's Washington Post and an Evening Star of the preceding date, were placed in the cornerstone before it was set.

Also placed in the cornerstone were a history of the home, the annual report of the board of trustees, pictures of the two houses now occupied by the home, a copy of the act of incorporation, constitution and by-laws, a picture of Miss Jennie M. Roberts, house mother since 1905, and United States coins dated 1931.

All of these items were named by Miss Ethel Bagley, a member of the building committee, and placed in a receptacle by Miss Georgia Pillsbury, chairman of the committee. Mrs. George W. White is also a member of the committee.

The stone was blessed and dedicated by the Rev. Alvin Gurley, of Philadelphia, a grandson of the Rev. Phineas Gurley, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church during President Lincoln's administration, who presided at the martyred President's funeral.

The Rev. Mr. Gurley's mother, who was president of the board of trustees of the home for 20 years, was with him at the services.

Citizens' Groups Hosts At Teachers College

Residents of Mount Pleasant and Columbia Heights attended a reception last night in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth K. Peeples, recently appointed director of the community center department, and Dr. E. C. Higbie, new president of Wilson Teachers College. The affair was under the auspices of the advisory committee of the Columbia Heights Community Center.

On the reception committee, besides Mr. and Mrs. Peeples and Dr. and Mrs. Higbie, were: Mrs. Edith H. Hunter, community secretary of the Columbia Heights center; H. C. Phillips, chairman of the Columbia Heights advisory committee; Miss Anna Halberg, former principal of Wilson Teachers College, and Mrs. M. S. Young, executive at the Columbia Heights center for the Community Center Department.

Lighting to Be Demonstrated.

J. F. O'Brien and D. W. Atwater, advertising and lighting specialists of the Westinghouse Lamp Co., will discuss possibilities in the field of American home lighting at a special lighting conference at 8 o'clock tonight in the auditorium of the Potomac Electric Power Co. Demonstration will be given, centered around a complete model home set-up.

"Old Ironsides," Delhi, British Ship, End Visits

Bringing to a close their visit to the Washington Navy Yard, H. M. S. Delhi and the U. S. S. Constitution hoisted anchors yesterday and drifted down the Potomac River bound for other ports.

The British cruiser was the first to depart. She steamed away shortly after 6 o'clock, en route to Hampton Roads, Va., where a brief stop will be made before she sails for Bermuda. In tow of the minesweeper U. S. S. Grebe, Old Ironsides followed a short time later, bound for Wilmington, N. C., her first stop on a scheduled trip to Atlantic seaboard and Gulf Coast ports. She will return to Washington in the spring to participate in the George Washington bicentennial celebration.

Fish and Thomas To Debate Tonight

Latter to Form Chapter of League for Industrial Democracy.

Norman Thomas, national executive director of the League for Industrial Democracy, who is to engage in a debate tonight with Representative Hamilton Fish, jr., on "Is Capitalism Worth Saving?" will assist in the forming of a chapter of the League For Industrial Democracy in Washington.

The initial meeting will be held tonight at Tally Ho Tavern, and Mr. Thomas will attend and supervise the work. Dinner will also be served. Marx Lewis, local attorney, will be in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Thomas and Representative Fish will discuss their respective views on the worthiness of the capitalistic system at the Masonic Temple. Dr. John A. Ryan, of the National Catholic Welfare Council, will act as chairman of the debate.

Supreme Court Contract Awarded

G. A. Fuller Co. Wins $8,333,000 Award for Marble Building.

Contract for construction of the $8,333,000 marble building which will house the United States Supreme Court yesterday was let to the George A. Fuller Co., of Washington and New York.

Excavatoin for the building, to be erected in the square bounded by East Capitol street, Maryland avenue, First and Second streets northeast, began last March. Under the contract let yesterday, the commission in charge, headed by Chief Justice Hughes, allows three years for the construction. Foundations already are complete.

The edifice will be reared entirely of marble. The exterior of the building will be of Vermont marble, the four interior courts of Georgia marble, and the interior mostly of Alabama marble. A foreign marble will be used for the courtroom.

School Additions Sought By Southeast Citizens

An enlarged playground at Greenleaf School and an addition to the Fairbrother School were urged last night in resolutions adopted by the Southeast Citizens Association. The association asked for an addition to the school because the Bradley School is being torn down and another school in the neighborhood is being turned over for use of colored students.

Another resolution urged the Public Utilities Commission to reconsider its ban on meterless taxis on the ground that installation of meters would throw many drivers out of jobs. Under the present system hacking is furnishing employment for a number of persons who can not find other work, it was contended. Richmond B. Keech, people's counsel, spoke at the meeting.

Five Job Agencies Are Fined $5 Each

More Warrants Out as Result of Technical Law Violations.

Five employment agents were fined $10 each in Police Court yesterday when they entered pleas of guilty to violating minor regulations governing such agencies. They were William C. Tyrea, Henry Edward Greene, Elizabeth E. Mace, James A. Davis and John A. Dickerson.

Police Court attaches said that warrants issued several days ago for the arrest of numerous other employment agencies had not been served. As rapidly as these warrants can be served the arrested persons will be brought into court.

The arrests were based on an investigation launched many weeks ago by police, who allegedly found many instances of technical violations of the regulations governing employment agencies in the District.

Rescue Squad Revives Woman Victim of Gas

Mrs. Edith Strout, 35 years old, of 3815 Alton place northwest, was found unconscious in her garage adjacent to her home early yesterday afternoon. Fire rescue apparatus was summoned and revived her from the effects of what police said was inhalation of monoxide gas.

It was said at Mrs. Strout's home that she had gone out to start her machine preparatory to going for a drive. She is the wife of Richard L. Strout, Washington newspaperman, connected with the bureau of the Christian Science Monitor.

Court Signs Order In Barnes Tangle

Step Taken After Wife Asks Support for Herself and Son, 10.

Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat yesterday signed an order requiring B. Agee Bowles and William F. Taylor, trustees under the will of George W. Wise, to appear December 1 to show cause why they should not be restrained from paying to George W. Barnes, grandson of Mr. Wise, the monthly allowance of $100 he receives from the estate.

Mrs. Barnes charges that her husband has deserted her and their son, and has dissipated several thousands of dollars received from the estate of his grandfather. Through Attorney Frederick Stohlman she charges that he has refused to work.

Brooklyn Man Jailed In Forgery of Checks

Word of the conviction of Frank Chessman in Brooklyn, N. Y., yesterday on charges of forging indorsements on travelers' checks issued to Ethelbert Stewart, commissioner of labor statistics, was received here last night by Commissioner Stewart.

The Labor Department official's pocket was picked of $600 in travelers' checks while he was sailing for Europe aboard the steamer George Washington. Chessman was not charged with stealing the checks. Commissioner Stewart went to Brooklyn Tuesday to testify in the case.

Soloman Slaying Case Nears Jury

The case of Leonard A. Layton, Charles E. Washington and William C. Robinson, charged with the murder of Mannie Soloman, 26-year-old taxicab driver, last July, will be given the jury today, it was indicated yesterday when court recessed with preliminary motions disposed of.

The three, all colored, are charged with having attempted to rob Soloman, who fought back. In the ensuing melee, one shot was fired, striking Soloman in the neck and killing him instantly.

Assistant United States Attorney John J. Sirica, prosecuting for the Government, and E. Russell Kelly, P. P. Richardson and others, acting for the defendants, concluded their arguments, and all that remains is the charge to the jury of Justice F. D. Letts. Soloman was shot and killed at Union and O streets southwest.

Missing Boy Sought by Police.

Police assistance was requested yesterday in locating Francis Dillon Brownley, 15 years old, missing from home at 1414 V street northwest, and believed to have run away by his father, Howard D. Brownley. The boy took with him his father's .32-caliber revolver and had about $20, police were told, and is probably headed for Richmond.

Police Seek Truck Driver As Assailant of Coworker

A 3-ton truck and its driver were sought by police last night after an assault with a machinist's hammer which may cost the life of John F. Parker, 44 years old, of 514 E street northwest. Parker is in a serious condition at Emergency Hospital with a fractured skull.

He was struck down by a fellow worker of the Allen Transfer Co., according to police, as he was waiting for his own truck to be filled with dirt at the site of the excavation for the new Department of Justice Building at Pennsylvania avenue and Ninth street northwest.

Parker was standing by his truck when another driver, Arthur Manley, 45 years old, of Richmond, witnesses told police, came on him from behind and swung a crushing blow on Parker's head with the heavy hammer.

Parker collapsed under the blow, and before witnesses could stop him, police were told, Manley leaped into a 3-ton truck owned by the company and drove away.

The injured man regained consciousness long enough to talk to police for a short time. He said he did not know Manley well, and that he had never had any trouble with him before. Witnesses also told police they knew of no trouble between the two.

Supreme Court to Get Case Of Trio in Dry Agent Killing

The action of a District Supreme Court jury in deciding that none of three defendants had fired the shot that killed Lamar Watson York, prohibition agent, April 12, 1930, but that collectively they were guilty of murdering the agent will be settled by the United States Supreme Court.

The District Court of Appeals yesterday certified the conviction of John Borum, John Logan and Milton Guy, the defendants, to the Supreme Court for instructions, having been unable itself to adjudicate the question satisfactorily.

The jury found that neither Borum, Logan nor Guy had fired the shot, but in an "omnibus count" charging that all three shot the man, the jury found evidence of guilt. Having acquitted the three in failing to name the killer, the jury then proceeded to find all guilty of murder, without naming any one of the three as the actual slayer. Of course, the law names all equally responsible providing one has been found guilty.

The question arose in the Court of Appeals and briefs were submitted by James A. O'Shea, attorney for the three, and by William H. Collins, assistant United States attorney, for the Government. The Supreme Court was asked merely for instructions but those instructions, bearing the weight of the highest court, will in fact be rulings.

York, who lived at 1244 C street northeast, was shot and killed early in the morning at First and P streets when he found the three colored men in an automobile laden with whisky. While he was blowing a horn to attract police attention, he was shot and killed.
